Reds Retreat in Korea Along 80-Mile Front

Opposite Views Taken

Group Vows Holy War in Oil Tangle

Air of Crisis Is Reported in Tehran as 30,000 Vow Strong Hatred of Britain, U. S.

Resolution Passed

Religious Leaders Offer Decree; Russia Sees 'Peace' Endangered

Tehran, Iran, May 23 (AP)—Tension mounted today in crisis-torn Tehran after some 30,000 Moslems—booing the United States and Britain—vowed yesterday to wage holy war if need be to nationalize the nation's rich oil resources.

An air of crisis gripped the Iranian capital as police and troops, on a 24-hour alert, patrolled the streets in trucks and on horseback. A dozen tanks roamed the city, ready for action.

A resolution declaring "strong hatred" of the United States and Britain was cheered wildly at yesterday's mass rally, called by Moslem religious leaders and Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's national bloc.

The cheering reached fever pitch when black-bearded Chams Ghanatabadi, leader of the militant Mujaheddin Islam (Fighters for Islam), declared:

"All loyal Moslems will throw the British bandits into the Persian Gulf, if they do not leave the country."

Banners Are Waved

Thousands of Moslem religious banners were waved in approval when another speaker, Parliament member Hossein Makki, declared a recent statement by the U. S. State Department was "a stab in the back of the Iranian nation."

The State Department, which has urged moderation on both sides of the dispute, has been accused by Iranians of backing the British stand against nationalization.

Makki is Mossadegh's right hand man in parliament and secretary of the joint Senate-Majlis Oil Nationalization Board.

The rally—called by Ayatullah Seyed Abolghassem Kashani, one of Iran's leading priests—was the latest move to step up pressure against any British resistance to government seizure of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Law Is Enacted

The law nationalizing the giant firm was enacted more than three weeks ago, but the government has given no practical hint of how it intends to carry it out.

(Moscow press and radio said Britain's latest note to Iran contained a direct threat and added some diplomats feared world peace was being endangered. Russia has a treaty with Iran which she could interpret as allowing her to send forces into the country in the event of a threat to the Soviet Union.

(In London, informed sources said Britain has promised to consult fully with the United States before deciding to send troops to Iran even to protect British lives and property.)

At an earlier rally of 4,000 Communist-backed trade unionists yesterday, leftists called for the death of Mossadegh, who has kept himself locked in the parliament building since threats made against his life last week.

Bradley Is Sure Iran Is DangerSpot

Russians Might Move Into Nation, He Says, and Start Another 'Aggression'

Won't Cite Extent

General Refuses Direct Answer on 'Apparent Imminence'

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today "there is danger of the Russians moving into Iran and starting another aggression."

Bradley made the statement in reply to questions by Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) at the Senate's inquiry into the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Brewster asked Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, what consideration the chiefs have been giving "to the apparent imminence of trouble in Iran," with relation to the desirability of ending the Korean War.

'Less We Are Prepared'

"Well, of course," Bradley replied, "the longer the problem in Korea keeps up, the less we are prepared to meet any movement anywhere else. I would prefer not to say as to Iran, because I am not sure that has too much application in our case.

"There is a danger, of course, of the Russians moving into Iran and starting another aggression. Whether or not that is any more dangerous than Yugoslavia or Indo-China or some other place, I am not prepared to say; but certainly it is a point of danger and we would like to be in a better position to meet any further aggression if it occurred.

Iran currently is potentially a trouble spot because of a dispute between the Iranian government and the British over Iran's decision to nationalize its rich oilfields. They have been under long-term lease to a British company.

Strategic in Importance

The oil fields have long been of strategic importance. They supply much of Europe's needs, and this oil flow might be cut off if the fields fell into Russian hands.

Bradley was before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees for the sixth day. The two groups are making a joint inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal and the differences between the deposed Far Eastern commander and the Truman administration over Korean war policy.

At the outset, Brewster asked a series of questions about U. S. military aid to the Chinese Nationalists forces on Formosa. This is the island off the China coast where Chiang Kai-shek's government took refuge when driven off the mainland by the Chinese Communists.

Bradley testified the decision to send U. S. military aid to Formosa was made last August and the first deliveries were in November.

It was not brought out whether the August decision was before or after MacArthur sent a letter that month to a meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stressing the strategic importance of Formosa to the United States.

President Truman ordered MacArthur to withdraw the letter.

And last week, the White House

Tenth Corps Opens Push For 3 Miles

Orderly Red Pullback Reported on West Central Front by UN Spokesman

Tanks Lead Way

Americans Gain Ground and Take Hangye, Road Junction

Tokyo, May 23 (AP)—Communist troops retreated along an 80 mile front in Korea today before northward thrusting allied tanks and infantry.

The entire U. S. 10th Corps opened a counterattack across the east central front and gained up to three and one-half miles. In the attacking force were the Second Infantry and First Marine Divisions and other unidentified units. They recaptured Hangye, key road center.

All along the front from Munsan in the far west to Pungnam in the east-central sector, the Reds were pulling back toward North Korea.

On the eastern front, allied forces slashing through rugged mountains cut off the spearhead of the last Red offensive force of their second spring drive. The allies seized a key pass on the Communist supply route to Chinese troops fighting 25 miles south of the Red Korean border for control of the main trans-Korean highway in that area. Some Red troops were pulling back in that area.

On the west central front, an allied spokesman said Red forces were making "hasty but orderly" withdrawals.

In the far west, South Korean troops pushed within four miles of the Red Korean border.

U. S. Second Leads Way

The valliant U. S. Second Division led Wednesday's big U.N. counter-attack across 20 miles of the east-central front.

Tanks led American infantrymen back into Hangye, key highway junction, 13 miles south of the border.

The tanks and doughboys drove into shattered Chinese remnants after planes and massed artillery paved the way with a shattering bombardment. Red forces withdrew. Small Communist forces fought delaying actions to cover the retreat.

Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander who ordered the counterattacking, said it "has made excellent progress." He said the Chinese took "such a beating on our front" they are "being forced to withdraw."

Red Retreat More Rapid

The Red retreat was more rapid on the adjoining west-central sector. Advancing American tanks and infantrymen reported little opposition.

Chinese hurrying northward already had pushed across the Pukhan and Choyang rivers north of Chunchon. This represented a 10 mile pull-back in two days.

Allied tank patrols approached Cunchon, 45 miles northeast of Seoul, and Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

In the Far West, American armored patrols were catching up with rapid gains forged by South Koreans north of Seoul. There were signs of new Red buildups to the northwest.

Across the western front warplanes harried Chinese retreating north and east of Seoul. UN ground forces gained up to four miles Wednesday morning. A tank column recaptured Changgong, important highway town 25 miles northeast of Seoul.

Reds Cleaned Out

An Eighth Army spokesman said allied forces cleaned out the Reds from their bridgehead south of the Pukhan and Hongchon rivers. These had stretched from Changgong to Hongchon, 50 miles east of Seoul.

Recaptured Hangye is 10 miles northeast of Hongchon on the road to Inje where the Red offensive jumped off a week ago.

Except on the extreme flanks, the strong UN counterattack moved steadily ahead under a bright sun. Tanks and infantry units drove through valleys strewn with Chinese dead. They found few live Chinese in early stages of the counterattack.

Grain Opposition Less; Leaders Are Confident

Douglas and Kirk Give Ideas About Diplomacy and UN

Arden, N. Y., May 23—The old system of secret diplomacy, says former Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas, is a "lost art" that the world might try to revive.

Too much publicity, adds Dr. Grayson Kirk, vice president of Columbia University, has "helped hamstring the United Nations."

These remarks were attributed to the two men by Dean Philip Young, of Columbia's graduate school of business. Young told a news conference last night that Douglas and Kirk spoke at a closed plenary session of the American Assembly.

Columbia is sponsoring the assembly with the aim of trying to clarify national thinking on vital issues.

Young said Douglas did not recommend secret pacts between nations, but only that negotiations towards agreements be carried on privately." The deliberations would become public, said Young, in the final stages. Douglas is former U. S. envoy to Britain.

Kirk was quoted by Young as saying improved communications have helped change the relations between nations.

Warning Issued

Young reported Kirk as also warning that the United States must consider whether it can afford its policy-making in the open view of the Soviet Union.

Kirk was quoted as saying:

"It's much harder to make decisions in the military field, for example, if you feel that your innermost thoughts are going to be made public within a very short time with a partisan or at least a searching scrutiny.

This is policy-making under enormous handicaps and this has come about in this country because of the revolution in the means of communications * * *."

Young said Kirk thought Americans might re-examine "the limits, if any, which we should seek to impose upon ourselves" in policy making.

The American Assembly, a group of private citizens, will continue to meet in closed sessions until the final meeting Friday. That session, like Monday's opening, will be open to the press.

Truman's Contention

Denver, May 23 (AP)—President Truman contended today that the nation's foreign policy offers the best hope of avoiding war in the world.

Fight Shapes Over Tieing Strings to Bill to Help India

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Opposition to providing American grain to help feed India's hungry millions had all but dissolved today in the House, but a fight was boiling up over tieing strings to the aid.

With another day of debate in sight before the main votes are taken, administration leaders exuded confidence that the bill to provide Prime Minister Nehru's people money for 2,000,000 tons of grain would be passed.

Their major worry was whether they could stave off proposals to require India to give the United States, in repayment, some strategic minerals this country needs.

In a companion bill passed last week, the Senate required that the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), in working out details for a long-term $190,000,000 loan to India to buy the grain, negotiate for repayment in "substantial quantities" of monazite and manganese.

No such provision is in the House bill, which would let ECA work out the credit terms as best it can.

Leading the opposition to the bill, which he called a "cheat and a swindle," Rep. Cox (D.-Ga.) said he would insist that the Senate provision be added to the House bill and broadened to include jute and jute products.

Cox also wants the $190,000,000 loan repaid in six years.

Chairman Richards (D.-S. C.) of the Foreign Affairs Committee said he would oppose Cox's proposal that the Senate bill, with some changes, be substituted for the House measure.

The administration originally advocated giving the grain to India, which was hard hit by drouth and floods.

Says Alcohol Needed

Boston, May 23 (AP)—A Philadelphia heart specialist says its perfectly all right for a heart patient to smoke provided he also takes "a good slug" of alcohol at times. Dr. William D. Stroud explains that the alcohol offsets the constricting effect of nicotine on the coronary blood vessels. In an address before the 107th meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society last night, Dr. Stroud advocated a normal life for heart patients on the grounds deprivation of too many things leads to frustration. "And frustration," he said, "raises the blood pressure, which is bad for the heart." He said "I think we doctors try to prolong life in these coronary cases by making life just as miserable as possible. . . ."

Woman Found Dead

Los Angeles, May 23 (AP)—Frances Ellis Bercovici, 41, wife of one of the screen writers who testified recently before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington, D. C., was found dead in a liquor closet of their home last night. Police Detectives Donald Shepherd and V. A. Peterson listed the death of Mrs. Bercovici, wife of Leonardo Bercovici, as "apparent suicide" although no note or evidence of poison was found. The officers reported Bercovici said he found the body in the liquor closet about 30 minutes after he and his wife had a domestic quarrel. The detectives said Mrs. Bercovici had taken an overdose of sleeping pills a year ago in an apparent suicide attempt.

New Lisbon, Ind., May 23 (AP)—State police said a bomber plane crashed today ina field near New Lisbon. There was no immediate report of casualties or the type of bomber.

Hamm Dismisses Taxpayers' Action

Justice Herbert D. Hamm has dismissed the complaint in the Town of Esopus taxpayers action which was brought to set aside the assessments and nullify the tax roll on the grounds the reassessment was not made on an equitable basis.

The action was brought in Supreme Court by John Grady as president of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers' Association and all other interested parties against the Town of Esopus and the County of Ulster. Peter Harp of New Paltz represented the plaintiffs and County Attorney Frederick Stang and Deputy County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., appeared on behalf of the county and the town.

The action alleged an illegal assessment and sought to have the assessment declared void and the tax roll invalidated.

A motion was made by the defendants at the April special term before Justice Hamm for a dismissal of the complaint. Decision was reserved on that motion. Justice Hamm on Monday decided the matter in favor of the defendants, dismissing the complaint.

Spree Over

In Bloomington, Ind., Louis Ucci, 23, and Christine Cosby, 16, console each other after their arrest on charges of kidnaping a Cincinnati mother and 14-month-old baby. The FBI said Ucci left his wife and child in Michigan and went on a three-day crime spree with Miss Cosby. (NEA Telephoto).

Kingston Student One of Seven Held In RPI Incident

Spokesman Attributes Troy Disturbance of 700 to Pre-Exam Tensions

Troy, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—About 700 Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute students staged a near-riot early today. A spokesman for the engineering school ascribed the outburst to "tensions."

One student and two Troy policemen were injured, none seriously. Six policemen reported their uniforms had been torn off them.

Seven students were arrested on charges of refusing to obey orders of a policeman.

All pleaded innocent in police court and their cases were adjourned to May 31. Bail was set at $50 each.

A bonfire in a trash can outside a dormitory on the campus touched off the demonstration.

Students in the dormitory shouted for quiet, then began pouring from their quarters.

Ties Up Traffic

The milling, jostling crowd overflowed into 15th street, at the edge of the campus, and tied up traffic for about two hours.

The crowd finally dispersed when RPI President Livingston W. Houston asked the students to return to their dormitories.

A spokesman for the college attributed the outburst to "tensions created by coming Selective Service college qualification tests and by the RPI review and examination period."

The tensions "had to be let loose somehow," the spokesman said, and "this is the way it happened. Possibly increased competition among college students because of the draft situation may explain similar outbreaks at other colleges."

A student must have a score of 70 on the Selective Service quali-

Prince Says He Resigned At Symington's Request

Schulberg Says He Quit Over Dictates

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Author Budd Schulberg said today he was a member of the Communist party for a brief time in the late 1930's but broke with it completely because the party tried to tell him how and what to write.

Schulberg said in a statement issued in advance of his appearance as a voluntary witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee that he was attracted to the party by its concern over economic problems and its opposition to the Axis powers.

Assistant in RFC Quit May 10, He Reports; Denies Doing Any Wrong

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Frank Prince, assistant manager in the office of loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC), said today he had resigned at the request of W. Stuart Symington, newly-named administrator.

Prince told a reporter in a telephone interview from his Baltimore home that he left his post May 10.

He admitted having a part in a $750,000 RFC loan to the Mobile Paper Co., of Mobile, Ala,. which is now under investigation by a Senate subcommittee investigating the agency. But he said he had done nothing wrong and his role was purely in line with his position.

The investigation was made at the request of Rep. Boykin (D.-Ala.) who has been involved in the transaction. Boykin asked for a "very, very thorough" investigation. The congressman added that the loan involved no wrong on the part of himself or his family.

Prince said that he might be related to Boykin but that he couldn't trace it.

Will Be Called

Theodore Herz, staff director of the subcommittee, said Prince will be called as a witness at some future date to tell what part he may have played in the granting of the loan, and his reasons.

Prince said Symington told him that the agency was being reorganized and that he, Prince was not included in the new setup. Symington made it plain, he added, that he "had done nothing wrong" and promised him a recommendation when he sought a new position.

Reuben E. Hartman of Mobile, founder and former president of the paper company, charged several months ago that Rep. Boykin and some RFC officials, including Prince, had "wrestled" control of the company from him after the loan transaction.

Prince denied that charge. He said that in July 1948 he called Hartman from Rep. Boykin's Capitol Hill office, but he denied Hartman's statement that he had insisted that 40 per cent of the company's stock should be turned over to "Boykin interests."

Monticello, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—The 25-room, three-story annex of the Babette Country Club near here was destroyed by fire last night. Damage was estimated at $40,000. Cause was not determined. The annex was used as a rooming house.

Three Sailors Are Killed As Reds Hit U.S. Battleships

Tokyo, May 23 (AP)—Communist shore fire hit the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey and the destroyer Brinkley Bass off the northeast Korean port of Wonsan, killing three and injuring nine sailors.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy said today one man was killed and three were injured Sunday when a shell exploded near the New Jersey. The mighty battlewagon, sister ship of the Missouri and just recently out of mothballs, had fired her first shot in the Korean action only the day before.

One man was killed outright on the destroyer and seven were wounded. One of the wounded died Monday. Two others still were in serious condition.

In Washington the navy said the two ships were at anchor shelling shore installations. A navy spokesman said ships usually keep moving while firing on ground targets, but sometimes anchor where they have the best field of fire on fixed positions.

Joy, U. S. Far East naval commander, said shells began dropping around the two ships at 7 p. m. The Brinkley Bass was struck first.

One Red shell scored a direct hit on the No. 1 turret of the New Jersey but did no damage to the heavily-armored ship.

The fatal near-miss landed next. It did no damage to the New Jersey but took a toll of seamen.

United Nations warships have shelled Wonsan daily since Feb. 16. During the past five days Communist fire has increased sharply.

Allied ships, including the Manchester and other destroyers, silenced the shore guns. Direct hits were observed on guns and ammunition dumps on the Kalma peninsula.

This is policy-making under enormous handicaps and this has come about in this country because of the revolution in the means of communications . . ."

Young said Kirk thought Americans might re-examine "the limits, if any, which we should seek to impose upon ourselves" in policy making.

The American Assembly, a group of private citizens, will continue to meet in closed sessions until the final meeting Friday. That session, like Monday's opening, will be open to the press.

Fight Shapes Over Tieing Strings to Bill to Help India

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Opposition to providing American grain to help feed India's hungry millions had all but dissolved today in the House, but a fight was boiling up over tieing strings to the aid.

With another day of debate in sight before the main votes are taken, administration leaders exuded confidence that the bill to provide Prime Minister Nehru's people money for 2,000,000 tons of grain would be passed.

Their major worry was whether they could stave off proposals to require India to give the United States, in repayment, some strategic minerals this country needs.

In a companion bill passed last week, the Senate required that the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), in working out details for a long-term $190,000,000 loan to India to buy the grain, negotiate for repayment in "substantial quantities" of monazite and manganese.

No such provision is in the House bill, which would let ECA work out the credit terms as best it can.

Leading the opposition to the bill, which he called a "cheat and a swindle," Rep. Cox (D.-Ga.) said he would insist that the Senate provision be added to the House bill and broadened to include jute and jute products.

Cox also wants the $190,000,000 loan repaid in six years.

Chairman Richards (D.-S. C.) of the Foreign Affairs Committee said he would oppose Cox's proposal that the Senate bill, with some changes, be substituted for the House measure.

The administration originally advocated giving the grain to India, which was hard hit by drouth and floods.

Says Alcohol Needed

Boston, May 23 (AP)—A Philadelphia heart specialist says its perfectly all right for a heart patient to smoke provided he also takes "a good slug" of alcohol at times. Dr. William D. Stroud explains that the alcohol offsets the constricting effect of nicotine on the coronary blood vessels. In an address before the 107th meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society last night, Dr. Stroud advocated a normal life for heart patients on the grounds deprivation of too many things leads to frustration. "And frustration," he said, "raises the blood pressure, which is bad for the heart." He said "I think we doctors try to prolong life in these coronary cases by making life just as miserable as possible. . . ."

Woman Found Dead

Los Angeles, May 23 (AP)—Frances Ellis Bercovici, 41, wife of one of the screen writers who testified recently before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington, D. C., was found dead in a liquor closet of their home last night. Police Detectives Donald Shepherd and V. A. Peterson listed the death of Mrs. Bercovici, wife of Leonardo Bercovici, as "apparent suicide" although no note or evidence of poison was found. The officers reported Bercovici said he found the body in the liquor closet about 30 minutes after he and his wife had a domestic quarrel. The detectives said Mrs. Bercovici had taken an overdose of sleeping pills a year ago in an apparent suicide attempt.

Hamm Dismisses Taxpayers' Action

Justice Herbert D. Hamm has dismissed the complaint in the Town of Esopus taxpayers action which was brought to set aside the assessments and nullify the tax roll on the grounds the reassessment was not made on an equitable basis.

The action was brought in Supreme Court by John Grady as president of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers' Association and all other interested parties against the Town of Esopus and the County of Ulster. Peter Harp of New Paltz represented the plaintiffs and County Attorney Frederick Stang and Deputy County Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., appeared on behalf of the county and the town.

The action alleged an illegal assessment and sought to have the assessment declared void and the tax roll invalidated.

A motion was made by the defendants at the April special term before Justice Hamm for a dismissal of the complaint. Decision was reserved on that motion. Justice Hamm on Monday decided the matter in favor of the defendants, dismissing the complaint.

Kingston Student One of Seven Held In RPI Incident

Spokesman Attributes Troy Disturbance of 700 to Pre-Exam Tensions

Troy, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—About 700 Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute students staged a near-riot early today. A spokesman for the engineering school ascribed the outburst to "tensions."

One student and two Troy policemen were injured, none seriously. Six policemen reported their uniforms had been torn off them.

Seven students were arrested on charges of refusing to obey orders of a policeman.

All pleaded innocent in police court and their cases were adjourned to May 31. Bail was set at $50 each.

A bonfire in a trash can outside a dormitory on the campus touched off the demonstration.

Students in the dormitory shouted for quiet, then began pouring from their quarters.

Ties Up Traffic

The milling, jostling crowd overflowed into 15th street, at the edge of the campus, and tied up traffic for about two hours.

The crowd finally dispersed when RPI President Livingston W. Houston asked the students to return to their dormitories.

A spokesman for the college attributed the outburst to "tensions created by coming Selective Service college qualification tests and by the RPI review and examination period."

The tensions "had to be let loose somehow," the spokesman said, and "this is the way it happened. Possibly increased competition among college students because of the draft situation may explain similar outbreaks at other colleges."

Schulberg Says He Quit Over Dictates

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Author Budd Schulberg said today he was a member of the Communist party for a brief time in the late 1930's but broke with it completely because the party tried to tell him how and what to write.

Schulberg said in a statement issued in advance of his appearance as a voluntary witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee that he was attracted to the party by its concern over economic problems and its opposition to the Axis powers.

Assistant in RFC Quit May 10, He Reports; Denies Doing Any Wrong

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Frank Prince, assistant manager in the office of loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC), said today he had resigned at the request of W. Stuart Symington, newly-named administrator.

Prince told a reporter in a telephone interview from his Baltimore home that he left his post May 10.

He admitted having a part in a $750,000 RFC loan to the Mobile Paper Co., of Mobile, Ala,. which is now under investigation by a Senate subcommittee investigating the agency. But he said he had done nothing wrong and his role was purely in line with his position.

The investigation was made at the request of Rep. Boykin (D.-Ala.) who has been involved in the transaction. Boykin asked for a "very, very thorough" investigation. The congressman added that the loan involved no wrong on the part of himself or his family.

Prince said that he might be related to Boykin but that he couldn't trace it.

Will Be Called

Theodore Herz, staff director of the subcommittee, said Prince will be called as a witness at some future date to tell what part he may have played in the granting of the loan, and his reasons.

Prince said Symington told him that the agency was being reorganized and that he, Prince was not included in the new setup. Symington made it plain, he added, that he "had done nothing wrong" and promised him a recommendation when he sought a new position.

Reuben E. Hartman of Mobile, founder and former president of the paper company, charged several months ago that Rep. Boykin and some RFC officials, including Prince, had "wrestled" control of the company from him after the loan transaction.

Prince denied that charge. He said that in July 1948 he called Hartman from Rep. Boykin's Capitol Hill office, but he denied Hartman's statement that he had insisted that 40 per cent of the company's stock should be turned over to "Boykin interests."

Three Sailors Are Killed As Reds Hit U.S. Battleships

Tokyo, May 23 (AP)—Communist shore fire hit the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey and the destroyer Brinkley Bass off the northeast Korean port of Wonsan, killing three and injuring nine sailors.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy said today one man was killed and three were injured Sunday when a shell exploded near the New Jersey. The mighty battlewagon, sister ship of the Missouri and just recently out of mothballs, had fired her first shot in the Korean action only the day before.

One man was killed outright on the destroyer and seven were wounded. One of the wounded died Monday. Two others still were in serious condition.

In Washington the navy said the two ships were at anchor shelling shore installations. A navy spokesman said ships usually keep moving while firing on ground targets, but sometimes anchor where they have the best field of fire on fixed positions.

Joy, U. S. Far East naval commander, said shells began dropping around the two ships at 7 p. m. The Brinkley Bass was struck first.

One Red shell scored a direct hit on the No. 1 turret of the New Jersey but did no damage to the heavily-armored ship.

The fatal near-miss landed next. It did no damage to the New Jersey but took a toll of seamen.

United Nations warships have shelled Wonsan daily since Feb. 16. During the past five days Communist fire has increased sharply.

Allied ships, including the Manchester and other destroyers, silenced the shore guns. Direct hits were observed on guns and ammunition dumps on the Kalma peninsula.

Opposite Views Taken

Grain Opposition Less; Leaders Are Confident

Douglas and Kirk Give Ideas About Diplomacy and UN

Arden, N. Y., May 23—The old system of secret diplomacy, says former Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas, is a "lost art" that the world might try to revive.

Too much publicity, adds Dr. Grayson Kirk, vice president of Columbia University, has "helped hamstring the United Nations."

These remarks were attributed to the two men by Dean Philip Young, of Columbia's graduate school of business. Young told a news conference last night that Douglas and Kirk spoke at a closed plenary session of the American Assembly.

Columbia is sponsoring the assembly with the aim of trying to clarify national thinking on vital issues.

Young said Douglas did not recommend secret pacts between nations, but only that negotiations towards agreements be carried on privately." The deliberations would become public, said Young, in the final stages. Douglas is former U. S. envoy to Britain.

Kirk was quoted by Young as saying improved communications have helped change the relations between nations.

Warning Issued

Young reported Kirk as also warning that the United States must consider whether it can afford its policy-making in the open view of the Soviet Union.

Kirk was quoted as saying:

"It's much harder to make decisions in the military field, for example, if you feel that your innermost thoughts are going to be made public within a very short time with a partisan or at least a searching scrutiny.

This is policy-making under enormous handicaps and this has come about in this country because of the revolution in the means of communications • • •."

Young said Kirk thought Americans might re-examine "the limits, if any, which we should seek to impose upon ourselves" in policy making.

The American Assembly, a group of private citizens, will continue to meet in closed sessions until the final meeting Friday. That session, like Monday's opening, will be open to the press.

Group Vows Holy War in Oil Tangle

Air of Crisis Is Reported in Tehran as 30,000 Vow Strong Hatred of Britain, U. S.

Resolution Passed

Religious Leaders Offer Decree; Russia Sees 'Peace' Endangered

Tehran, Iran, May 23 (AP)—Tension mounted today in crisis-torn Tehran after some 30,000 Moslems—booing the United States and Britain—vowed yesterday to wage holy war if need be to nationalize the nation's rich oil resources.

An air of crisis gripped the Iranian capital as police and troops, on a 24-hour alert, patrolled the streets in trucks and on horseback. A dozen tanks roamed the city, ready for action.

A resolution declaring "strong hatred" of the United States and Britain was cheered wildly at yesterday's mass rally, called by Moslem religious leaders and Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's national bloc.

The cheering reached fever pitch when black-bearded Chams Ghanatabadi, leader of the militant Mujaheddin Islam (Fighters for Islam), declared:

"All loyal Moslems will throw the British bandits into the Persian Gulf, if they do not leave the country."

Banners Are Waved

Thousands of Moslem religious banners were waved in approval when another speaker, Parliament member Hossein Makki, declared a recent statement by the U. S. State Department was "a stab in the back of the Iranian nation."

The State Department, which has urged moderation on both sides of the dispute, has been accused by Iranians of backing the British stand against nationalization.

Makki is Mossadegh's right hand man in parliament and secretary of the joint Senate-Majlis Oil Nationalization Board.

The rally—called by Ayatullah Seyed Abolghassem Kashani, one of Iran's leading priests—was the latest move to step up pressure against any British resistance to government seizure of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Law Is Enacted

The law nationalizing the giant firm was enacted more than three weeks ago, but the government has given no practical hint of how it intends to carry it out.

(Moscow press and radio said Britain's latest note to Iran contained a direct threat and added some diplomats feared world peace was being endangered. Russia has a treaty with Iran which she could interpret as allowing her to send forces into the country in the event of a threat to the Soviet Union.

(In London, informed sources said Britain has promised to consult fully with the United States before deciding to send troops to Iran even to protect British lives and property.)

At an earlier rally of 4,000 Communist-backed trade unionists yesterday, leftists called for the death of Mossadegh, who has kept himself locked in the parliament building since threats made against his life last week.

Bradley Is Sure Iran Is DangerSpot

Won't Cite Extent

General Refuses Direct Answer on 'Apparent Imminence'

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley said today "there is danger of the Russians moving into Iran and starting another aggression."

Bradley made the statement in reply to questions by Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) at the Senate's inquiry into the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Brewster asked Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, what consideration the chiefs have been giving "to the apparent imminence of trouble in Iran," with relation to the desirability of ending the Korean War.

'Less We Are Prepared'

"Well, of course," Bradley replied, "the longer the problem in Korea keeps up, the less we are prepared to meet any movement anywhere else. I would prefer not to say as to Iran, because I am not sure that has too much application in our case.

"There is a danger, of course, of the Russians moving into Iran and starting another aggression. Whether or not that is any more dangerous than Yugoslavia or Indo-China or some other place, I am not prepared to say; but certainly it is a point of danger and we would like to be in a better position to meet any further aggression if it occurred.

Iran currently is potentially a trouble spot because of a dispute between the Iranian government and the British over Iran's decision to nationalize its rich oilfields. They have been under long-term lease to a British company.

Strategic in Importance

The oil fields have long been of strategic importance. They supply much of Europe's needs, and this oil flow might be cut off if the fields fell into Russian hands.

Bradley was before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees for the sixth day. The two groups are making a joint inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal and the differences between the deposed Far Eastern commander and the Truman administration over Korean war policy.

At the outset, Brewster asked a series of questions about U. S. military aid to the Chinese Nationalists forces on Formosa. This is the island off the China coast where Chiang Kai-shek's government took refuge when driven off the mainland by the Chinese Communists.

Bradley testified the decision to send U. S. military aid to Formosa was made last August and the first deliveries were in November.

It was not brought out whether the August decision was before or after MacArthur sent a letter that month to a meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stressing the strategic importance of Formosa to the United States.

President Truman ordered MacArthur to withdraw the letter.

And last week, the White House

Orderly Red Pullback Reported on West Central Front by UN Spokesman

Tanks Lead Way

Americans Gain Ground and Take Hangye, Road Junction

Tokyo, May 23 (AP)—Communist troops retreated along an 80 mile front in Korea today before northward thrusting allied tanks and infantry.

The entire U. S. 10th Corps opened a counterattack across the east central front and gained up to three and one-half miles. In the attacking force were the Second Infantry and First Marine Divisions and other unidentified units. They recaptured Hangye, key road center.

All along the front from Munsan in the far west to Pungnam in the east-central sector, the Reds were pulling back toward North Korea.

On the eastern front, allied forces slashing through rugged mountains cut off the spearhead of the last Red offensive force of their second spring drive. The allies seized a key pass on the Communist supply route to Chinese troops fighting 25 miles south of the Red Korean border for control of the main trans-Korean highway in that area. Some Red troops were pulling back in that area.

On the west central front, an allied spokesman said Red forces were making "hasty but orderly" withdrawals.

In the far west, South Korean troops pushed within four miles of the Red Korean border.

U. S. Second Leads Way

The valliant U. S. Second Division led Wednesday's big U.N. counter-attack across 20 miles of the east-central front.

Tanks led American infantrymen back into Hangye, key highway junction, 13 miles south of the border.

The tanks and doughboys drove into shattered Chinese remnants after planes and massed artillery paved the way with a shattering bombardment. Red forces withdrew. Small Communist forces fought delaying actions to cover the retreat.

Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander who ordered the counterattacking, said it "has made excellent progress." He said the Chinese took "such a beating on our front" they are "being forced to withdraw."

Red Retreat More Rapid

The Red retreat was more rapid on the adjoining west-central sector. Advancing American tanks and infantrymen reported little opposition.

Chinese hurrying northward already had pushed across the Pukhan and Choyang rivers north of Chunchon. This represented a 10 mile pull-back in two days.

Allied tank patrols approached Cunchon, 45 miles northeast of Seoul, and Kapyong, 32 miles northeast of Seoul.

In the Far West, American armored patrols were catching up with rapid gains forged by South Koreans north of Seoul. There were signs of new Red buildups to the northwest.

Across the western front warplanes harried Chinese retreating north and east of Seoul. UN ground forces gained up to four miles Wednesday morning. A tank column recaptured Changgong, important highway town 25 miles northeast of Seoul.

Reds Cleaned Out

An Eighth Army spokesman said allied forces cleaned out the Reds from their bridgehead south of the Pukhan and Hongchon rivers. These had stretched from Changgong to Hongchon, 50 miles east of Seoul.

Recaptured Hangye is 10 miles northeast of Hongchon on the road to Inje where the Red offensive jumped off a week ago.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, May 23—Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley conducted preaching services in the Olive and Hurley O. S. Baptist meetinghouse Sunday morning and afternoon. Out of town Baptists here for the services included Tracy Redmond of Arkville and Mrs. Fred Brooks of Phoenicia.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. MacKay and daughters, Elizabeth, Judith and Barbara, are making their home at Columbia, Mo., where MacKay is assistant dean of men's activities at the University of Missouri. Mrs. MacKay, younger daughter of Mrs. A. J. Didier of Flushing, is a granddaughter of Aner Longyear of the old state road.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook have moved from New York to the James Rutherford bungalow on the Ashokan mountain road. Mrs. Cook is the former Verna Morris of Brown's.

Birthdays coming on this week include that of Ralph Elefant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elefant, Ralph was born at Ashokan, May 25, 1936 and he has a brother and a sister. A K.H.S. freshman, he is a grandson of Dora Cohen, storekeekper in the lower village for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Osterhoudt, Downsville couple and newly weds of last winter, spent Sunday at the home of Billy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osterhoudt of Brown's.

Still another of the New York Central's mountain division sections has been discontinued, this one being in the neighborhood of Arkville and Grand Gorge. Duties of the six-man crew will be taken over by section workers of the two adjoining crews.

Mrs. Bautiste Nadal, formerly of the Coons district of Shokan, accompanied her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Santi Nadal, here from Bryn Athyn, Pa., for a stay of two weeks in Shokan.

Gertrude Secor, daughter of Mrs. John Secor of the Tonche Mountain neighborhood, was a recent caller in the village center. She is employed in New York and is a member of the O. S. Baptist Church in the metropolis.

Echoes of War 1 days: May 23, 1918—Rob Hogan and Emery Personeus are stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., where both local boys are members of the 309th Field Artillery. . . . Ensign Roger H. Loughran of the Brooklyn Navy Yard spent the week-end recently with his friend, Clyde Winchell. . . . Sgt. John Peacock has arrived in France with a field artillery regiment. John is son of Alex. Peacock, local Boer War veteran who saw long service in the British Army. . . . A new company of soldiers arrived last week for guard duty on this end of the Catskill Aqueduct. They reportedly are members of the 47th Regiment, a Brooklyn national guard outfit.

Richard Morris, local baseball moundsman, has employment with the Perry Taxicab company in Kingston.

The Ostrander well drillers who were working last week at the Howard Richards, or former Emily Hansen place in the village center, struck water Saturday after going down a little over a hundred feet. The Richards summer home is at a considerably higher elevation than the Bernard Casablanca bungalow in the same section where, earlier in the spring, the Allen Stoutenburgh crew contacted a good flow of water at 90 feet.

John Leacock, Jr., K.H.S. grad, who for a time was employed at a Kingston garage, has given up that job and is now operating his big Ford truck on custom hauling in these parts.

G.I.'S WHIP UP AN "ATOM BOMB"—Smoke and flames rise in a "mushroom-shaped cloud" after explosion of a homemade "G.I. atom bomb" somewhere in Korea. Yanks fashioned the poor man's "A-bomb" from assorted explosives costing about $30. The blast reportedly kills all life within 100 yards. (NEA-Acme telephoto by Staff Photographer Bert Ashworth.)

Two Groups May Try

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Enlisted national guardsmen and members of reserve units may compete July 2 in preliminary examinations for admission to the U. S. Military Academy. Those passing the designating tests will be eligible to the entrance examinations next March for admission to West Point July 1, 1952. The examination date was announced yesterday by Maj. Gen. Karl F. Hausauer, commanding general of the New York National Guard. Hausauer said preliminary processing of applications from NYNG members must be completed by June 30. He called for "full participation" in the designating examination by all eligible members of New York's army and air national guard units.

Protection in Reverse

Toledo, O., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Marcia Miller left her front door open while she chatted with a neighbor yesterday. She knew her two dogs, sleeping by a radio in the living room, would protect her belongings. When she returned the dogs were sound asleep, the back door had been opened and the radio was gone. When two policemen arrived to investigate, the dogs awakened and tried to keep them from entering the house.

They reportedly are members of the 47th Regiment, a Brooklyn national guard outfit.

Richard Morris, local baseball moundsman, has employment with the Perry Taxicab company in Kingston.

The Ostrander well drillers who were working last week at the Howard Richards, or former Emily Hansen place in the village center, struck water Saturday after going down a little over a hundred feet. The Richards summer home is at a considerably higher elevation than the Bernard Casablanca bungalow in the same section where, earlier in the spring, the Allen Stoutenburgh crew contacted a good flow of water at 90 feet.

John Leacock, Jr., K.H.S. grad, who for a time was employed at a Kingston garage, has given up that job and is now operating his big Ford truck on custom hauling in these parts.

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Enlisted national guardsmen and members of reserve units may compete July 2 in preliminary examinations for admission to the U. S. Military Academy. Those passing the designating tests will be eligible to the entrance examinations next March for admission to West Point July 1, 1952. The examination date was announced yesterday by Maj. Gen. Karl F. Hausauer, commanding general of the New York National Guard. Hausauer said preliminary processing of applications from NYNG members must be completed by June 30. He called for "full participation" in the designating examination by all eligible members of New York's army and air national guard units.

Protection in Reverse

Toledo, O., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Marcia Miller left her front door open while she chatted with a neighbor yesterday. She knew her two dogs, sleeping by a radio in the living room, would protect her belongings. When she returned the dogs were sound asleep, the back door had been opened and the radio was gone. When two policemen arrived to investigate, the dogs awakened and tried to keep them from entering the house.

KINGSTON NOT RESPONDING

Almost every individual is so aware of the danger of cancer that it would seem there should be little need to appeal to them to give so that the fight against this dread disease may be carried on. Unfortunately, however, this is not the case.

For the past several weeks the Ulster County Cancer Campaign has been in progress and the response from the residents of the county outside the City of Kingston has been very gratifying. But the appeal has fallen down miserably in this city, the chairmen report.

To participate in the 1951 Cancer Crusade through donations should be considered a privilege. Those who avail themselves of the opportunity to contribute toward this most worthy cause will be associating themselves with one of the greatest works that man has ever attempted.

Renowned for their generous support of all humanitarian endeavors, Kingston folks temporarily have slipped up on this offensive against man's greatest enemy.

Your contribution now to help further the work of conquering this dread disease may be the means of saving someone's life tomorrow. Send your donation today to the chapter's treasurer, Joseph Fassbender, Ulster County Savings Institution, 280 Wall street, Kingston, N. Y.

Statistics predict that two of every five of today's young people can expect to see the year 2000. Got grant, after a war-upon-war first half of this century, that their look be not in vain.

A WAY TO HEAL

In bygone days many people turned to self-styled "medicine men" who sold cure-all remedies expected to stop the progress of dandruff, relieve eyestrain, cure snake bite and mend broken limbs. Despite the good advice of physicians who cautioned against the charlatans and their wares, people still continued to buy and use many remedies which were worthless.

The virtual disappearance of the medicine man from the American scene might be attributed largely to the efforts of the doctors and others interested in medicine who have provided clinics for sick people unable to afford other medical attention, and who have instituted programs of sanitation and education designed to prevent and relieve disease. Once other methods of treating disease and pain were available to great numbers of people, the fakers had to go out of business.

Those who suffer from physical or sociological ills are prone to turn to anyone who offers them a miraculous cure. The Communists in their propaganda catalogue all the evils and failures of human society, real and imagined, and promise that their philosophy and political system will cure them. The slum dweller, the unemployed, and the victims of bigotry and ignorance are all potential customers for the Communist medicine, which if swallowed poisons liberty.

If we work to remove slums, to educate the people and combat bigotry, and to maintain a maximum of employment, we shall be remedying the most troublesome economic ills without making it necessary for people to turn to the political medicine men and their ineffective cure-alls.

Only in a country where everyone is allowed to speak his mind is it easy to distinguish, by what they say, between the wise man and the fool.

THE WAY IT IS

"That's just the way it is." This favorite non-explaining explanation is used for several purposes. It may be, as it appears on its face, simply a statement that some condition or situation has no known explanation. It may be used to try to conceal ignorance. It may be an attempt to discourage anyone from doing something about the situation.

There are two kinds of people in the world, classified according to their attitudes toward the unsatisfactory situation. The members of one group always want to do something about it. The members of the other group accept the explanation that "It's the way it it." No second guess is needed to tell which group has built the world's great civilizations.

The man who spends his money for foolish things and the man who hoards it for its own sake are not really so different. Neither has much to show for it.

One place where the fellow loses who ends up in a tie is at a railroad grade crossing.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

AND OTHER PRESSURES

I came across a letter in a newspaper by Seba Eldridge, professor of sociology at the University of Kansas. What these professors say is only important because they influence the minds and characters of our children. The learned professor is interested in democratic collectivization—the sort of thing which they do over in England but which the British object to when it happens in Iran. The professor approved and says:

"With virtually no exceptions, the development of collective enterprise in the United States has been due to the pressure of consumer and public interests. Socialization has been a gradual, piecemeal, peaceful process in this country, not the kind of revolutionary action Karl Marx predicted.

"These processes and factors should be most encouraging to the American people. . . ."

I have been wondering what there is to be encouraged about in all this. Perhaps Professor Eldridge is thrilled over the fact that we are achieving Karl Marx's ends without employing Karl Marx's means, or perhaps the learned Seba Eldridge is cheered by socialism however it may be achieved. At any rate, the letter continues:

". . . Violent overthrow of our institutions is ruled out. Instead, we are all involved in an orderly process of co-operation, often without realizing it, in making our institutions suit the changing needs of the people."

We may take great comfort that violence is ruled out. In a word, the American government is not to be overthrown by force and violence, but the American economic and social system is to be changed, "often without realizing it." The object of all this is to make changes to suit the needs of the people. But that is to be decided, not by the people themselves, who, to repeat, often do not realize what is being done to them, but by so-called experts, that is, by an elite such as Hitler and Mussolini favored and Plato before them.

How foisting upon our people a vast congregation of bureaucrats, payroll grubbers, do-nothing experts, researchers and petty officials who consume the earnings of the people by constantly forcing tax increases, improves them, is a little difficult to understand, but maybe a sociologist can even discover a justification for a government cultivated inflation and the checks to millions of citizens for doing nothing. The professor says:

". . . The instrumentalities of effecting peaceful change are a great variety of promotional agencies together with the Democratic and Republican parties."

It would be interesting if the professor wrote a learned thesis on that "variety of promotional agencies" that is bringing socialism to America. It would be interesting to compare his data with the researches of the Hoover Commission, which sought to effect economies and failed because Mr. Truman found them politically inexpedient.

Eldridge includes the Democratic and Republican parties among the agencies for socialization. Every Republican will admit that the Democrats are deserving of the insult, but in the present state of public opinion and on the approach to the 1952 campaign, few Democrats will be grateful to Professor Eldridge for calling them Socialists. He, of course, uses a fancier term, Collectivists, but that is only because he is a professor and has to make things complicated. In fact, the professors have raked the dictionary for words which confuse.

I should also like to give you Professor Eldridge's definitions of democracy (with a small d) and totalitarianism; or to put it more simply as affecting the difference between the United States and Soviet Russia. After you have read that, you might wonder what happened to that fine boy or girl you sent to college:

". . . The conflict throughout the world today is largely one between democratic and totalitarian regimes. In totalitarian countries, collectivization is imposed through force by a small minority; in democratic countries, on the other hand, collective enterprises are extended in accordance with the will of the people as expressed through votes and other pressures."

I wonder what other pressures the professor has in mind! Up here in New York, they are often employed by such fellows as Frank Costelo and Joe Adonis. I wonder what they have in Kansas. Maybe, it is done by mink coats and such in his region.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

A CANCER BOOK FOR NURSES

Because we read and hear so much about it, some of us may think that there is too much "sound and fury" concerning cancer, that it is, after all, an uncommon disease and that the average nurse or doctor will see only three or four cases of cancer a year. Nevertheless, although a doctor may see only a few cases of cancer each year, these cases may account for half the deaths in his practice. Also, untreated cancer, unlike many other ills from which a patient may recover without medical treatment, is progressive and always fatal. I am quoting freely from "A Cancer Source Book for Nurses," published by the American Cancer Society, Inc.

For years we have been reading about the great amount of work being done in laboratories by our patient cancer investigating physicians and laboratory technicians; then about the cancer specialists who treat the disease by use of radium, X-ray and surgery; and, finally, about the general practitioner who is now alert to cancer or "cancer conscious" in examining skin disease, lumps in the breast, indigestion and other disturbances of stomach and intestine, and the uterus in women. This has meant that instead of months or even years passing before cancer is diagnosed, it is now discovered sometimes in a matter of weeks. It can then be cured.

As we read this booklet on cancer written espressly for nurses, we can see how the various organizations fighting cancer are sparing no effort or expense to make known the striking fact that cancer in its early stages can be cured. As stated in the little book, "An interest in cancer engenders those inquiring habits of mind and discriminating facts which produce better nurses and better doctors."

None of us can learn too much about cancer, man's second greatest foe. To know more about it is to fear it less. An unconscious fear of cancer is not solely confined to laymen. It is present in the minds of doctors and nurses. Only through a diffusion of knowledge can this fear be removed.

Many years ago, Sir William Osler, the greatest of modern physicians, taught his pupils that "he who knows syphilis knows medicine." Today, now that syphilis can be conquered, his statement might well be, "He who knows cancer, knows medicine."

Cancer: Its Symptoms and Treatment

We should never forget that cancer is curable if discovered early. Write today for Dr. Barton's informative booklet entitled "Cancer: Its Symptoms and Treatment." To obtain it, send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. The International Pastime

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — It's been pretty well concealed except to their close friends, but a smoldering, sometimes bitter feud has been raging between the two top mobilization executives of the nation—Charles E. Wilson and Eric Johnston.

Both men have been in the electrical business—Wilson as head of the giant General Electric Corp., Johnston as owner of his own appliance factory in Spokane, Wash. Wilson has sometimes had rough sledding with his labor relations; Johnston has an employee profit-sharing plan which makes his factory a model for the nation.

Wilson did a good job as government production executive during World War 2; Johnston for years was a farsighted chairman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Wilson was chairman of Truman's committee on civil liberties and tolerance; Johnston served as czar of the motion picture industry.

But, despite their vast and varied experience, the two men just don't seem to like each other.

The feud really began last winter shortly after Johnston was asked by Wilson to leave the motion picture industry to take on the headache-inspiring job of economic stabilizer. Johnston consented, provided he was given an executive order by the White House entrusting him with power to regulate prices, wages, credit, and other causes of inflation.

Johnston On Limb

Wilson agreed. And on the strength of his agreement, Johnston went out on a limb at a press conference and stated that the President would soon issue this executive order, in effect taking a big slice out of Wilson's mobilization empire.

Immediately thereafter, Johnston's legal staff drew up the executive order, but nothing happened.

Curious, Johnston found that the order was held up by Wilson himself, the man who had promised it. Wilson's alibi for the roadblock was that his counsel, Herbert Bergson, and Peyton Ford, deputy attorney general, were opposed.

Johnston was burned up. However, he didn't go over Wilson's head to the President. Instead, he kept his mouth shut and played ball.

Meanwhile, Wilson had surrounded himself with the same type of idolaters as Harry Truman, some of them about as useful. The General Harry Vaughan of the Wilson idolaters is Sidney Weinberg, head of the giant Goldmann-Sachs Investment Banking Company, who in Washington has been nicknamed head of the "Department of Devious Planning."

Weinberg is a suspicious gentleman who has been in charge of security. And one of his operators, apparently shadowing rolypoly Mike Di Salle, the ex-mayor of Toledo now price stabliizer, saw him lunching with Eddie Cheyfitz, former motion picture assistant to Eric Johnston.

Ex-Commie

So, out of the clear blue, Wilson called Johnston in. Tapping a sheaf of papers in his hand, Wilson glared at Johnston almost as if he were a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"Eric," he asked, "what about this friend of yours, Eddie Cheyfitz? Do you know that he was a member of the Communist Party?"

"Certainly," replied Johnston, getting his dander up. "I've known Eddie Cheyfitz for years. And I know that 11 years ago, as a relative youngster, he was a member of the Communist Party. I also know that ever since then he's been most helpful to the FBI in exposing the Communists.

"I know, for example," continued Johnston, getting warmer, "that he's fought Commies in Hollywood and in the labor unions. He has such an excellent record in this respect that he's addressed the Army War College on the subject of communism. He has also outlined the dangers of communism in speeches before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

"I also know that in 1947, when Cheyfitz was under attack, Archbishop Karl Alter of Ohio came to his defense. That's what I know about Eddie Cheyfitz."

"Well, Eric," said Wilson, "I just didn't want to see you hurt by your association with Eddie Cheyfitz."

Johnston told Wilson that he didn't desert his friends when he knew they were right, and left the room. He had the impression, however, that Wilson was trying to frighten him with an indirect Commie smear.

To this date the executive order promised to Johnston last January has not been signed.

Note—Cheyfitz was a member of the Labor Management Committee of Toledo organized by Mike Di Salle, which has done so much to bring harmonious labor-management relations in once strike-ridden Toledo. In recent years, Cheyfitz has been working for Eric Johnston in the motion picture producers office in Washington and was instrumental in introducing Johnston to Di Salle.

Pastry Inflation

Congressman John Taber of New York, who has made many a cut in government spending, recently was asked to cut a birthday cake for a young lady on his office staff.

However, as the New York Republican arrived for the ceremony, he found the honored guest in great distress. Somebody had loaded the cake with 45 candles, considerably in excess of her age.

"I'd like to know who put those extra 15 candles on this cake," she protested.

"Offhand, I'd say it's the work of some Democratic spy," guessed Taber. "This is a clear case of Truman inflation."

Rehearses Own Funeral

Burlington, Colo. (AP) — J. W. Gernhart 75, doesn't expect to die for several years, but he wants to be sure he has the funeral service he wants. With that in mind, the Burlington man will direct a trial run here June 3. He has asked a Colorado Springs minister to deliver the sermon. He made arrangements for a singer four years ago. He has designated eight regular and 24 honorary pallbearers. The entire service will be recorded. It will be played after his death. "Then I'll know what's going on," Gernhart explains.

Carrying Conscience

Washington, Ind. Investigation on Firing of MacArthur Is Raising a Lot of Other Conjectures

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 23—Maybe Senator Tobey, Republican, of New Hampshire, is right when he says he would like to see the senators ring down the curtain on their investigation of the MacArthur episode. It raises a lot of other conjectures, too.

Maybe all the future hearings will not bring out a bit more than past hearings. Maybe the record already shows that nobody really knows why President Truman fired General MacArthur and why his associates did their best to think up the reasons after the dismissal was ordered.

Maybe, since the record now shows that the president decided to resist aggression in the Far East last June without a formal estimate from the joint chiefs of staff and the National Security Council as to the risks involved, the Korean War—in view of the restrictions subsequently imposed—is a prize example of "the wrong war, at the wrong time and against the wrong enemy." For General Bradley has testified that the military mission no longer is to clear the enemy out of Korea. Maybe Americans should be prepared now for defeat on the military side and for a "negotiated peace."

Maybe, as Senator Tobey says, it's true that the senators ought not to be posing military questions to the top military commanders, but maybe also the families of the 65,000 killed and wounded and of the 300,000 or more American boys who are fighting in Korea today can't think of any other way to get the answers except through their elected representatives.

Maybe it's right that the Senate committee should protect the constitutional rights of a witness who doesn't want to tell what was said in White House conferences, but maybe it is also right to ask why those same senators to this day have taken no action to question whether the whole Korean war is a constitutional operation. For the legislative branch, which alone under the constitution can declare war, does have the right to assert its constitutional prerogatives, too.

Maybe the senators will some day find out how it happened that, after Secretary Acheson told Congress that American troops could never become involved in a United Nations war except by a special agreement to be first approved by Congress, there are hundreds of thousands of American troops engaged in Korea, supposedly in a United Nations war.

Maybe, since both Secretary Marshall and General Bradley have now testified that there is no evidence of "insubordination" on the part of General MacArthur, it will be accepted that the violations of policy are pertinent to define. None has yet been given except in the vaguest terms. The President, for instance, has said that General MacArthur approached the Chinese commander with an ultimatum or surrender demand and didn't ask Washington, but the general says publicly that he did it twice before and never was sent any message of disapproval.

Maybe the message sent by General MacArthur to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in which he upheld the strategic importance of Formosa, was not American policy he sent it last August but nobody has been willing lately to admit it wasn't. The net effect is to find General MacArthur, on the record, merely expressing official policy to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Maybe General MacArthur, after the December 6 instruction, issued some statements without clearing them with Washington, but so did General Ridgway. Likewise, General MacArthur was subsequently told he did not have to clear military statements. All the questions that the press directed to him were military questions.

Maybe there isn't anyone in high office here who really knows the difference between a "military consideration" and a "foreign-policy objective." But certainly when there's a critical moment in a war and the problem of when and how you will relieve the military man in command of that war arises, it would appear to be a prime question of military importance and not a foreign-policy question. Yet General Bradley has just admitted on the witness stand that the Joint Chiefs of Staff were not consulted and were not asked for a recommendation and took no part in the all-important decision to remove summarily the man who was commander-in-chief of the Far Eastern forces of the United States.

Maybe President Truman would concur in Senator Tobey's desire to call it a halt. For it was the President who started all the furore— not General MacArthur or the senators who have ever since been trying to find out what it's all about. Maybe nobody will ever find out, anyway, what Mr. Truman meant by his statement that he had been considering dismissing General MacArthur ever since last August but kept on sending him private messages praising his accomplishments. Maybe there are lots of people outside Washington who do not understand official "gobbledygook," but there are many here in Washington who don't understand it either.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, May 22—To my surprise I find myself in agreement with much of a speech recently addressed to a society of newspaper editors by J. D. Ferguson, the editor of the Milwaukee Journal, in which he said "the syndicated opinion column is one of the biggest rackets ever put over on worried editors and publishers." It is the worse because much of this stuff is partisan political propaganda disguised as information and because many editors continue to print such offal long after its spurious character has become notorious.

Inasmuch as Mr. Ferguson named Drew Pearson, I renew my observation that this fellow is a malicious liar and support this charge by citing a recent false statement which is, however, only typical of many such lies which editors have published knowing Pearson to be mendacious. In this case, Pearson wrote that General MacArthur "sent for his full-dress uniform" and "changed in his office in the War Department" ere he set forth at the head of his soldiers to clear the bonus marchers out of Pennsylvania avenue. The whole tenor of the piece is false and the malice is apparent, but that particular statement is a lie as any editor could have learned by turning to the files and scrutinizing the pictures of General MacArthur taken during that action. His uniform is the service field uniform for a mounted officer and the difference is important because MacArthur would look the pompous ass in the mental vision conjured of him bedight in the gaudy panoply which is reserved for gridiron dinners, White House receptions and similar nonmilitary occasions.

The contrast of this gorgeous figure with the bums whom the Communists had organized into the bonus "army" was intentional. The publication of this lying sneer was an injustice to MacArthur and to readers who have a right to truthful information as a basis for their opinions. In a telephone discussion with Mr. Ferguson I pointed out that there are in Washington many opinionarians who come within the scope of his condemnation, not one of whom has come up with a single feat of initiative reporting in the last 15 years although the stench of corruption in the government, especially in the White House, would make a buzzard queasy. It certainly deserves the professional notice of all honest reporters, but these frauds are devoted to the Roosevelt and Truman political cause and are not journalists but press agents for a corrupt client.

I reminded Ferguson that after the confrontation of Henry Wallace at the Philadelphia convention of that branch of the Communist conspiracy against the United States which ran him for

Questions — Answers

Q—Who was the youngest man ever appointed to the U. S. Supreme Court?

A—Justice Story, who served from 1811 to 1845, was appointed just after his thirty-second birthday.

Q—Is it a good practice to plant a new forest tree for every one cut?

A—No. The use of a method of cutting that will assure renewal of the woods by natural reproduction is generally more economical and satisfactory. Nature usually plants many times as many trees as man cuts, if man helps nature by providing proper conditions on the cut-over areas.

Q—How did the "funny bone" get its name?

A—It s a humorous allusion to the humerus bone aganst which the ulnar nerve presses when the back of the elbow is struck, producing a tingling sensation. It also is called the "crazy bone."

Q—Is Mexico included in Central America?

A—No, geographically it is part of North America.

Q—Do snakes charm birds?

A—Snakes do not "charm" birds in the usual sense of the word. The instinctive fear that a small bird or animal has for a snake paralyzes the victim's muscles and prevents its escape.

KINGSTON NOT RESPONDING

Almost every individual is so aware of the danger of cancer that it would seem there should be little need to appeal to them to give so that the fight against this dread disease may be carried on. Unfortunately, however, this is not the case.

For the past several weeks the Ulster County Cancer Campaign has been in progress and the response from the residents of the county outside the City of Kingston has been very gratifying. But the appeal has fallen down miserably in this city, the chairmen report.

To participate in the 1951 Cancer Crusade through donations should be considered a privilege. Those who avail themselves of the opportunity to contribute toward this most worthy cause will be associating themselves with one of the greatest works that man has ever attempted.

Renowned for their generous support of all humanitarian endeavors, Kingston folks temporarily have slipped up on this offensive against man's greatest enemy.

Your contribution now to help further the work of conquering this dread disease may be the means of saving someone's life tomorrow. Send your donation today to the chapter's treasurer, Joseph Fassbender, Ulster County Savings Institution, 280 Wall street, Kingston, N. Y.

Statistics predict that two of every five of today's young people can expect to see the year 2000. Got grant, after a war-upon-war first half of this century, that their look be not in vain.

A WAY TO HEAL

In bygone days many people turned to self-styled "medicine men" who sold cure-all remedies expected to stop the progress of dandruff, relieve eyestrain, cure snake bite and mend broken limbs. Despite the good advice of physicians who cautioned against the charlatans and their wares, people still continued to buy and use many remedies which were worthless.

The virtual disappearance of the medicine man from the American scene might be attributed largely to the efforts of the doctors and others interested in medicine who have provided clinics for sick people unable to afford other medical attention, and who have instituted programs of sanitation and education designed to prevent and relieve disease. Once other methods of treating disease and pain were available to great numbers of people, the fakers had to go out of business.

Those who suffer from physical or sociological ills are prone to turn to anyone who offers them a miraculous cure. The Communists in their propaganda catalogue all the evils and failures of human society, real and imagined, and promise that their philosophy and political system will cure them. The slum dweller, the unemployed, and the victims of bigotry and ignorance are all potential customers for the Communist medicine, which if swallowed poisons liberty.

If we work to remove slums, to educate the people and combat bigotry, and to maintain a maximum of employment, we shall be remedying the most troublesome economic ills without making it necessary for people to turn to the political medicine men and their ineffective cure-alls.

Only in a country where everyone is allowed to speak his mind is it easy to distinguish, by what they say, between the wise man and the fool.

THE WAY IT IS

"That's just the way it is." This favorite non-explaining explanation is used for several purposes. It may be, as it appears on its face, simply a statement that some condition or situation has no known explanation. It may be used to try to conceal ignorance. It may be an attempt to discourage anyone from doing something about the situation.

There are two kinds of people in the world, classified according to their attitudes toward an unsatisfactory situation. The members of one group always want to do something about it. The members of the other group accept the explanation that "It's the way it it." No second guess is needed to tell which group has built the world's great civilizations.

The man who spends his money for foolish things and the man who hoards it for its own sake are not really so different. Neither has much to show for it.

One place where the fellow loses who ends up in a tie is at a railroad grade crossing.

'These Days'

AND OTHER PRESSURES

I came across a letter in a newspaper by Seba Eldridge, professor of sociology at the University of Kansas. What these professors say is only important because they influence the minds and characters of our children. The learned professor is interested in democratic collectivization—the sort of thing which they do over in England but which the British object to when it happens in Iran. The professor approved and says:

"With virtually no exceptions, the development of collective enterprise in the United States has been due to the pressure of consumer and public interests. Socialization has been a gradual, piecemeal, peaceful process in this country, not the kind of revolutionary action Karl Marx predicted.

"These processes and factors should be most encouraging to the American people. . . ."

I have been wondering what there is to be encouraged about in all this. Perhaps Professor Eldridge is thrilled over the fact that we are achieving Karl Marx's ends without employing Karl Marx's means, or perhaps the learned Seba Eldridge is cheered by socialism however it may be achieved. At any rate, the letter continues:

". . . Violent overthrow of our institutions is ruled out. Instead, we are all involved in an orderly process of co-operation, often without realizing it, in making our institutions suit the changing needs of the people."

We may take great comfort that violence is ruled out. In a word, the American government is not to be overthrown by force and violence, but the American economic and social system is to be changed, "often without realizing it." The object of all this is to make changes to suit the needs of the people. But that is to be decided, not by the people themselves, who, to repeat, often do not realize what is being done to them, but by so-called experts, that is, by an elite such as Hitler and Mussolini favored and Plato before them.

How foisting upon our people a vast congregation of bureaucrats, payroll grubbers, do-nothing experts, researchers and petty officials who consume the earnings of the people by constantly forcing tax increases, improves them, is a little difficult to understand, but maybe a sociologist can even discover a justification for a government cultivated inflation and the checks to millions of citizens for doing nothing. The professor says:

". . . The instrumentalities of effecting peaceful change are a great variety of promotional agencies together with the Democratic and Republican parties."

It would be interesting if the professor wrote a learned thesis on that "variety of promotional agencies" that is bringing socialism to America. It would be interesting to compare his data with the researches of the Hoover Commission, which sought to effect economies and failed because Mr. Truman found them politically inexpedient.

Eldridge includes the Democratic and Republican parties among the agencies for socialization. Every Republican will admit that the Democrats are deserving of the insult, but in the present state of public opinion and on the approach to the 1952 campaign, few Democrats will be grateful to Professor Eldridge for calling them Socialists. He, of course, uses a fancier term, Collectivists, but that is only because he is a professor and has to make things complicated. In fact, the professors have raked the dictionary for words which confuse.

I should also like to give you Professor Eldridge's definitions of democracy (with a small d) and totalitarianism; or to put it more simply as affecting the difference between the United States and Soviet Russia. After you have read that, you might wonder what happened to that fine boy or girl you sent to college:

". . . The conflict throughout the world today is largely one between democratic and totalitarian regimes. In totalitarian countries, collectivization is imposed through force by a small minority; in democratic countries, on the other hand, collective enterprises are extended in accordance with the will of the people as expressed through votes and other pressures."

I wonder what other pressures the professor has in mind! Up here in New York, they are often employed by such fellows as Frank Costelo and Joe Adonis. I wonder what they have in Kansas. Maybe, it is done by mink coats and such in his region.

A CANCER BOOK FOR NURSES

Because we read and hear so much about it, some of us may think that there is too much "sound and fury" concerning cancer, that it is, after all, an uncommon disease and that the average nurse or doctor will see only three or four cases of cancer a year. Nevertheless, although a doctor may see only a few cases of cancer each year, these cases may account for half the deaths in his practice. Also, untreated cancer, unlike many other ills from which a patient may recover without medical treatment, is progressive and always fatal. I am quoting freely from "A Cancer Source Book for Nurses," published by the American Cancer Society, Inc.

For years we have been reading about the great amount of work being done in laboratories by our patient cancer investigating physicians and laboratory technicians; then about the cancer specialists who treat the disease by use of radium, X-ray and surgery; and, finally, about the general practitioner who is now alert to cancer or "cancer conscious" in examining skin disease, lumps in the breast, indigestion and other disturbances of stomach and intestine, and the uterus in women. This has meant that instead of months or even years passing before cancer is diagnosed, it is now discovered sometimes in a matter of weeks. It can then be cured.

As we read this booklet on cancer written espressly for nurses, we can see how the various organizations fighting cancer are sparing no effort or expense to make known the striking fact that cancer in its early stages can be cured. As stated in the little book, "An interest in cancer engenders those inquiring habits of mind and discriminating facts which produce better nurses and better doctors."

None of us can learn too much about cancer, man's second greatest foe. To know more about it is to fear it less. An unconscious fear of cancer is not solely confined to laymen. It is present in the minds of doctors and nurses. Only through a diffusion of knowledge can this fear be removed.

Many years ago, Sir William Osler, the greatest of modern physicians, taught his pupils that "he who knows syphilis knows medicine." Today, now that syphilis can be conquered, his statement might well be, "He who knows cancer, knows medicine."

The International Pastime

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — It's been pretty well concealed except to their close friends, but a smoldering, sometimes bitter feud has been raging between the two top mobilization executives of the nation—Charles E. Wilson and Eric Johnston.

Both men have been in the electrical business—Wilson as head of the giant General Electric Corp., Johnston as owner of his own appliance factory in Spokane, Wash. Wilson has sometimes had rough sledding with his labor relations; Johnston has an employee profit-sharing plan which makes his factory a model for the nation.

Wilson did a good job as government production executive during World War 2; Johnston for years was a farsighted chairman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Wilson was chairman of Truman's committee on civil liberties and tolerance; Johnston served as czar of the motion picture industry.

But, despite their vast and varied experience, the two men just don't seem to like each other.

The feud really began last winter shortly after Johnston was asked by Wilson to leave the motion picture industry to take on the headache-inspiring job of economic stabilizer. Johnston consented, provided he was given an executive order by the White House entrusting him with power to regulate prices, wages, credit, and other causes of inflation.

Johnston On Limb

Wilson agreed. And on the strength of his agreement, Johnston went out on a limb at a press conference and stated that the President would soon issue this executive order, in effect taking a big slice out of Wilson's mobilization empire.

Immediately thereafter, Johnston's legal staff drew up the executive order, but nothing happened.

Curious, Johnston found that the order was held up by Wilson himself, the man who had promised it. Wilson's alibi for the roadblock was that his counsel, Herbert Bergson, and Peyton Ford, deputy attorney general, were opposed.

Johnston was burned up. However, he didn't go over Wilson's head to the President. Instead, he kept his mouth shut and played ball.

Meanwhile, Wilson had surrounded himself with the same type of idolaters as Harry Truman, some of them about as useful. The General Harry Vaughan of the Wilson idolaters is Sidney Weinberg, head of the giant Goldmann-Sachs Investment Banking Company, who in Washington has been nicknamed head of the "Department of Devious Planning."

Weinberg is a suspicious gentleman who has been in charge of security. And one of his operators, apparently shadowing rolypoly Mike Di Salle, the ex-mayor of Toledo now price stabliizer, saw him lunching with Eddie Cheyfitz, former motion picture assistant to Eric Johnston.

Ex-Commie

So, out of the clear blue, Wilson called Johnston in. Tapping a sheaf of papers in his hand, Wilson glared at Johnston almost as if he were a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"Eric," he asked, "what about this friend of yours, Eddie Cheyfitz? Do you know that he was a member of the Communist Party?"

"Certainly," replied Johnston, getting his dander up. "I've known Eddie Cheyfitz for years. And I know that 11 years ago, as a relative youngster, he was a member of the Communist Party. I also know that ever since then he's been most helpful to the FBI in exposing the Communists.

"I know, for example," continued Johnston, getting warmer, "that he's fought Commies in Hollywood and in the labor unions. He has such an excellent record in this respect that he's addressed the Army War College on the subject of communism. He has also outlined the dangers of communism in speeches before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

"I also know that in 1947, when Cheyfitz was under attack, Archbishop Karl Alter of Ohio came to his defense. That's what I know about Eddie Cheyfitz."

"Well, Eric," said Wilson, "I just didn't want to see you hurt by your association with Eddie Cheyfitz."

Johnston told Wilson that he didn't desert his friends when he knew they were right, and left the room. He had the impression, however, that Wilson was trying to frighten him with an indirect Commie smear.

To this date the executive order promised to Johnston last January has not been signed.

Note—Cheyfitz was a member of the Labor Management Committee of Toledo organized by Mike Di Salle, which has done so much to bring harmonious labor-management relations in once strike-ridden Toledo. In recent years, Cheyfitz has been working for Eric Johnston in the motion picture producers office in Washington and was instrumental in introducing Johnston to Di Salle.

Investigation on Firing of MacArthur Is Raising a Lot of Other Conjectures

Maybe there isn't anyone in high office here who really knows the difference between a "military consideration" and a "foreign-policy objective." But certainly when there's a critical moment in a war and the problem of when and how you will relieve the military man in command of that war arises, it would appear to be a prime question of military importance and not a foreign-policy question. Yet General Bradley has just admitted on the witness stand that the Joint Chiefs of Staff were not consulted and were not asked for a recommendation and took no part in the all-important decision to remove summarily the man who was commander-in-chief of the Far Eastern forces of the United States.

Maybe President Truman would concur in Senator Tobey's desire to call it a halt. For it was the President who started all the furore— not General MacArthur or the senators who have ever since been trying to find out what it's all about. Maybe nobody will ever find out, anyway, what Mr. Truman meant by his statement that he had been considering dismissing General MacArthur ever since last August but kept on sending him private messages praising his accomplishments. Maybe there are lots of people outside Washington who do not understand official "gobbledygook," but there are many here in Washington who don't understand it either.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, May 22—To my surprise I find myself in agreement with much of a speech recently addressed to a society of newspaper editors by J. D. Ferguson, the editor of the Milwaukee Journal, in which he said "the syndicated opinion column is one of the biggest rackets ever put over on worried editors and publishers." It is the worse because much of this stuff is partisan political propaganda disguised as information and because many editors continue to print such offal long after its spurious character has become notorious.

Inasmuch as Mr. Ferguson named Drew Pearson, I renew my observation that this fellow is a malicious liar and support this charge by citing a recent false statement which is, however, only typical of many such lies which editors have published knowing Pearson to be mendacious. In this case, Pearson wrote that General MacArthur "sent for his full-dress uniform" and "changed in his office in the War Department" ere he set forth at the head of his soldiers to clear the bonus marchers out of Pennsylvania avenue. The whole tenor of the piece is false and the malice is apparent, but that particular statement is a lie as any editor could have learned by turning to the files and scrutinizing the pictures of General MacArthur taken during that action. His uniform is the service field uniform for a mounted officer and the difference is important because MacArthur would look the pompous ass in the mental vision conjured of him bedight in the gaudy panoply which is reserved for gridiron dinners, White House receptions and similar nonmilitary occasions.

The contrast of this gorgeous figure with the bums whom the Communists had organized into the bonus "army" was intentional. The publication of this lying sneer was an injustice to MacArthur and to readers who have a right to truthful information as a basis for their opinions. In a telephone discussion with Mr. Ferguson I pointed out that there are in Washington many opinionarians who come within the scope of his condemnation, not one of whom has come up with a single feat of initiative reporting in the last 15 years although the stench of corruption in the government, especially in the White House, would make a buzzard queasy. It certainly deserves the professional notice of all honest reporters, but these frauds are devoted to the Roosevelt and Truman political cause and are not journalists but press agents for a corrupt client.

I reminded Ferguson that after the confrontation of Henry Wallace at the Philadelphia convention of that branch of the Communist conspiracy against the United States which ran him for

A—Justice Story, who served from 1811 to 1845, was appointed just after his thirty-second birthday.

A—No. The use of a method of cutting that will assure renewal of the woods by natural reproduction is generally more economical and satisfactory. Nature usually plants many times as many trees as man cuts, if man helps nature by providing proper conditions on the cut-over areas.

Q—Do snakes charm birds?

A—Snakes do not "charm" birds in the usual sense of the word. The instinctive fear that a small bird or animal has for a snake paralyzes the victim's muscles and prevents its escape.

KINGSTON NOT RESPONDING

Almost every individual is so aware of the danger of cancer that it would seem there should be little need to appeal to them to give so that the fight against this dread disease may be carried on. Unfortunately, however, this is not the case.

For the past several weeks the Ulster County Cancer Campaign has been in progress and the response from the residents of the county outside the City of Kingston has been very gratifying. But the appeal has fallen down miserably in this city, the chairmen report.

To participate in the 1951 Cancer Crusade through donations should be considered a privilege. Those who avail themselves of the opportunity to contribute toward this most worthy cause will be associating themselves with one of the greatest works that man has ever attempted.

Renowned for their generous support of all humanitarian endeavors, Kingston folks temporarily have slipped up on this offensive against man's greatest enemy.

Your contribution now to help further the work of conquering this dread disease may be the means of saving someone's life tomorrow. Send your donation today to the chapter's treasurer, Joseph Fassbender, Ulster County Savings Institution, 280 Wall street, Kingston, N. Y.

Statistics predict that two of every five of today's young people can expect to see the year 2000. Got grant, after a war-upon-war first half of this century, that their look be not in vain.

A WAY TO HEAL

In bygone days many people turned to self-styled "medicine men" who sold cure-all remedies expected to stop the progress of dandruff, relieve eyestrain, cure snake bite and mend broken limbs. Despite the good advice of physicians who cautioned against the charlatans and their wares, people still continued to buy and use many remedies which were worthless.

The virtual disappearance of the medicine man from the American scene might be attributed largely to the efforts of the doctors and others interested in medicine who have provided clinics for sick people unable to afford other medical attention, and who have instituted programs of sanitation and education designed to prevent and relieve disease. Once other methods of treating disease and pain were available to great numbers of people, the fakers had to go out of business.

Those who suffer from physical or sociological ills are prone to turn to anyone who offers them a miraculous cure. The Communists in their propaganda catalogue all the evils and failures of human society, real and imagined, and promise that their philosophy and political system will cure them. The slum dweller, the unemployed, and the victims of bigotry and ignorance are all potential customers for the Communist medicine, which if swallowed poisons liberty.

If we work to remove slums, to educate the people and combat bigotry, and to maintain a maximum of employment, we shall be remedying the most troublesome economic ills without making it necessary for people to turn to the political medicine men and their ineffective cure-alls.

Only in a country where everyone is allowed to speak his mind is it easy to distinguish, by what they say, between the wise man and the fool.

THE WAY IT IS

"That's just the way it is." This favorite [illegible]-explaining explanation is used for several purposes. It may be, as it appears on its face, simply a statement that some condition or situation has no known explanation. [illegible]y be used to try to conceal ignorance. [illegible]t may be an attempt to discourage any[illegible] from doing something about the situation.

There are two kinds of people in the world, [illegible]ified according to their attitudes toward [illegible]tisfactory situation. The members of one group always want to do something about it. The members of the other group accept the explanation that "It's the way it it." No second guess is needed to tell which group has built the world's great civilizations.

The man who spends his money for foolish things and the man who hoards it for its own sake are not really so different. Neither has much to show for it.

One place where the fellow loses who ends up in a tie is at a railroad grade crossing.

'These Days'

AND OTHER PRESSURES

I came across a letter in a newspaper by Seba Eldridge, professor of sociology at the University of Kansas. What these professors say is only important because they influence the minds and characters of our children. The learned professor is interested in democratic collectivization—the sort of thing which they do over in England but which the British object to when it happens in Iran. The professor approved and says:

"With virtually no exceptions, the development of collective enterprise in the United States has been due to the pressure of consumer and public interests. Socialization has been a gradual, piecemeal, peaceful process in this country, not the kind of revolutionary action Karl Marx predicted.

"These processes and factors should be most encouraging to the American people. . . ."

I have been wondering what there is to be encouraged about in all this. Perhaps Professor Eldridge is thrilled over the fact that we are achieving Karl Marx's ends without employing Karl Marx's means, or perhaps the learned Seba Eldridge is cheered by socialism however it may be achieved. At any rate, the letter continues:

". . . Violent overthrow of our institutions is ruled out. Instead, we are all involved in an orderly process of co-operation, often without realizing it, in making our institutions suit the changing needs of the people."

We may take great comfort that violence is ruled out. In a word, the American government is not to be overthrown by force and violence, but the American economic and social system is to be changed, "often without realizing it." The object of all this is to make changes to suit the needs of the people. But that is to be decided, not by the people themselves, who, to repeat, often do not realize what is being done to them, but by so-called experts, that is, by an elite such as Hitler and Mussolini favored and Plato before them.

How foisting upon our people a vast congregation of bureaucrats, payroll grubbers, do-nothing experts, researchers and petty officials who consume the earnings of the people by constantly forcing tax increases, improves them, is a little difficult to understand, but maybe a sociologist can even discover a justification for a government cultivated inflation and the checks to millions of citizens for doing nothing. The professor says:

". . . The instrumentalities of effecting peaceful change are a great variety of promotional agencies together with the Democratic and Republican parties."

It would be interesting if the professor wrote a learned thesis on that "variety of promotional agencies" that is bringing socialism to America. It would be interesting to compare his data with the researches of the Hoover Commission, which sought to effect economies and failed because Mr. Truman found them politically inexpedient.

Eldridge includes the Democratic and Republican parties among the agencies for socialization. Every Republican will admit that the Democrats are deserving of the insult, but in the present state of public opinion and on the approach to the 1952 campaign, few Democrats will be grateful to Professor Eldridge for calling them Socialists. He, of course, uses a fancier term, Collectivists, but that is only because he is a professor and has to make things complicated. In fact, the professors have raked the dictionary for words which confuse.

I should also like to give you Professor Eldridge's definitions of democracy (with a small d) and totalitarianism; or to put it more simply as affecting the difference between the United States and Soviet Russia. After you have read that, you might wonder what happened to that fine boy or girl you sent to college:

". . . The conflict throughout the world today is largely one between democratic and totalitarian regimes. In totalitarian countries, collectivization is imposed through force by a small minority; in democratic countries, on the other hand, collective enterprises are extended in accordance with the will of the people as expressed through votes and other pressures."

I wonder what other pressures the professor has in mind! Up here in New York, they are often employed by such fellows as Frank Costelo and Joe Adonis. I wonder what they have in Kansas. Maybe, it is done by mink coats and such in his region.

A CANCER BOOK FOR NURSES

Because we read and hear so much about it, some of us may think that there is too much "sound and fury" concerning cancer, that it is, after all, an uncommon disease and that the average nurse or doctor will see only three or four cases of cancer a year. Nevertheless, although a doctor may see only a few cases of cancer each year, these cases may account for half the deaths in his practice. Also, untreated cancer, unlike many other ills from which a patient may recover without medical treatment, is progressive and always fatal. I am quoting freely from "A Cancer Source Book for Nurses," published by the American Cancer Society, Inc.

For years we have been reading about the great amount of work being done in laboratories by our patient cancer investigating physicians and laboratory technicians; then about the cancer specialists who treat the disease by use of radium, X-ray and surgery; and, finally, about the general practitioner who is now alert to cancer or "cancer conscious" in examining skin disease, lumps in the breast, indigestion and other disturbances of stomach and intestine, and the uterus in women. This has meant that instead of months or even years passing before cancer is diagnosed, it is now discovered sometimes in a matter of weeks. It can then be cured.

As we read this booklet on cancer written expressly for nurses, we can see how the various organizations fighting cancer are sparing no effort or expense to make known the striking fact that cancer in its early stages can be cured. As stated in the little book, "An interest in cancer engenders those inquiring habits of mind and discriminating facts which produce better nurses and better doctors."

None of us can learn too much about cancer, man's second greatest foe. To know more about it is to fear it less. An unconscious fear of cancer is not solely confined to laymen. It is present in the minds of doctors and nurses. Only through a diffusion of knowledge can this fear be removed.

Many years ago, Sir William Osler, the greatest of modern physicians, taught his pupils that "he who knows syphilis knows medicine." Today, now that syphilis can be conquered, his statement might well be, "He who knows cancer, knows medicine."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — It's been pretty well concealed except to their close friends, but a smoldering, sometimes bitter feud has been raging between the two top mobilization executives of the nation—Charles E. Wilson and Eric Johnston.

Both men have been in the electrical business—Wilson as head of the giant General Electric Corp., Johnston as owner of his own appliance factory in Spokane, Wash. Wilson has sometimes had rough sledding with his labor relations; Johnston has an employee profit-sharing plan which makes his factory a model for the nation.

Wilson did a good job as government production executive during World War 2; Johnston for years was a farsighted chairman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Wilson was chairman of Truman's committee on civil liberties and tolerance; Johnston served as czar of the motion picture industry.

But, despite their vast and varied experience, the two men just don't seem to like each other.

The feud really began last winter shortly after Johnston was asked by Wilson to leave the motion picture industry to take on the headache-inspiring job of economic stabilizer. Johnston consented, provided he was given an executive order by the White House entrusting him with power to regulate prices, wages, credit, and other causes of inflation.

Johnston On Limb

Wilson agreed. And on the strength of his agreement, Johnston went out on a limb at a press conference and stated that the President would soon issue this executive order, in effect taking a big slice out of Wilson's mobilization empire.

Immediately thereafter, Johnston's legal staff drew up the executive order, but nothing happened.

Curious, Johnston found that the order was held up by Wilson himself, the man who had promised it. Wilson's alibi for the roadblock was that his counsel, Herbert Bergson, and Peyton Ford, deputy attorney general, were opposed.

Johnston was burned up. However, he didn't go over Wilson's head to the President. Instead, he kept his mouth shut and played ball.

Meanwhile, Wilson had surrounded himself with the same type of idolaters as Harry Truman, some of them about as useful. The General Harry Vaughan of the Wilson idolaters is Sidney Weinberg, head of the giant Goldmann-Sachs Investment Banking Company, who in Washington has been nicknamed head of the "Department of Devious Planning."

Weinberg is a suspicious gentleman who has been in charge of security. And one of his operators, apparently shadowing roly-poly Mike Di Salle, the ex-mayor of Toledo now price stabliizer, saw him lunching with Eddie Cheyfitz, former motion picture assistant to Eric Johnston.

Ex-Commie

So, out of the clear blue, Wilson called Johnston in. Tapping a sheaf of papers in his hand, Wilson glared at Johnston almost as if he were a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"Eric," he asked, "what about this friend of yours, Eddie Cheyfitz? Do you know that he was a member of the Communist Party?"

"Certainly," replied Johnston, getting his dander up. "I've known Eddie Cheyfitz for years. And I know that 11 years ago, as a relative youngster, he was a member of the Communist Party. I also know that ever since then he's been most helpful to the FBI in exposing the Communists.

"I know, for example," continued Johnston, getting warmer, "that he's fought Commies in Hollywood and in the labor unions. He has such an excellent record in this respect that he's addressed the Army War College on the subject of communism. He has also outlined the dangers of communism in speeches before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

"I also know that in 1947, when Cheyfitz was under attack, Archbishop Karl Alter of Ohio came to his defense. That's what I know about Eddie Cheyfitz."

"Well, Eric," said Wilson, "I just didn't want to see you hurt by your association with Eddie Cheyfitz."

Johnston told Wilson that he didn't desert his friends when he knew they were right, and left the room. He had the impression, however, that Wilson was trying to frighten him with an indirect Commie smear.

To this date the executive order promised to Johnston last January has not been signed.

Note—Cheyfitz was a member of the Labor Management Committee of Toledo organized by Mike Di Salle, which has done so much to bring harmonious labor-management relations in once strike-ridden Toledo. In recent years, Cheyfitz has been working for Eric Johnston in the motion picture producers office in Washington and was instrumental in introducing Johnston to Di Salle.

Pastry Inflation

Congressman John Taber of New York, who has made many a cut in government spending, recently was asked to cut a birthday cake for a young lady on his office staff.

However, as the New York Republican arrived for the ceremony, he found the honored guest in great distress. Somebody had loaded the cake with 45 candles, considerably in excess of her age.

"I'd like to know who put those extra 15 candles on this cake," she protested.

"Offhand, I'd say it's the work of some Democratic spy," guessed Taber. "This is a clear case of Truman inflation."

Rehearses Own Funeral

Burlington, Colo. (AP) — J. W. Gernhart 75, doesn't expect to die for several years, but he wants to be sure he has the funeral service he wants. With that in mind, the Burlington man will direct a trial run here June 3. He has asked a Colorado Springs minister to deliver the sermon. He made arrangements for a singer four years ago. He has designated eight regular and 24 honorary pallbearers. The entire service will be recorded. It will be played after his death. "Then I'll know what's going on," Gernhart explains.

Investigation on Firing of MacArthur Is Raising a Lot of Other Conjectures

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 23—Maybe Senator Tobey, Republican, of New Hampshire, is right when he says he would like to see the senators ring down the curtain on their investigation of the MacArthur episode. It raises a lot of other conjectures, too.

Maybe all the future hearings will not bring out a bit more than past hearings. Maybe the record already shows that nobody really knows why President Truman fired General MacArthur and why his associates did their best to think up the reasons after the dismissal was ordered.

Maybe, since the record now shows that the president decided to resist aggression in the Far East last June without a formal estimate from the joint chiefs of staff and the National Security Council as to the risks involved, the Korean War—in view of the restrictions subsequently imposed—is a prize example of "the wrong war, at the wrong time, and against the wrong enemy." For General Bradley has testified that the military mission no longer is to clear the enemy out of Korea. Maybe Americans should be prepared now for defeat on the military side and for a "negotiated peace."

Maybe, as Senator Tobey says, it's true that the senators ought not to be posing military questions to the top military commanders, but maybe also the families of the 65,000 killed and wounded and of the 300,000 or more American boys who are fighting in Korea today can't think of any other way to get the answers except through their elected representatives.

Maybe it's right that the Senate committee should protect the constitutional rights of a witness who doesn't want to tell what was said in White House conferences, but maybe it is also right to ask why those same senators to this day have taken no action to question whether the whole Korean war is a constitutional operation. For the legislative branch, which alone under the constitution can declare war, does have the right to assert its constitutional prerogatives, too.

Maybe the senators will some day find out how it happened that, after Secretary Acheson told Congress that American troops could never become involved in a United Nations war except by a special agreement to be first approved by Congress, there are hundreds of thousands of American troops engaged in Korea, supposedly in a United Nations war.

Maybe, since both Secretary Marshall and General Bradley have now testified that there is no evidence of "insubordination" on the part of General MacArthur, it will be accepted that the violations of policy are pertinent to define. None has yet been given except in the vaguest terms. The President, for instance, has said that General MacArthur approached the Chinese commander with an ultimatum or surrender demand and didn't ask Washington, but the general says publicly that he did it twice before and never was sent any message of disapproval.

Maybe the message sent by General MacArthur to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in which he upheld the strategic importance of Formosa, was not American policy he sent it last August but nobody has been willing lately to admit it wasn't. The net effect is to find General MacArthur, on the record, merely expressing official policy to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Maybe General MacArthur, after the December 6 instruction, issued some statements without clearing them with Washington, but so did General Ridgway. Likewise, General MacArthur was subsequently told he did not have to clear military statements. All the questions that the press directed to him were military questions.

Maybe there isn't anyone in high office here who really knows the difference between a "military consideration" and a "foreign-policy objective." But certainly when there's a critical moment in a war and the problem of when and how you will relieve the military man in command of that war arises, it would appear to be a prime question of military importance and not a foreign-policy question. Yet General Bradley has just admitted on the witness stand that the Joint Chiefs of Staff were not consulted and were not asked for a recommendation and took no part in the all-important decision to remove summarily the man who was commander-in-chief of the Far Eastern forces of the United States.

Maybe President Truman would concur in Senator Tobey's desire to call it a halt. For it was the President who started all the furore— not General MacArthur or the senators who have ever since been trying to find out what it's all about. Maybe nobody will ever find out, anyway, what Mr. Truman meant by his statement that he had been considering dismissing General MacArthur ever since last August but kept on sending him private messages praising his accomplishments. Maybe there are lots of people outside Washington who do not understand official "gobbledygook," but there are many here in Washington who don't understand it either.

Lions Hear About Caring for Feet

Members of the Kingston Lions Club learned many things about their feet at a meeting Tuesday at noon in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A motion picture relating to the care of feet was shown by Dr. Gerald Somber, chiropodist, who spoke briefly about the importance of wearing the proper shoes and frequent changing of shoes.

Two Are Reappointed

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Governor Dewey has reappointed Dr. George Baehr of New York city and Homer Folks of Yonkers to six-year terms as members of the Public Health Council. Folks is vice-chairman of the council, which advises the state health commissioner on public health problems. The eight council members each receive $1,140 a year.

president on the "Progressive" ticket, this element belittled the disclosure of Wallace's disgraceful infatuation with Nicholas Roerich, the oriental mountebank, as common knowledge which therefore was not news. The truth was that the facts of this appalling idiocy in a man who was vice president for three years during World War II never had been published until after diligent, persistent investigation. I verified them and threw them in Bubblehead's face without reservation. News is news until it is published. If some of Wallace's personal and political devotees in the Washington press corps did know these facts, their failure to put them in print was a culpable betrayal of a trust and a responsibility. Any reporter who expresses the moral turpitude inherent in the willful concealment of a dangerous, historic situation should forfeit the trust of all conscientious editors.

It is an evil bird which fouls its own nest, but these observations seriously impugning the integrity of some of our press are the obvious duty of any member of the profession who has access to the facts and facilities to publish and discuss them. The defilement occurs not here but in the conduct of a large element of the Washington corps who are indifferent to the dictates and inhibitions of newspaper ethics. Many editors, however, share the guilt.

A case in point is that of a paper which said editorally that although Pearson made "too many" mistakes, his net "usefulness" made him an asset to the fourth estate. This is the most sorbid indorsement of wrongdoing ever published by an American paper, because "mistakes" here is a euphemism for that word which the late T. Roosevelt described as shorter and uglier.

"So far as I know," Mr. Ferguson said, "all the columnists are honorable men."

In that case, he is uninformed where he has a professional duty to know, and his rather boastful lecture, wherein he took a superior attitude, refutes itself in a few words.

"I don't know of any columnists of whom I could say that they are grinding axes or consciously propagandizing for anybody else," he added.

Schenectady, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—A repentant 13-year-old boy mailed the City Traffic Bureau $2 explaining, "I don't think it is right to make other people pay for something I am responsible for." The boy said in a note that he and a friend had broken a street light bulb when they "shot stones" at it. Later, he said, he realized that he was "damaging some of my own property." The traffic bureau said that if it cost less than $2 to repair the light, the boy would get a refund. His name was not revealed.

Wife—Wake up, Stanley, there's a burglar going through your pockets.

Husband—Leave me out of it. You two fight it out yourselves.

One thing, we have never been able to understand. That is, why Noah didn't swat those two flies when he had such a grand chance.

Boss—You've been with us a week now, and so far we haven't been able to find anything you could do; yet when we hired you you said you were a handy man.

New Employe—That's right, sir, I am a handy man. I live right around the corner.

"How can you endure living in such a town?" means "How can you endure living among people like me?"

Govern the lips as they were palace doors, the king within; tranquil and fair and courteous be all words which from that presence win. —Sir Edward Arnold.

Speaking of money, it's the husband's job to make it first and it's up to the wife to make it last.

A fat man made a mad dash through the station for the end of a train that was just pulling out. As he came back, the train caller said:

Train Caller—Just missed her, huh?

Fat Man—Oh, no, I was just chasing her out of the station.

Motorists Most Heavily Taxed

New York motorists, looking for a way to stretch the family budget, will find little encouragement in a statement issued today by Harry B. Hilts of the Empire State Petroleum Association in New York, that gasoline taxes have risen 175 per cent in the last generation.

Using 1929 as the base year, Hilts pointed out that general living costs have risen 47 per cent since this boom period of the mid-twenties, but that gasoline prices, without added taxes, are only 12 per cent higher than in 1929.

The Empire State Petroleum Association spokesman said that the state tax of four cents per gallon plus the federal tax of 1½ cents per gallon now adds up to 55 cents tax every time a motorist orders 10 gallons of gasoline. The tax on a 10-gallon purchase in 1929 was only 20 cents, he pointed out.

"Gasoline taxes have risen to the point where they represent a 26 per cent sales tax on every gallon," Hilts said.

He pointed out that the highest general sales tax in the nation is only three per cent and that luxury taxes on jewelry, fur coats, night club entertainment are only 20 per cent, adding "It's easy to see why so many people call the motorists the most heavily taxed group in the state."

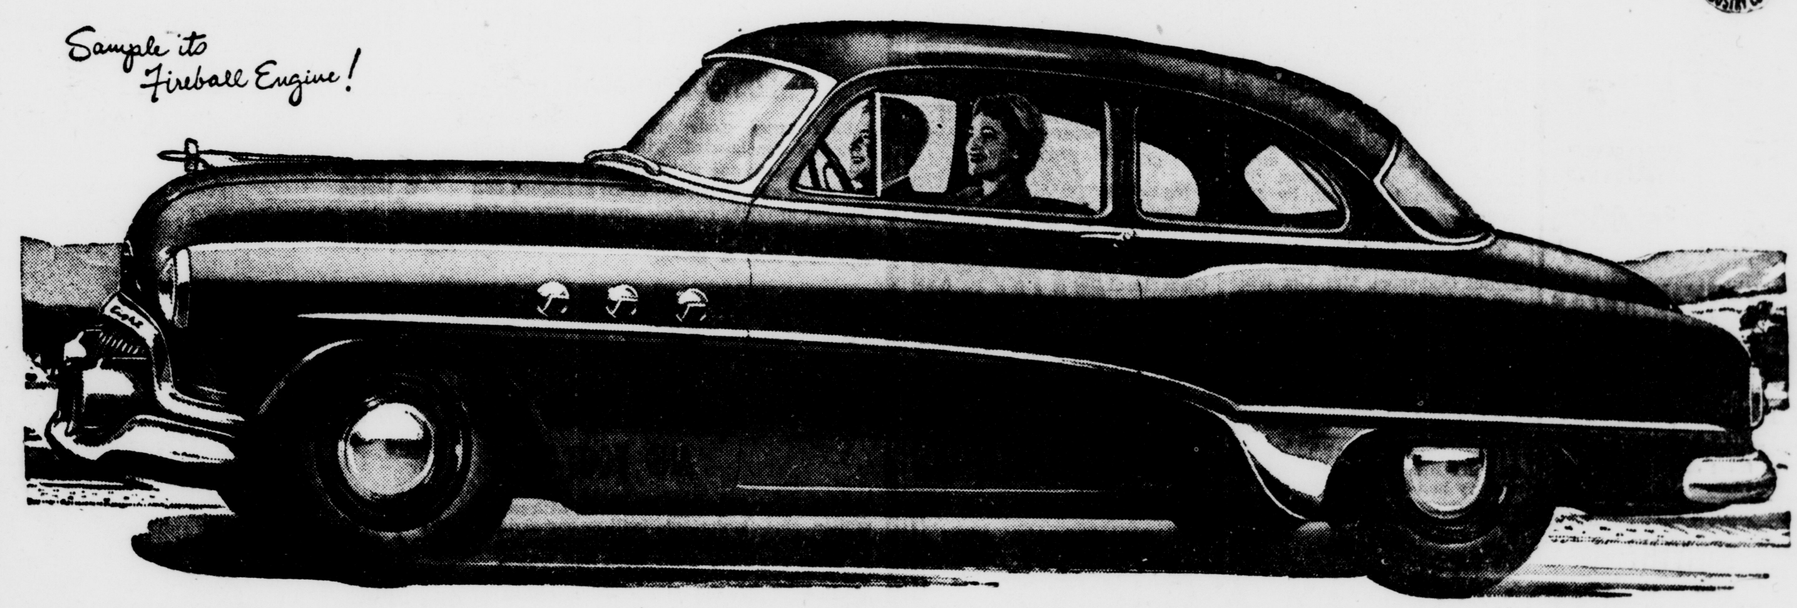
ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING



Here's something Special in Spaciousness

A LOT of folks like the two-door idea, because they feel that tiny tots are safer in the back seat.

But that's no reason why back-seat headroom should be dimensioned for midgets only.

So Buick engineers have done something about it, in the Buick SPECIAL 2-door Sedan pictured here.

They've kept the compactness of over-all length that's important in modern garages.

But they've arched that sturdy steel top to give you he-man headroom—headroom in back as well as headroom in front—that makes a six-footer feel at home.

And they've designed a trunk that has "room for tourists."

Don't ask us how they did it. Come see for yourself.

Slip into those spacious seats—and while you're there, find out why this compact honey is one of the hottest numbers we've seen in years.

Find out how that F-263 valve-in-head Fireball Engine pours out the power and stretches the miles per gallon.

Find out how Buick's exclusive combination of torque-tube drive and coil springs on all four wheels puts big-car steadiness and stability into this nimble performer.

Find out how Dynaflow Drive* takes the strain out of traffic driving—and brings you relaxed to the end of a long day's cross-country driving.

And above all find out how much comfort and luxury and convenience you get for the prices you see featured here. The sooner you see your Buick dealer—the better off you'll be.

Motorists Most Heavily Taxed

New York motorists, looking for a way to stretch the family budget, will find little encouragement in a statement issued today by Harry B. Hilts of the Empire State Petroleum Association in New York, that gasoline taxes have risen 175 per cent in the last generation.

Using 1929 as the base year, Hilts pointed out that general living costs have risen 47 per cent since this boom period of the mid-twenties, but that gasoline prices, without added taxes, are only 12 per cent higher than in 1929.

The Empire State Petroleum Association spokesman said that the state tax of four cents per gallon plus the federal tax of 1½ cents per gallon now adds up to 55 cents tax every time a motorist orders 10 gallons of gasoline. The tax on a 10-gallon purchase in 1929 was only 20 cents, he pointed out.

"Gasoline taxes have risen to the point where they represent a 26 per cent sales tax on every gallon," Hilts said.

He pointed out that the highest general sales tax in the nation is only three per cent and that luxury taxes on jewelry, fur coats, night club entertainment are only 20 per cent, adding "It's easy to see why so many people call the motorists the most heavily taxed group in the state."

Here's something Special in Spaciousness

A LOT of folks like the two-door idea, because they feel that tiny tots are safer in the back seat.

But that's no reason why back-seat headroom should be dimensioned for midgets only.

So Buick engineers have done something about it, in the Buick SPECIAL 2-door Sedan pictured here.

They've kept the compactness of over-all length that's important in modern garages.

But they've arched that sturdy steel top to give you he-man headroom—headroom in back as well as headroom in front—that makes a six-footer feel at home.

And they've designed a trunk that has "room for tourists."

Don't ask us how they did it. Come see for yourself.

Slip into those spacious seats—and while you're there, find out why this compact honey is one of the hottest numbers we've seen in years.

Find out how that F-263 valve-in-head Fireball Engine pours out the power and stretches the miles per gallon.

Advises Younger People to Take Interest in Church

Challenging young people to take their rightful place in the work of the church, Mrs. Donald Brown was the speaker at the Mother-Daughter dinner of the high school girl classes of the First Dutch Church. The dinner, prepared by the members, was served Tuesday evening at the church house.

Mrs. Brown reminded the girls of their places as potential church leaders and that waiting until more years was added to their life was not necessary. She pointed to numerous areas where the young people could be of service not only in their local church but also in the world-wide work of the church. She mentioned particularly the work of the World Student Service Association. Mrs. Brown is the wife of the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

Miss Marjorie Eisenberger, director of religious education at First Dutch, offered the invocation before dinner. During dinner Miss Jean Louise Wells entertained with piano music. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Herbert Fister, teacher of one of the classes.

Those attending in addition to the above mentioned were Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, Mrs. Ola Whispell, Mrs. Benjamin Scholton, Mrs. Robert Groves, Mrs. Carl Warnecke, Mrs. Iva V. D. Warren, Mrs. Harry Rigby, Mrs. Fred Suppies, Mrs. John R. Warren, Betsey Rigby, Barbara Warnecke, Betty Whispell, Martzen Groves, Donna Scholten, and Jean Suppies.

When Canada, then New France, took its first census in 1666 the country had 3,215 inhabitants.

Clergyman Gets Insurance

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—A 95-year-old clergyman has become the beneficiary of his own insurance policy which he had taken out 53 years ago. Dr. Joseph H. Gauss has exceeded the life span covered by the insurance mortality tables and yesterday he received $2,931 from the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The payment was made on the annual premium date nearest the 96th birthday. Gauss will be 96 on Aug. 30. An insurance company official said only about three persons in 1,000 can expect to reach 96. He said statistics show there are only about seven persons in 100,000 now living in the United States who are 96 or older.

The fly shuttle, patented in 1733, was the first important step toward mechanization of the wool trade.

Widow Awarded $100,000

Jersey City, N. J., May 23 (AP)—The widow of a workman killed in a 180-foot fall from the WOR-TV tower in North Bergen was awarded $100,000 damages yesterday. A jury found in favor of Mrs. Julia Trecartin of St. Albans, N. Y., 28-year-old mother of two infant children. She brought suit against the Mahoney-Troast Construction Co., of Passaic contending it did not provide safeguards on the job. Her husband, Richard F. Trecartin, was employed by the Perry Steel Contractors, Inc., of New York, at the time of his death in 1949. The Perry firm was working under a sub-contract on the 700-foot high tower.

Widow Awarded $100,000

Jersey City, N. J., May 23 (AP)—The widow of a workman killed in a 180-foot fall from the WOR-TV tower in North Bergen was awarded $100,000 damages yesterday. A jury found in favor of Mrs. Julia Trecartin of St. Albans, N. Y., 28-year-old mother of two infant children. She brought suit against the Mahoney-Troast Construction Co., of Passaic contending it did not provide safeguards on the job. Her husband, Richard F. Trecartin, was employed by the Perry Steel Contractors, Inc., of New York, at the time of his death in 1949. The Perry firm was working under a sub-contract on the 700-foot high tower.

Advises Younger People to Take Interest in Church

Challenging young people to take their rightful place in the work of the church, Mrs. Donald Brown was the speaker at the Mother-Daughter dinner of the high school girl classes of the First Dutch Church. The dinner, prepared by the members, was served Tuesday evening at the church house.

Mrs. Brown reminded the girls of their places as potential church leaders and that waiting until more years was added to their life was not necessary. She pointed to numerous areas where the young people could be of service not only in their local church but also in the world-wide work of the church. She mentioned particularly the work of the World Student Service Association. Mrs. Brown is the wife of the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kingston.

Miss Marjorie Eisenberger, director of religious education at First Dutch, offered the invocation before dinner. During dinner Miss Jean Louise Wells entertained with piano music. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Herbert Fister, teacher of one of the classes.

Those attending in addition to the above mentioned were Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, Mrs. Ola Whispell, Mrs. Benjamin Scholton, Mrs. Robert Groves, Mrs. Carl Warnecke, Mrs. Iva V. D. Warren, Mrs. Harry Rigby, Mrs. Fred Suppies, Mrs. John R. Warren, Betsey Rigby, Barbara Warnecke, Betty Whispell, Martzen Groves, Donna Scholten, and Jean Suppies.

When Canada, then New France, took its first census in 1666 the country had 3,215 inhabitants.

Clergyman Gets Insurance

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—A 95-year-old clergyman has become the beneficiary of his own insurance policy which he had taken out 53 years ago. Dr. Joseph H. Gauss has exceeded the life span covered by the insurance mortality tables and yesterday he received $2,931 from the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The payment was made on the annual premium date nearest the 96th birthday. Gauss will be 96 on Aug. 30. An insurance company official said only about three persons in 1,000 can expect to reach 96. He said statistics show there are only about seven persons in 100,000 now living in the United States who are 96 or older.

Here's a 'Misfit' Good for Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"When is a misfit not a misfit?" asks a Milwaukee reader. "Here's a hand that is practically cold for six hearts, but I don't see how it can be bid without just stabbing blindly at it.

"North's diamond bidding is certainly not encouraging to South, and South's club bid is not encouraging to North—but the hands really fit in spite of the apparent misfit. How does this get shown?"

The beautiful fit can be shown if North makes a very thoughtful bid after West doubles three clubs. See if you can dream up North's best bid before you read on.

North has made a decided underbid when he raises to two hearts. He is therefore ready to make an aggressive bid if he gets another chance. Surely three diamonds cannot be called aggressive.

The million-dollar bid is four clubs. This certainly cannot show a club suit, for North would redouble three clubs with strong club support. The bid must show a singleton ace or a void—complete control of the suit in any case.

Now if South is just trying to get to game, he will bid four hearts and North can pass. If South needs information about clubs and general strength for slam purposes, he will get it from the bid of four clubs. There is no doubt that South should jump all the way from four clubs to six hearts.

The play is, of course, very easy. If West leads the queen of clubs (as good a choice as any), dummy wins, and declarer immediately cashes the ace and king of diamonds, discarding spades from his hand. His next step is to ruff a diamond to test the break in that suit.

When it becomes evident that the diamonds are 4-3, South lays down the ace of trumps, leads a trump to dummy's nine, and ruffs another diamond. Then dummy is entered with the king of trumps and two good diamonds are cashed, assuring the success of the slam contract.

Wife Told to Stay Off Hubby's Milk Wagon

Feltham, Eng., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Saxby said she had so much to say to her husband that she thought it best to go along with him on his daily round of milk deliveries.

When his boss complained, Mrs. Saxby said, she had a few things to tell him too. She went to see the boss, but said she got only a smack in the face in reply.

The boss told a court here yesterday, however, that Mrs. Saxby not only told him off but hit him on the head and punched him in the jaw.

The husband testified he heard the fracas from outside the boss's office but thought it advisable not to butt in.

"I am very high minded," Saxby told the court. "I wanted to interfere, but my wife told me to stand away."

Dancer Is Accused As Reefer Peddler

Savannah, Ga., May 23 (AP)—A maraca-shaking Negro dancer, accused of peddling marijuana during a "jungle dance" performed in night spots, was among four persons arrested in a narcotics raid.

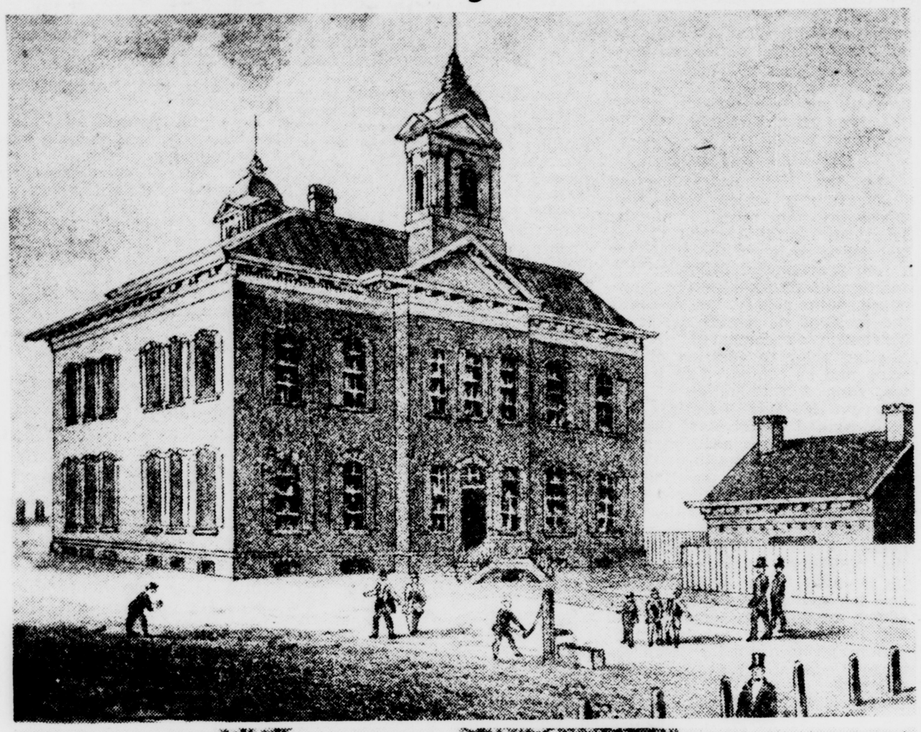
Police identified the dancer as 21-year-old Samual Rolle. He was arrested yesterday as he stepped from a Miami, Fla., train with a suitcase filled with marijuana—enough to roll 3,000 cigarettes, officers said.

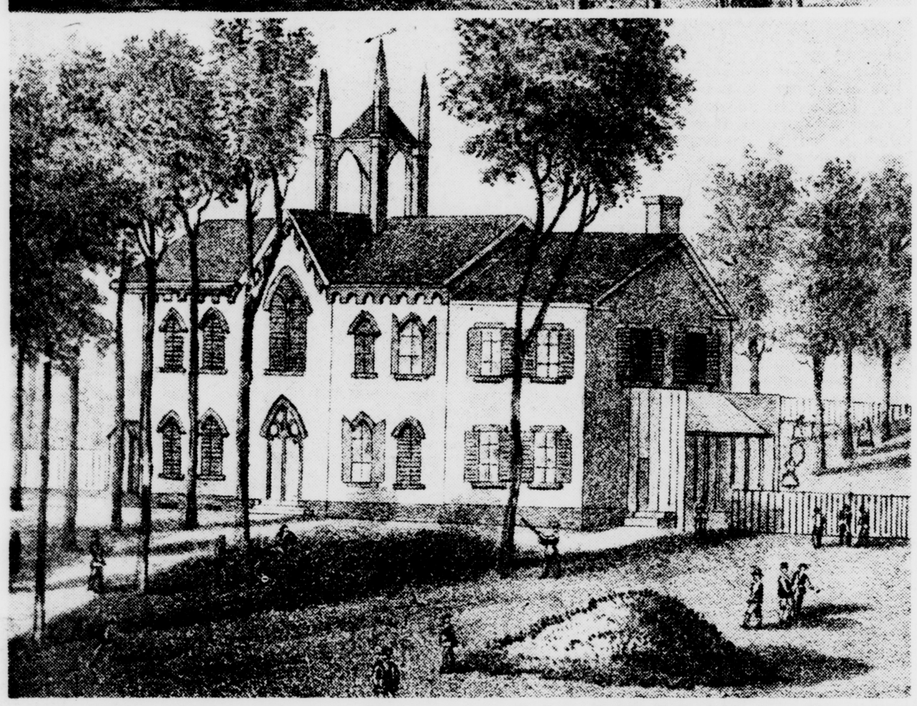
Detective Sgt. J. T. Price said the dancer kept the "reefers" hidden in a maraca, a musical instrument made from a large gourd.

Was Human Blaze

Newark, N. J., May 23 (AP)—Firemen expected a furious blaze last night but all they found was a stripper named, "Blaze Fury." Seems a customer was tossed out of the Empire Burlesque Theatre for smoking. "You'll be sorry," he said as he left. Minutes later firemen answered an alarm there. Closest thing to a fire was the featured strip teaser. She is billed as "Blaze Fury, the Human Heat Wave."

Sketches of Kingston in 1875





Lithographic sketches of two Kingston schools, which appeared in the "County Atlas of Ulster," published in the year 1875, are identified as Public School No. 11 on Crown street, which later became Public School No. 7, and Public School No. 8 at Liberty and Furnace streets.

Since publication of these two sketches 76 years ago, the school districts have been changed and there have been alterations to the buildings to meet an increased school population. During the course of years that these two schools have served the children of their respective districts numerous changes have taken place but this year there will be a major change.

Now under construction is the George Washington School on Wall street, which when completed will be one of the most modern elementary school buildings in the state. The new building is expected to be ready for occupancy in early Fall. With the opening of this new school on Wall street, Public School No. 8 on Franklin street will be closed and the new George Washington School will serve that section. Also to be transferred to this new school will be some of the grades from Public School No. 7 on Crown street.

This is part of a long-range building program of the Board of Education, which also calls for two new intermediate schools, one to be situated in the uptown section and the other in the downtown section of the city.

Long before these sketches were made of the two local public schools, Kingston educated its youth. Clearwater's history states the first teacher in Esopus, afterward Kingston, was Andries VanderSluys, who obtained his authority from director-general Peter Stuyvesant. This was about 1652. During the next 75 years, the Dutch inhabitants of Kingston, despite the negative influence of the English authorities, maintained free schools by taxation.

In 1854, the value of all public school property in Kingston was approximately $21,000. There were eight buildings containing accommodations for 800 pupils. The population of the districts was about 8,000 and the school population approximately 2,000. In 1862, Districts No. 5, 8, 11 and 15 were united into one union free school district, and Charles R. Abbot became the first superintendent of schools.

Caboose Is Retired

Mattoon, Ill., May 23 (AP)—An Illinois Central Railroad caboose has been retired until a family of robins grows up and flies away. Last week switchmen making up a train discovered the robin's nest just above the rear left trucks of the caboose. Rather than destroy the nest and eggs, the crew carried the nest and its contents to another caboose in the north end of the yards. They deposited the nest in the same position they found it on the other caboose. The mother robin followed the crew, fluttered down and sat on the nest. Now the caboose has been retired officially until the birds fly away.

Wider Probe Due On Red Spying

New York, May 23 (AP)—A super-secret federal grand jury, newly sworn in here, is expected to conduct a wide probe of spying and other subversive activities.

Communists from all over the country may be called as witnesses.

The grand jury, which began deliberations yesterday, is under special orders from Judge Henry W. Goddard emphasizing secrecy.

The instructions which Judge Goddard gave the 19 men and four women, who were sworn in Monday, gave rise to unofficial reports that they would consider matters of the utmost importance.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Roy M. Cohen, who will present evidence to the jury, declined to discuss the subject matter with newsmen. Thomas Donegan, special assistant to Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, will work with Cohen in presenting evidence.

The jury is the third federal grand jury here to investigate espionage and subversive activities.

Among the indictments to date were those of the 11 top U. S. Communist leaders convicted of corspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government. They are appealing prison sentences and fines.

Drowns After Quarrel

Ilion, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Edward Van Valkenburgh, 18, jumped into the State Barge Canal and drowned last night after an argument with his 16-year-old girl friend, state police said. Trooper Alfred Bruni of the state police quoted Shirley Streeter as saying she and Van Valkenburgh argued while sitting in a car parked near the canal bank in North Ilion. She told the trooper the boy got out of the car, removed his shoes and jumped into the canal.

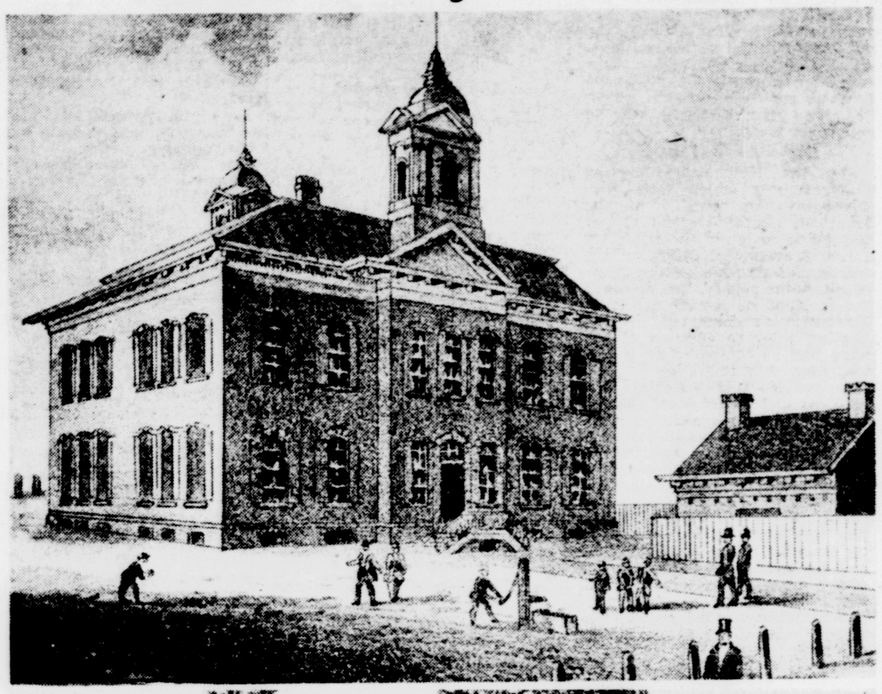
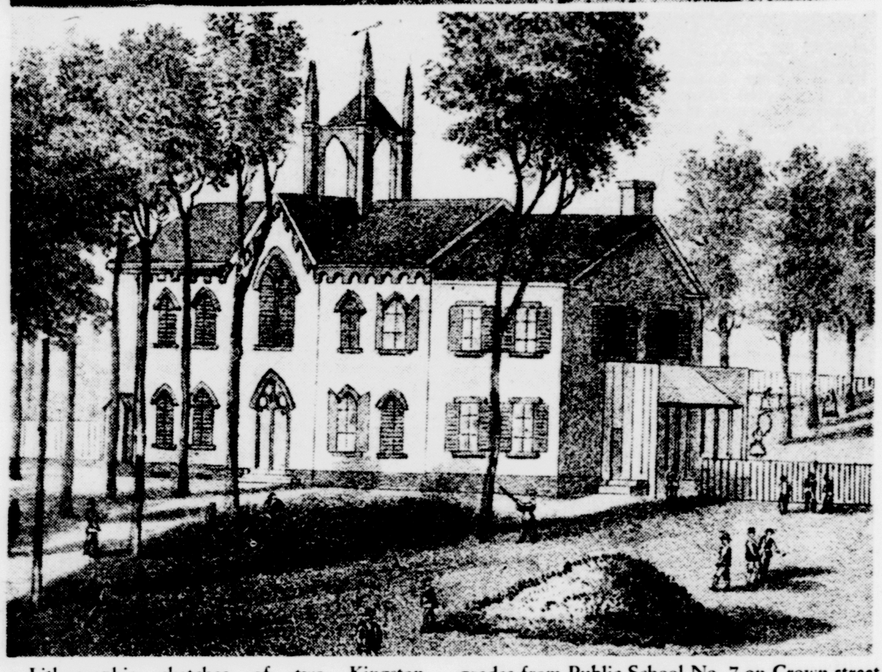
Sketches of Kingston in 1875





Lithographic sketches of two Kingston schools, which appeared in the "County Atlas of Ulster," published in the year 1875, are identified as Public School No. 11 on Crown street, which later became Public School No. 7, and Public School No. 8 at Liberty and Furnace streets.

Since publication of these two sketches 76 years ago, the school districts have been changed and there have been alterations to the buildings to meet an increased school population. During the course of years that these two schools have served the children of their respective districts numerous changes have taken place but this year there will be a major change.

Now under construction is the George Washington School on Wall street, which when completed will be one of the most modern elementary school buildings in the state. The new building is expected to be ready for occupancy in early Fall. With the opening of this new school on Wall street, Public School No. 8 on Franklin street will be closed and the new George Washington School will serve that section. Also to be transferred to this new school will be some of the grades from Public School No. 7 on Crown street.

This is part of a long-range building program of the Board of Education, which also calls for two new intermediate schools, one to be situated in the uptown section and the other in the downtown section of the city.

Long before these sketches were made of the two local public schools, Kingston educated its youth. Clearwater's history states the first teacher in Esopus, afterward Kingston, was Andries VanderSluys, who obtained his authority from director-general Peter Stuyvesant. This was about 1652. During the next 75 years, the Dutch inhabitants of Kingston, despite the negative influence of the English authorities, maintained free schools by taxation.

In 1854, the value of all public school property in Kingston was approximately $21,000. There were eight buildings containing accommodations for 800 pupils. The population of the districts was about 8,000 and the school population approximately 2,000. In 1862, Districts No. 5, 8, 11 and 15 were united into one union free school district, and Charles R. Abbot became the first superintendent of schools.

Caboose Is Retired

Mattoon, Ill., May 23 (AP)—An Illinois Central Railroad caboose has been retired until a family of robins grows up and flies away. Last week switchmen making up a train discovered the robin's nest just above the rear left trucks of the caboose. Rather than destroy the nest and eggs, the crew carried the nest and its contents to another caboose in the north end of the yards. They deposited the nest in the same position they found it on the other caboose. The mother robin followed the crew, fluttered down and sat on the nest. Now the caboose has been retired officially until the birds fly away.

Wider Probe Due On Red Spying

New York, May 23 (AP)—A super-secret federal grand jury, newly sworn in here, is expected to conduct a wide probe of spying and other subversive activities.

Communists from all over the country may be called as witnesses.

The grand jury, which began deliberations yesterday, is under special orders from Judge Henry W. Goddard emphasizing secrecy.

The instructions which Judge Goddard gave the 19 men and four women, who were sworn in Monday, gave rise to unofficial reports that they would consider matters of the utmost importance.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Roy M. Cohen, who will present evidence to the jury, declined to discuss the subject matter with newsmen. Thomas Donegan, special assistant to Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, will work with Cohen in presenting evidence.

The jury is the third federal grand jury here to investigate espionage and subversive activities.

Among the indictments to date were those of the 11 top U. S. Communist leaders convicted of corspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government. They are appealing prison sentences and fines.

Drowns After Quarrel

Ilion, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Edward Van Valkenburgh, 18, jumped into the State Barge Canal and drowned last night after an argument with his 16-year-old girl friend, state police said. Trooper Alfred Bruni of the state police quoted Shirley Streeter as saying she and Van Valkenburgh argued while sitting in a car parked near the canal bank in North Ilion. She told the trooper the boy got out of the car, removed his shoes and jumped into the canal.

Here's a 'Misfit' Good for Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"When is a misfit not a misfit?" asks a Milwaukee reader. "Here's a hand that is practically cold for six hearts, but I don't see how it can be bid without just stabbing blindly at it.

"North's diamond bidding is certainly not encouraging to South, and South's club bid is not encouraging to North—but the hands really fit in spite of the apparent misfit. How does this get shown?"

The beautiful fit can be shown if North makes a very thoughtful bid after West doubles three clubs. See if you can dream up North's best bid before you read on.

North has made a decided underbid when he raises to two hearts. He is therefore ready to make an aggressive bid if he gets another chance. Surely three diamonds cannot be called aggressive.

The million-dollar bid is four clubs. This certainly cannot show a club suit, for North would redouble three clubs with strong club support. The bid must show a singleton ace or a void—complete control of the suit in any case.

Now if South is just trying to get to game, he will bid four hearts and North can pass. If South needs information about clubs and general strength for slam purposes, he will get it from the bid of four clubs. There is no doubt that South should jump all the way from four clubs to six hearts.

The play is, of course, very easy. If West leads the queen of clubs (as good a choice as any), dummy wins, and declarer immediately cashes the ace and king of diamonds, discarding spades from his hand. His next step is to ruff a diamond to test the break in that suit.

When it becomes evident that the diamonds are 4-3, South lays down the ace of trumps, leads a trump to dummy's nine, and ruffs another diamond. Then dummy is entered with the king of trumps and two good diamonds are cashed, assuring the success of the slam contract.

Wife Told to Stay Off Hubby's Milk Wagon

Feltham, Eng., May 23 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Saxby said she had so much to say to her husband that she thought it best to go along with him on his daily round of milk deliveries.

When his boss complained, Mrs. Saxby said, she had a few things to tell him too. She went to see the boss, but said she got only a smack in the face in reply.

The boss told a court here yesterday, however, that Mrs. Saxby not only told him off but hit him on the head and punched him in the jaw.

The husband testified he heard the fracas from outside the boss's office but thought it advisable not to butt in.

"I am very high minded," Saxby told the court. "I wanted to interfere, but my wife told me to stand away."

Dancer Is Accused As Reefer Peddler

Savannah, Ga., May 23 (AP)—A maraca-shaking Negro dancer, accused of peddling marijuana during a "jungle dance" performed in night spots, was among four persons arrested in a narcotics raid.

Police identified the dancer as 21-year-old Samual Rolle. He was arrested yesterday as he stepped from a Miami, Fla., train with a suitcase filled with marijuana—enough to roll 3,000 cigarettes, officers said.

Detective Sgt. J. T. Price said the dancer kept the "reefers" hidden in a maraca, a musical instrument made from a large gourd.

Was Human Blaze

Newark, N. J., May 23 (AP)—Firemen expected a furious blaze last night but all they found was a stripper named, "Blaze Fury." Seems a customer was tossed out of the Empire Burlesque Theatre for smoking. "You'll be sorry," he said as he left. Minutes later firemen answered an alarm there. Closest thing to a fire was the featured strip teaser. She is billed as "Blaze Fury, the Human Heat Wave."

Cerebral Palsy Chairmen Announced for '51 Drive

Various chairmen for the campaign to raise funds for the 1951 drive were announced today by the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Association.

It is hoped to raise $25,000 in the county area to combat the malady and establish a clinic where those afflicted may be treated by specialists.

There are 55 cases in the county, it was stressed, suffering from the "oldest and most insidious health foe known to mankind and one of the greatest cripplers of both children and adults."

Cerebral palsy can strike anyone, of any age, at any time. There is no insurance against it, no known preventive and no known cure.

Destroys Muscular Control

Cerebral palsy is a neuro-muscular disability due to an injury to the motor centers of the brain, and results in loss or impairment of voluntary muscular control. It may be mild or severe, and may cause lack of control of one or many muscles, or groups of muscles, or the entire range of muscular activity.

It is neither hereditary nor contagious, and it is not a disease.

The condition is present, in many cases, at or shortly after birth, but also may be acquired at any time in life.

Honorary chairman for Ulster county is Senator Arthur H. Wicks.

Campaign treasurer, Oscar J. Lawatsch.

Associate honorary chairmen, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk; County Judge John M. Cashin, Attorney Thomas J. Plunket, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, the Rev. Burton F. Tarr and Miss Emily Rice.

City chairman, Richard M. Kalish, a member of the Kingston Board of Education.

County chairman, John J. Schwalbach, exalted ruler, Kingston Lodge, 550, B. P. O. Elks.

Special gifts, Jerry Martin, Harry Rigby, Jr.

Sports, Charles Tiano and Richard McCarthy.

Movie collections, Hervey A. Keator, manager of Reade's 9W Drive-in.

Women's division, Mrs. Mabel L. Fisher.

Publicity, Mrs. Sam N. Mann, Robert Peebles, Miss Patricia Bensing, Bob Browning and Ira Warren.

Civic and social organizations, James P. Byrne.

Professions, Judge John M. Cashin, Joseph J. Jacobson, M.D., Sidney D. Wolff, D.D.S.

Schools, Stephen G. D. Hyatt.

According to surveys there are 546,000 American children and adults who were born cerebral paisied. Every year 10,000 babies are born with it, one every 43 minutes. Automobile accidents, industrial mishaps, strokes and certain diseases add to the toll. American servicemen have acquired the condition as result of wounds or illnesses.

Child Identified As Shirley Jolin; Parents Sought

Identity of the baby girl found on the front lawn of Mrs. Gertrude Lawler in the town of Gardiner Monday morning has been established by Sheriff Cluett Schantz and State Police from the Highland sub-station.

Identification was made late Tuesday afternoon by persons who have seen the child and through clothing which the baby girl wore when she was found.

Sheriff Schantz with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, Deputy Sheriff Lewis Rolling of New Paltz and Sergeants Lynn Baker and William Martin of Highland were engaged most of last night in tracing down a "tip" which was received by Sheriff Schantz about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. District Attorney Louis Bruhn worked throughout the night with the officers.

According to the officers the child is Shirley Jolin, born last December at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie to Mr. and Mrs. David Jolin, who have been residents of Milton for the past year.

Born at Vassar Hospital

Records show that a child was born to David and Barbara Jolin of Milton, formerly of New York, at Vassar Hospital and persons who have seen the baby and cared for it have identified the child from photographs and from the clothing as one of the two Jolin children. A four-year-old child is now being cared for by a Marlborough woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolin, it is reported by the officials, left their home in Milton, where they resided in a house on the Nathan Hahn farm, Tuesday afternoon in a Buick car bearing N. Y. license DU-1815. It is reported they may be headed west, perhaps en route to Chicago.

Alarm Sent Out

The Buick car is a 1947 four-door sedan, black with a cream or yellow top. An alarm has been sent out by the state police to halt the car.

The Jolin family came to Milton about a year ago and he was employed in a printing plant in the town of Marlborough.

When identity of the child was established Tuesday following the investigation by the sheriff and troopers a teletype message was sent out to halt the car.

The baby was taken to the Kingston Hospital Tuesday following the finding of the small child by Mrs. Lawler. Today it was announced that the child would be taken from the hospital and placed in a boarding home until the present case is settled.

Tuesday prior to the identification of the baby photographs were taken, and other means of identification were established by the authorities.

Thus far the authorities have established no motive for the abandonment of the baby.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 23 (AP)—Stocks see-sawed between plus and minus today in a quiet market.

A mixed start, a mid-morning sagging tendency, a pick-up about noon—that was the story of the market's narrow movement.

The rails stood ahead along with steels. Motors held unchanged for considerable periods. The remainder of the market was irregular.

Today's scattered tries at a rally brought out no buying surges, but at the same time there was little or no selling pressure apparent. For the past three weeks the market has been backing down more or less steadily from the high point of the year.

Two Men Arrested

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Dutchess County Sheriff C. Fred Close disclosed today that two men had been arrested in connection with the operation of Sunday stock car races at the nearby Arlington, N. Y., Airport. He identified the two as Carl Sage, 41, Poughkeepsie, operator of the airport, and Edward Ryan, 29, also of Poughkeepsie. They are charged with violating a state law banning certain sports on Sunday. The races of the stock cars (stripped-down automobiles with souped-up engines) were held May 13.

Clinton Chapter, 445, O.E.S. and Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge 357, held ritualistic services at the parlor. There were many beautiful flowers. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

supply of Newburgh in contrast to Kingston where no fluorine exists in the natural water. Control groups in each city have been studied and the incident of dental decay has been noted.

In areas where fluorine naturally occurs in the water, which is true in many mid-west and western communities, and where the concentration is from 1 to 1½ parts per million, Dr. Ast said, the incident of dental caries has been reduced 60 per cent. Where there is greater concentration of fluorine the only adverse physical effect has been the mottling of the enamel of teeth.

Caries Showed Drop

For the Newburgh-Kingston study, figures which were presented at the meeting of the American Dental Association last fall which reviewed the study for a four-year period following the addition of fluorine to the Newburgh water supply, Dr. Ast said, the incident of dental caries of Newburgh as compared to that existing prior to addition of fluorine and as compared to Kingston, showed a reduction of 32½ per cent. He said the study will be continued for at least the ten year period as originally planned.

On the basis of the results thus far in the study as well as on results of studies conducted elsewhere in the United States and Canada, the commissioner of health of the state advises addition of fluorine to communal water supplies to the extent of one part per million parts in instances where properly trained personnel and proper equipment for application and proper methods of laboratory control are available, Dr. Ast said.

Is Now in Position

It was stated at the meeting that the Kingston water department is now in a position to carry out a proper program for addition of fluorine to the water supply if directed to do so by the proper authorities. It is estimated that the initial cost would be approximately $4,000.

Following the talk of Dr. Ast, Charles Cox, chief of the Water Supply Section of the Bureau of Environmental Sanitation of New York State, outlined the engineering and laboratory aspects of the application of sodium fluorine or related compounds having the same effect, to water supplies. He again pointed out actually such addition of these agents would be merely the addition of a mineral salt which is in many natural waters and is thus not foreign to waters consumed by individuals throughout the world. He said that the program of adding fluorine to water supplies is basically one of public health and consideration of a dental health program and the protection of the teeth of children in consideration of the dental caries problem.

Discussion Follows

A discussion followed the talks and questions were asked by the audience and answered by the officials present.

Inquiry was made as to who would recommend fluorinization of the Kingston water supply and it was stated that the water board would undoubtedly not of itself assume the responsibility of such a program but would base its action on the recommendation of some city body which had authority to represent the desires of the people of the city.

The American Water Works Association recommends a policy for water supply operators in that they adopt a policy of acting as agents of duly qualified authorities.

A resolution was adopted some time ago by the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club, approving the addition of fluorine to the Kingston water supply when recommended by the State Department of Health. The Ulster County Medical Society has also passed a resolution approving the action when research has been completed to the satisfaction of the society's advisory board. Approval has also been given by the American Dental Association. The Ulster County Board of Health and various allied dental groups have also approved addition of fluorine to the Kingston system.

80 Use Fluorine

At present about 80 water supplies in the United States use fluorine and at present the cities of New Rochelle, Rochester and Buffalo are considering addition of the substance to their supplies. Newburgh, which is linked with Kingston in the survey now under way, is using fluorine.

Present at the meeting last evening in addition to the speakers was Dr. Leon Gray from the County Medical Society; Dr. Robert Broad, Harry Edinger, Dr. Joseph B. Kearney and Harry Kaplan of the County Health Board; John Schoonmaker, Harry R. LeFever, Jr., Benjamin Schecter, John Van Alstyne, John Byrne, superintendent, Edwin Wetterhahn, secretary, James Caird, chemical consultant, William Colsten, chemical operator, from the water department; Dr. Nussbaum sanitary chemist, from the City Laboratory; Aldermen Schatzel of the 9th Ward, Alderman Abram Relvea of the 11th Ward and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly; Dr. Robert Whelan and Dr. Sydney Wolff from the Dental Society; Dr. Elbert MacFadden and Dr. Herbert B. Johnson from the Medical Society and N. Kelly Becomes Republican

Pittsburgh, May 23 (AP)—Charles E. (Commando) Kelly, Congressional Medal of Honor winner in World War 2, has switched his political allegiance from Democrat to Republican, saying: "I see no reason why our boys should be fighting and dying in Korea for a bunch of people in Washington who don't know what they're doing." Kelly, whose brother, Danny, is missing in action in Korea, changed his party resignation formally yesterday.

Washington, May 23 (AP)—In a stormy, shouting session, the House Ways and Means Committee voted today for a flat 12½ per cent increase for individual income taxpayers and for a boost in the excess profits tax on corporations.

Both revisions were agreed upon by straight party line votes, and Republican members of the committee declared angrily that the changes were "railroaded through."

Various chairmen for the campaign to raise funds for the 1951 drive were announced today by the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Association.

It is hoped to raise $25,000 in the county area to combat the malady and establish a clinic where those afflicted may be treated by specialists.

There are 55 cases in the county, it was stressed, suffering from the "oldest and most insidious health foe known to mankind and one of the greatest cripplers of both children and adults."

Cerebral palsy can strike anyone, of any age, at any time. There is no insurance against it, no known preventive and no known cure.

Destroys Muscular Control

Cerebral palsy is a neuro-muscular disability due to an injury to the motor centers of the brain, and results in loss or impairment of voluntary muscular control. It may be mild or severe, and may cause lack of control of one or many muscles, or groups of muscles, or the entire range of muscular activity.

It is neither hereditary nor contagious, and it is not a disease.

The condition is present, in many cases, at or shortly after birth, but also may be acquired at any time in life.

Honorary chairman for Ulster county is Senator Arthur H. Wicks.

Campaign treasurer, Oscar J. Lawatsch.

Associate honorary chairmen, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk; County Judge John M. Cashin, Attorney Thomas J. Plunket, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, the Rev. Burton F. Tarr and Miss Emily Rice.

According to surveys there are 546,000 American children and adults who were born cerebral paisied. Every year 10,000 babies are born with it, one every 43 minutes. Automobile accidents, industrial mishaps, strokes and certain diseases add to the toll. American servicemen have acquired the condition as result of wounds or illnesses.

Child Identified As Shirley Jolin; Parents Sought

Identity of the baby girl found on the front lawn of Mrs. Gertrude Lawler in the town of Gardiner Monday morning has been established by Sheriff Cluett Schantz and State Police from the Highland sub-station.

Identification was made late Tuesday afternoon by persons who have seen the child and through clothing which the baby girl wore when she was found.

Sheriff Schantz with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, Deputy Sheriff Lewis Rolling of New Paltz and Sergeants Lynn Baker and William Martin of Highland were engaged most of last night in tracing down a "tip" which was received by Sheriff Schantz about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. District Attorney Louis Bruhn worked throughout the night with the officers.

According to the officers the child is Shirley Jolin, born last December at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie to Mr. and Mrs. David Jolin, who have been residents of Milton for the past year.

Born at Vassar Hospital

Records show that a child was born to David and Barbara Jolin of Milton, formerly of New York, at Vassar Hospital and persons who have seen the baby and cared for it have identified the child from photographs and from the clothing as one of the two Jolin children. A four-year-old child is now being cared for by a Marlborough woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolin, it is reported by the officials, left their home in Milton, where they resided in a house on the Nathan Hahn farm, Tuesday afternoon in a Buick car bearing N. Y. license DU-1815. It is reported they may be headed west, perhaps en route to Chicago.

Alarm Sent Out

The Buick car is a 1947 four-door sedan, black with a cream or yellow top. An alarm has been sent out by the state police to halt the car.

The Jolin family came to Milton about a year ago and he was employed in a printing plant in the town of Marlborough.

When identity of the child was established Tuesday following the investigation by the sheriff and troopers a teletype message was sent out to halt the car.

The baby was taken to the Kingston Hospital Tuesday following the finding of the small child by Mrs. Lawler. Today it was announced that the child would be taken from the hospital and placed in a boarding home until the present case is settled.

Tuesday prior to the identification of the baby photographs were taken, and other means of identification were established by the authorities.

Thus far the authorities have established no motive for the abandonment of the baby.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 23 (AP)—Stocks see-sawed between plus and minus today in a quiet market.

A mixed start, a mid-morning sagging tendency, a pick-up about noon—that was the story of the market's narrow movement.

The rails stood ahead along with steels. Motors held unchanged for considerable periods. The remainder of the market was irregular.

Today's scattered tries at a rally brought out no buying surges, but at the same time there was little or no selling pressure apparent. For the past three weeks the market has been backing down more or less steadily from the high point of the year.

In areas where fluorine naturally occurs in the water, which is true in many mid-west and western communities, and where the concentration is from 1 to 1½ parts per million, Dr. Ast said, the incident of dental caries has been reduced 60 per cent. Where there is greater concentration of fluorine the only adverse physical effect has been the mottling of the enamel of teeth.

Caries Showed Drop

For the Newburgh-Kingston study, figures which were presented at the meeting of the American Dental Association last fall which reviewed the study for a four-year period following the addition of fluorine to the Newburgh water supply, Dr. Ast said, the incident of dental caries of Newburgh as compared to that existing prior to addition of fluorine and as compared to Kingston, showed a reduction of 32½ per cent. He said the study will be continued for at least the ten year period as originally planned.

On the basis of the results thus far in the study as well as on results of studies conducted elsewhere in the United States and Canada, the commissioner of health of the state advises addition of fluorine to communal water supplies to the extent of one part per million parts in instances where properly trained personnel and proper equipment for application and proper methods of laboratory control are available, Dr. Ast said.

Is Now in Position

It was stated at the meeting that the Kingston water department is now in a position to carry out a proper program for addition of fluorine to the water supply if directed to do so by the proper authorities. It is estimated that the initial cost would be approximately $4,000.

Following the talk of Dr. Ast, Charles Cox, chief of the Water Supply Section of the Bureau of Environmental Sanitation of New York State, outlined the engineering and laboratory aspects of the application of sodium fluorine or related compounds having the same effect, to water supplies. He again pointed out actually such addition of these agents would be merely the addition of a mineral salt which is in many natural waters and is thus not foreign to waters consumed by individuals throughout the world. He said that the program of adding fluorine to water supplies is basically one of public health and consideration of a dental health program and the protection of the teeth of children in consideration of the dental caries problem.

Discussion Follows

A discussion followed the talks and questions were asked by the audience and answered by the officials present.

Inquiry was made as to who would recommend fluorinization of the Kingston water supply and it was stated that the water board would undoubtedly not of itself assume the responsibility of such a program but would base its action on the recommendation of some city body which had authority to represent the desires of the people of the city.

The American Water Works Association recommends a policy for water supply operators in that they adopt a policy of acting as agents of duly qualified authorities.

A resolution was adopted some time ago by the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club, approving the addition of fluorine to the Kingston water supply when recommended by the State Department of Health. The Ulster County Medical Society has also passed a resolution approving the action when research has been completed to the satisfaction of the society's advisory board. Approval has also been given by the American Dental Association. The Ulster County Board of Health and various allied dental groups have also approved addition of fluorine to the Kingston system.

80 Use Fluorine

At present about 80 water supplies in the United States use fluorine and at present the cities of New Rochelle, Rochester and Buffalo are considering addition of the substance to their supplies. Newburgh, which is linked with Kingston in the survey now under way, is using fluorine.

Present at the meeting last evening in addition to the speakers was Dr. Leon Gray from the County Medical Society; Dr. Robert Broad, Harry Edinger, Dr. Joseph B. Kearney and Harry Kaplan of the County Health Board; John Schoonmaker, Harry R. LeFever, Jr., Benjamin Schecter, John Van Alstyne, John Byrne, superintendent, Edwin Wetterhahn, secretary, James Caird, chemical consultant, William Colsten, chemical operator, from the water department; Dr. Nussbaum sanitary chemist, from the City Laboratory; Aldermen Schatzel of the 9th Ward, Alderman Abram Relvea of the 11th Ward and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, Mayor Oscar V. It may be mild or severe, and may cause lack of control of one or many muscles, or groups of muscles, or the entire range of muscular activity.

It is neither hereditary nor contagious, and it is not a disease.

The condition is present, in many cases, at or shortly after birth, but also may be acquired at any time in life.

Child Identified As Shirley Jolin; Parents Sought

Identity of the baby girl found on the front lawn of Mrs. Gertrude Lawler in the town of Gardiner Monday morning has been established by Sheriff Cluett Schantz and State Police from the Highland sub-station.

Identification was made late Tuesday afternoon by persons who have seen the child and through clothing which the baby girl wore when she was found.

Sheriff Schantz with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, Deputy Sheriff Lewis Rolling of New Paltz and Sergeants Lynn Baker and William Martin of Highland were engaged most of last night in tracing down a "tip" which was received by Sheriff Schantz about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. District Attorney Louis Bruhn worked throughout the night with the officers.

According to the officers the child is Shirley Jolin, born last December at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie to Mr. and Mrs. David Jolin, who have been residents of Milton for the past year.

Born at Vassar Hospital

Records show that a child was born to David and Barbara Jolin of Milton, formerly of New York, at Vassar Hospital and persons who have seen the baby and cared for it have identified the child from photographs and from the clothing as one of the two Jolin children. A four-year-old child is now being cared for by a Marlborough woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolin, it is reported by the officials, left their home in Milton, where they resided in a house on the Nathan Hahn farm, Tuesday afternoon in a Buick car bearing N. Y. license DU-1815. It is reported they may be headed west, perhaps en route to Chicago.

Alarm Sent Out

The Buick car is a 1947 four-door sedan, black with a cream or yellow top. An alarm has been sent out by the state police to halt the car.

The Jolin family came to Milton about a year ago and he was employed in a printing plant in the town of Marlborough.

When identity of the child was established Tuesday following the investigation by the sheriff and troopers a teletype message was sent out to halt the car.

The baby was taken to the Kingston Hospital Tuesday following the finding of the small child by Mrs. Lawler. Today it was announced that the child would be taken from the hospital and placed in a boarding home until the present case is settled.

Tuesday prior to the identification of the baby photographs were taken, and other means of identification were established by the authorities.

Thus far the authorities have established no motive for the abandonment of the baby.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 23 (AP)—Stocks see-sawed between plus and minus today in a quiet market.

A mixed start, a mid-morning sagging tendency, a pick-up about noon—that was the story of the market's narrow movement.

The rails stood ahead along with steels. Motors held unchanged for considerable periods. The remainder of the market was irregular.

Today's scattered tries at a rally brought out no buying surges, but at the same time there was little or no selling pressure apparent. For the past three weeks the market has been backing down more or less steadily from the high point of the year.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Dutchess County Sheriff C. Public Hearing Slated Tonight on Bus for 4th

The public hearing relative to extended bus service in a section of the Fourth ward is scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Common Council chambers.

Residents of the North Rondout area in the vicinity of First, Second and Third avenues are expected to attend the session to discuss the extension of the Hasbrouck avenue line in their neighborhood.

Approximately 300 signers put their names on petitions circulated by James DeCicco, a business man of the ward, after Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk proposed that bus service be furnished for residents of the section who ride to and from work.

Speaker Urges More Interest by Adults in Scouting

"Scouting has come to be something that many of our communities have taken too much for granted," Dr. Irwin A. Conroe, former assistant commissioner of the state education department and a Scouter for many years, said in an address here Tuesday night.

Stressing the importance of adult leadership for youth, Dr. Conroe warned that many adults are so engrossed in other things that they have no time to volunteer to lead boys to become men. "A contribution to the finance campaign in not enough," he said.

Dr. Conroe spoke Tuesday night at the annual dinner meeting of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, held at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Harry Rigby, Jr., was toastmaster.

George B. Matthews was re-elected council president during the business session of the meeting. Other elected officers were Herbert Bell of Milton, James West of East Jewett, Raymond Quackenbush of Saugerties, vice-presidents; Valentine W. Morrow of Maplecrest, commissioner; Walter L. Foster of Kingston, treasurer. Matthews and Morrow were also elected as National Council representatives.

Gets High Award

The coveted Silver Beaver award was presented to James West, East Jewett, for "noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood in the Council area." The award is given by the National Executive Board upon recommendation of the local council.

Herbert Bell of Milton, council vice-president and himself a holder of the Silver Beaver, made the presentation.

Mr. West began his service as a Scouter with the organization of Troop 54 in East Jewett and served as scoutmaster there for three years. He then served several years as district commissioner and district chairman of the Mountain District. For the past three years he has served as a council executive board member and a member of the council camp committee. He is a graduate of the Wanaker School of Forestry and served 21 years with the New York State Conservation Department as a forester. His knowledge of forestry and camping has assisted with the development of the council camp, Tri-Mount, at East Jewett and has made it one of the best camps in this part of the state.

Elected As Executives

Kingston residents elected last night to the executive board were A. J. Burns, G. Wallace Codwise, G. Herbert DeKay, Clarence Dumm, William F. Edelmuth, Harry Halverson, William Leehive, John H. Martin, George R. Mustaparta, Harry Rigby, Jr., Francis J. Schilling, George Shivery, Lewis Short, Walter T. Tremper and B. C. Van Ingen. Other board members are Carl Fatzinger, Catskill; Thomas J. Hanlon and Reinhold Marvine, Ellenville; Elwood Hitchcock, Maplecrest; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Woodstock; George Osborne and Edward West, Windham.

President Matthews announced several appointments of chairmen of various council operating committees. John H. Martin was named chairman of organization and extension; Walter T. Tremper, camping; George R. Mustaparta, health and safety; Harry Rigby, Jr., leadership training; Valentine W. Morrow, activities; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Cub scouting; Elwood Hitchcock, exploring; B. C Van Ingen, advancement; A. J. Burns, finance.

Need More Troops

George V. Dennis, scout executive, summarized the last year's activities and called attention to the "splendid camping record made last summer, and the outstandingly good job done on the National Jamboree held last July at Valley Forge, Pa." He drew attention to the growing boy population of Ulster and Greene counties and stated that the council must be prepared to have Cub packs and Boy Scout troops ready this year for boys who wish to join.

The council-wide finance campaign, it was announced, would be conducted during the first two weeks of August. Cooperation was urged in carrying out the proposed council program of organization, training, activities and education. Named as chairman of the financial drive was William Sherrill Keyser.

Olive Bridge Pastor Gets Divinity Degree

Among 200 students receiving bachelor of divinity degrees at the annual commencement of Union Theological Seminary in New York was the Rev. Jack Earl Savage, pastor of the Olive Bridge Methodist Church.

The ceremonies Tuesday were held at Riverside Church to accommodate the largest graduating class in the seminary's history, representing 36 denominations.

The Rev. Mr. Savage is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Savage of 216 Grant avenue, Mineola. He will continue as pastor at Olive Bridge.

Title of his thesis was, The Nature of Man in Communism and Christianity.

He is a graduate of New York University and attended Drew Seminary in Madison, N. J., and served two years as an aviation cadet in the U. S. Army Air Corps.

Hasn't Begun Attack

New Orleans, May 23 (AP)—Rep. F. Edward Herbert (D-La.) said last night Russia hasn't launched an attack against the U. S. because its atom bomb is inferior to ours. Herbert, who witnessed the recent atom bomb tests at Eniwetok, told the Quota Club that in watching the tests he "had seen the end of the world." He did not elaborate on this comment.

Boice Farm Gets Glass and Steel Silo

On the dairy farm of Pratt Boice in the town of Ulster there is being erected one of the first glass and steel Harvestore silos in this part of the country. Not only is the silo unique in that it is a steel silo glass surfaced on the inside and outside, but the method of erection is unique.

Working on the project are William Green, Robert Palmer, Gordon Boice and Robert F. Breeze, sales representative for the silos.

Huge 14-foot sections of the silo are inserted under the roof at ground level and the silo is raised to position by jacks which lift up new sections under the roof. The top section is first placed and additional sections are inserted as the top of the silo is jacked up in position.

While this is the first silo of this type in this section of the country there are over 1,000 in use in the mid-west. Arthur Godfrey, radio and TV artist has four similar silos on his farm.

Robert F. Breeze of 134 North Front street, local representative for the A. O. Smith Corporation, manufacturers, is supervising the erection. When completed the silo will be 14 feet in circumference and 40 feet high with a capacity of 175 tons of silage. The A. O. Smith Corporation manufactures auto bodies and many other steel products, including the steel pipe for the "Big Inch" pipe line, and also manufactures the Permaglas hot water heaters.

Unloading of the silo is done from the bottom by means of an automatic steel bar equipped with cutters.

The silo is constructed of steel faced inside and outside with blue glass which is fused inside and outside to the steel.

Erection of the silo is being watched by a large number of dairy farmers of this locality. Gordon Boice, son of Pratt Boice, is the manager of the dairy farm.

The term "spinster" originated in the Middle Ages, when most weaving was done by unmarried women.

Wakefield Voters Go Easy on HST

Wakefield, N. H., May 23 (AP)—The residents of this small rural community don't want to take President Truman's job away from him—although most of them are known die-hard Republicans.

They voted in a special town meeting last night on the question:

"Should Harry Truman be impeached?"

The answer was "no" by a vote of 48 to 17, with 35 of those present not voting.

The whole matter was brought to a head for the first time anywhere by William N. Sparhawk, Jr., a 32-year-old chicken farmer who served as an army captain in World War II.

He circulated a petition for a special town meeting to vote on the question. He needed 10 signatures but he said 50 residents signed the petition.

Exactly 100 of the town's 795 voters showed up for the unusual meeting in the town hall.

Selectman Albert W. Wiggin said about 400 persons attended the regular town meeting in March. He couldn't account for the small attendance last night.

The vote was taken after speeches by Sparhawk and Edwin P. Geauque, merchandising consultant, who opposed impeachment.

Sparhawk argued that the President is pursuing "a policy of appeasement," that "the ship of state is being scuttled," and that the administration is "rampant with corruption."

Geauque said "the world has its eyes on our town tonight. The answer to this question depends on whether we will be called 'screwball' or thoughtful people."

College President To Head Exchange

New York, May 23 (AP)—The next president of the New York Stock Exchange, according to Wall Street reports, will be Dr. George Keith Funston, 40-year-old president of Trinity College.

He is also a director of several large corporations.

The New York Times said today Funston will become the next Exchange president and his name will be presented to the board of governors tomorrow for approval.

Dr. Funston would fill the post vacated May 1 by Emil Schram, who announced his resignation last September.

Stock Exchange officials have neither confirmed nor denied the reports about Dr. Funston.

There was no comment by the Hartford, Conn., college president.

Two Vacancies Are To Be Filled in City Departments

The Kingston Municipal Civil Service Commission is expected to get requests for lists of eligibility from both the police and fire departments in the near future, it was learned today.

A police department vacancy will be filled some time after July 1 when Patrolman George Bowers is scheduled for retirement under a disability ruling, and the recent death of Fireman John A. Carle left a fire department vacancy.

Special Patrolman Meyer Levy is one of the top three men on the police department eligibility list, but the list for the fire department has not been completed because the last phase of the civil service examination was held only a few days ago and the results have not been received from Albany.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy today indicated the possibility of a temporary or probationary appointment to the department pending action on the list. The Board of Police Commissioners may act on the department eligibility list at its next regular meeting which is scheduled for June 21.

Speaker Urges More Interest by Adults in Scouting

"Scouting has come to be something that many of our communities have taken too much for granted," Dr. Irwin A. Conroe, former assistant commissioner of the state education department and a Scouter for many years, said in an address here Tuesday night.

Stressing the importance of adult leadership for youth, Dr. Conroe warned that many adults are so engrossed in other things that they have no time to volunteer to lead boys to become men. "A contribution to the finance campaign in not enough," he said.

Dr. Conroe spoke Tuesday night at the annual dinner meeting of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, held at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Harry Rigby, Jr., was toastmaster.

George B. Matthews was re-elected council president during the business session of the meeting. Other elected officers were Herbert Bell of Milton, James West of East Jewett, Raymond Quackenbush of Saugerties, vice-presidents; Valentine W. Morrow of Maplecrest, commissioner; Walter L. Foster of Kingston, treasurer. Matthews and Morrow were also elected as National Council representatives.

Gets High Award

The coveted Silver Beaver award was presented to James West, East Jewett, for "noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood in the Council area." The award is given by the National Executive Board upon recommendation of the local council.

Herbert Bell of Milton, council vice-president and himself a holder of the Silver Beaver, made the presentation.

Mr. West began his service as a Scouter with the organization of Troop 54 in East Jewett and served as scoutmaster there for three years. He then served several years as district commissioner and district chairman of the Mountain District. For the past three years he has served as a council executive board member and a member of the council camp committee. He is a graduate of the Wanaker School of Forestry and served 21 years with the New York State Conservation Department as a forester. His knowledge of forestry and camping has assisted with the development of the council camp, Tri-Mount, at East Jewett and has made it one of the best camps in this part of the state.

Elected As Executives

Kingston residents elected last night to the executive board were A. J. Burns, G. Wallace Codwise, G. Herbert DeKay, Clarence Dumm, William F. Edelmuth, Harry Halverson, William Leehive, John H. Martin, George R. Mustaparta, Harry Rigby, Jr., Francis J. Schilling, George Shivery, Lewis Short, Walter T. Tremper and B. C. Van Ingen.

Other board members are Carl Fatzinger, Catskill; Thomas J. Hanlon and Reinhold Marvine, Ellenville; Elwood Hitchcock, Maplecrest; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Woodstock; George Osborne and Edward West, Windham.

President Matthews announced several appointments of chairmen of various council operating committees. John H. Martin was named chairman of organization and extension; Walter T. Tremper, camping; George R. Mustaparta, health and safety; Harry Rigby, Jr., leadership training; Valentine W. Morrow, activities; the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Cub scouting; Elwood Hitchcock, exploring; B. C Van Ingen, advancement; A. J. Burns, finance.

Need More Troops

George V. Dennis, scout executive, summarized the last year's activities and called attention to the "splendid camping record made last summer, and the outstandingly good job done on the National Jamboree held last July at Valley Forge, Pa." He drew attention to the growing boy population of Ulster and Greene counties and stated that the council must be prepared to have Cub packs and Boy Scout troops ready this year for boys who wish to join.

The council-wide finance campaign, it was announced, would be conducted during the first two weeks of August. Cooperation was urged in carrying out the proposed council program of organization, training, activities and education. Named as chairman of the financial drive was William Sherrill Keyser.

Olive Bridge Pastor Gets Divinity Degree

Among 200 students receiving bachelor of divinity degrees at the annual commencement of Union Theological Seminary in New York was the Rev. Jack Earl Savage, pastor of the Olive Bridge Methodist Church.

The ceremonies Tuesday were held at Riverside Church to accommodate the largest graduating class in the seminary's history, representing 36 denominations.

The Rev. Mr. Savage is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Savage of 216 Grant avenue, Mineola. He will continue as pastor at Olive Bridge.

Title of his thesis was, The Nature of Man in Communism and Christianity.

He is a graduate of New York University and attended Drew Seminary in Madison, N. J., and served two years as an aviation cadet in the U. S. Army Air Corps.

Hasn't Begun Attack

New Orleans, May 23 (AP)—Rep. F. Edward Herbert (D-La.) said last night Russia hasn't launched an attack against the U. S. because its atom bomb is inferior to ours. Herbert, who witnessed the recent atom bomb tests at Eniwetok, told the Quota Club that in watching the tests he "had seen the end of the world." He did not elaborate on this comment.

Boice Farm Gets Glass and Steel Silo

On the dairy farm of Pratt Boice in the town of Ulster there is being erected one of the first glass and steel Harvestore silos in this part of the country. Not only is the silo unique in that it is a steel silo glass surfaced on the inside and outside, but the method of erection is unique.

Working on the project are William Green, Robert Palmer, Gordon Boice and Robert F. Breeze, sales representative for the silos.

Huge 14-foot sections of the silo are inserted under the roof at ground level and the silo is raised to position by jacks which lift up new sections under the roof. The top section is first placed and additional sections are inserted as the top of the silo is jacked up in position.

While this is the first silo of this type in this section of the country there are over 1,000 in use in the mid-west. Arthur Godfrey, radio and TV artist has four similar silos on his farm.

Robert F. Breeze of 134 North Front street, local representative for the A. O. Smith Corporation, manufacturers, is supervising the erection. When completed the silo will be 14 feet in circumference and 40 feet high with a capacity of 175 tons of silage. The A. O. Smith Corporation manufactures auto bodies and many other steel products, including the steel pipe for the "Big Inch" pipe line, and also manufactures the Permaglas hot water heaters.

Unloading of the silo is done from the bottom by means of an automatic steel bar equipped with cutters.

The silo is constructed of steel faced inside and outside with blue glass which is fused inside and outside to the steel.

Erection of the silo is being watched by a large number of dairy farmers of this locality. Gordon Boice, son of Pratt Boice, is the manager of the dairy farm.

The term "spinster" originated in the Middle Ages, when most weaving was done by unmarried women.

The center of gravity in the human body is slightly to the right.

Wakefield Voters Go Easy on HST

Wakefield, N. H., May 23 (AP)—The residents of this small rural community don't want to take President Truman's job away from him—although most of them are known die-hard Republicans.

They voted in a special town meeting last night on the question:

"Should Harry Truman be impeached?"

The answer was "no" by a vote of 48 to 17, with 35 of those present not voting.

The whole matter was brought to a head for the first time anywhere by William N. Sparhawk, Jr., a 32-year-old chicken farmer who served as an army captain in World War II.

He circulated a petition for a special town meeting to vote on the question. He needed 10 signatures but he said 50 residents signed the petition.

Exactly 100 of the town's 795 voters showed up for the unusual meeting in the town hall.

Selectman Albert W. Wiggin said about 400 persons attended the regular town meeting in March. He couldn't account for the small attendance last night.

The vote was taken after speeches by Sparhawk and Edwin P. Geauque, merchandising consultant, who opposed impeachment.

Sparhawk argued that the President is pursuing "a policy of appeasement," that "the ship of state is being scuttled," and that the administration is "rampant with corruption."

Geauque said "the world has its eyes on our town tonight. The answer to this question depends on whether we will be called 'screwball' or thoughtful people."

College President To Head Exchange

New York, May 23 (AP)—The next president of the New York Stock Exchange, according to Wall Street reports, will be Dr. George Keith Funston, 40-year-old president of Trinity College.

He is also a director of several large corporations.

The New York Times said today Funston will become the next Exchange president and his name will be presented to the board of governors tomorrow for approval.

Dr. Funston would fill the post vacated May 1 by Emil Schram, who announced his resignation last September.

Stock Exchange officials have neither confirmed nor denied the reports about Dr. Funston.

There was no comment by the Hartford, Conn., college president.

Two Vacancies Are To Be Filled in City Departments

The Kingston Municipal Civil Service Commission is expected to get requests for lists of eligibility from both the police and fire departments in the near future, it was learned today.

A police department vacancy will be filled some time after July 1 when Patrolman George Bowers is scheduled for retirement under a disability ruling, and the recent death of Fireman John A. Carle left a fire department vacancy.

Special Patrolman Meyer Levy is one of the top three men on the police department eligibility list, but the list for the fire department has not been completed because the last phase of the civil service examination was held only a few days ago and the results have not been received from Albany.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy today indicated the possibility of a temporary or probationary appointment to the department pending action on the list. The Board of Police Commissioners may act on the department eligibility list at its next regular meeting which is scheduled for June 21.

Fugitive Is Killed

New York, May 23 (AP)—Police firing blindly into a cellar window at 1057 Hoe avenue, the Bronx, to force the surrender of two youthful fugitives shot and killed one of them this morning. The victim, identified as King Gonzalez, 17, of 1004 Simpson street, the Bronx, was pronounced dead upon arrival of an ambulance doctor from Lincoln Hospital. Do You Remember by

By SOPHIE MILLER

If sometimes you don't know how to entertain your guests, and you don't want to play cards, hand them a couple of old newspapers and perhaps a magnifying glass, and you'll be lucky if you can get them to go home. An old time newspaperman from Shokan gave me "The Daily Freeman" of Thursday evening, December 23, 1875. Just when I think I have read everything of interest I find a half a dozen other items. For instance, one column is devoted to "Directory" of banks, churches, city government, Jewish societies, German societies, and Irish lodges, fire department, public halls, ferries, Military, Masonic and other clubs.

Under city government, James G. Lindsley was mayor. Kingston and Rondout were incorporated in a city in 1872, and Lindsley was the first mayor. The city clerk was Aug. Schepmoes, office in the City Hall on Union avenue, which is of course Broadway today. Schepmoes also was recorder. The Corporation Counsel was Seymour L. Stebbins. Grove Webster was treasurer, and his office was at the First National Bank of Rondout, The Strand. They had a superintendent of streets who was at the time, Richard Van Gaasbeck. The superintendent of alms was Isaac D. L. Montanye, office at Union avenue, near Grand Central Hotel. At that time, some 75 years ago, the Common Council met every Friday evening at the City Hall.

Three ferries were listed for Kingston. The Rhinecliff Ferry at Ferry street, the Sleightsburg ferry, foot of Hasbrouck avenue, and the South Rondout ferry at Abeel street.

Among the public halls, they list, Olympic Theatre, corner Union avenue on The Strand. Music Hall, at corner of John and Fair streets and the famous Washington Hall on Abeel street and Voorhees Hall on Clinton avenue. But I notice among the lodge meeting notices there were many other halls, such as Hirsch Hall on The Strand, the Masonic Hall on The Strand, Odd Fellows' Hall, North Front street, St. Joseph's Hall on Fair street, Turner Hall on Ravine street, where one of the German societies met; Englert's Hall on Union avenue, Schnitzler's Hall on Mill street and Wachmeyer's Hall on Hone street. Those were just a few of the halls mentioned in the lodge column.

The Fire Department of 1875 was divided into the Eastern and Western Districts. The chief engineer of the Eastern Division was George Weber; first assistant engineer was Richard Mooney; second assistant engineer, S. G. Canfield. They had five engine companies: Lackawana Steamer No. 1 on Mill street, James G. Lindsley Steamer No. 2, Abeel street; Ponckhockie Steamer No. 3, Union street; Protector Engine Co., No. 4, Hone street; Rescue Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, Abeel street. The four hose companies were Rapid Hose No. 1, Hone street; Cornell No. 2, Abeel street; Weber No. 3, Mill street; Gokey No. 3 on Union street. Perhaps some old time firemen remember something of human interest about the above companies. I'll bet the late George Canfield, who was connected with the Canfield Supply Co. on The Strand could have told me lots of stories. He was a great story teller. Remember the story he told for this column about the dog who guarded the fire equipment?

Rousing Revival

Vancouver (AP)—The clanging of a burglar alarm interrupted a revival meetng in the rear of a garment store premises here one night recently. Rev. D. Kreemer called police who found the burglar had been scared off, leaving a crowbar behind.

Among the public halls, they list, Olympic Theatre, corner Union avenue on The Strand. Music Hall, at corner of John and Fair streets and the famous Washington Hall on Abeel street and Voorhees Hall on Clinton avenue. But I notice among the lodge meeting notices there were many other halls, such as Hirsch Hall on The Strand, the Masonic Hall on The Strand, Odd Fellows' Hall, North Front street, St. Joseph's Hall on Fair street, Turner Hall on Ravine street, where one of the German societies met; Englert's Hall on Union avenue, Schnitzler's Hall on Mill street and Wachmeyer's Hall on Hone street. Those were just a few of the halls mentioned in the lodge column.

The Fire Department of 1875 was divided into the Eastern and Western Districts. The chief engineer of the Eastern Division was George Weber; first assistant engineer was Richard Mooney; second assistant engineer, S. G. Canfield. They had five engine companies: Lackawana Steamer No. 1 on Mill street, James G. Lindsley Steamer No. 2, Abeel street; Ponckhockie Steamer No. 3, Union street; Protector Engine Co., No. 4, Hone street; Rescue Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1, Abeel street. The four hose companies were Rapid Hose No. 1, Hone street; Cornell No. 2, Abeel street; Weber No. 3, Mill street; Gokey No. 3 on Union street. Perhaps some old time firemen remember something of human interest about the above companies. I'll bet the late George Canfield, who was connected with the Canfield Supply Co. on The Strand could have told me lots of stories. He was a great story teller. Remember the story he told for this column about the dog who guarded the fire equipment?

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

If sometimes you don't know how to entertain your guests, and you don't want to play cards, hand them a couple of old newspapers and perhaps a magnifying glass, and you'll be lucky if you can get them to go home. An old time newspaperman from Shokan gave me "The Daily Freeman" of Thursday evening, December 23, 1875. Just when I think I have read everything of interest I find a half a dozen other items. For instance, one column is devoted to "Directory" of banks, churches, city government, Jewish societies, German societies, and Irish lodges, fire department, public halls, ferries, Military, Masonic and other clubs.

Under city government, James G. Lindsley was mayor. Kingston and Rondout were incorporated in a city in 1872, and Lindsley was the first mayor. The city clerk was Aug. Schepmoes, office in the City Hall on Union avenue, which is of course Broadway today. Schepmoes also was recorder. The Corporation Counsel was Seymour L. Stebbins. Grove Webster was treasurer, and his office was at the First National Bank of Rondout, The Strand. They had a superintendent of streets who was at the time, Richard Van Gaasbeck. The superintendent of alms was Isaac D. L. Montanye, office at Union avenue, near Grand Central Hotel. At that time, some 75 years ago, the Common Council met every Friday evening at the City Hall.

Three ferries were listed for Kingston. The Rhinecliff Ferry at Ferry street, the Sleightsburg ferry, foot of Hasbrouck avenue, and the South Rondout ferry at Abeel street.

Among the public halls, they list, Olympic Theatre, corner Union avenue on The Strand. Music Hall, at corner of John and Fair streets and the famous Washington Hall on Abeel street and Voorhees Hall on Clinton avenue. But I notice among the lodge meeting notices there were many other halls, such as Hirsch Hall on The Strand, the Masonic Hall on The Strand, Odd Fellows' Hall, North Front street, St. Joseph's Hall on Fair street, Turner Hall on Ravine street, where one of the German societies met; Englert's Hall on Union avenue, Schnitzler's Hall on Mill street and Wachmeyer's Hall on Hone street. Those were just a few of the halls mentioned in the lodge column.

They had five engine companies: Lackawana Steamer No. 1 on Mill street, James G. The four hose companies were Rapid Hose No. 1, Hone street; Cornell No. 2, Abeel street; Weber No. 3, Mill street; Gokey No. 3 on Union street. Perhaps some old time firemen remember something of human interest about the above companies. I'll bet the late George Canfield, who was connected with the Canfield Supply Co. on The Strand could have told me lots of stories. He was a great story teller. A Church Reaches Its Sesqui-Centennial Year

Hurley Reformed Church To Hold 150th Anniversary

One hundred and fifty years ago, for the first time in well over a century of existence, the rooftops of Hurley saw pointing above them a finger-like spire, reaching into the patterned blue of an infant nation's sky.

On Saturday, June 2, members of the congregation will open the church's sesqui-centennial festivities with a pilgrimage to the old stone houses of Hurley, followed by a tea. The pilgrimage, which is being sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society, will be followed by other anniversary activities, which the consistory will announce.

But back in 1801 the battle for a church in Nieuw Dorp (translated New Village), or Hurley, was almost as old as the new country. In the 17th, and first half of the 18th century the village's few families had taken traveling to Wiltwyck (Kingston) for their Sunday worship as a matter of course. It was a neighborly, if difficult, journey. One or another 18th century patriarch would load his wagon with the friends and relatives living in the path of his townward trip, exchanging news and small talk the length of the seemingly far drive. Later, as the community grew, and Nieuw Dorp became Hurley, the Kingston minister changed places with the patriarch, and conducted services in village homes. Parish duties, of necessity, were either cursory, or neglected. In all probability the situation was equally uncomfortable for all concerned.

Villagers Determined

Eventually the villagers found the old regime unbearable. Washington had barely doffed continental blue for the Presidential and powdered wig, before Hurley's stout Dutchmen became determined to worship within their own walls.

The mother church resisted. True descendants of their Netherlands forebears, the villagers, with firm determination, appealed to the Classis of Ulster. Once granted the right to organize a church, on the 16th day and third Sunday of June the Rev. Stephen Goetchius rode east from Stone Ridge to lead them in worship. Before the last farmer had set out for his snug stone home, the people had officially voted for a church, and had elected the first consistory.

The names in that first consistory are old and familiar, with Matthew TenEyck, Petrus Roosa, Johannis Suylant and Cornelius Eltinge as elders; Petrus Elmendorf, Petrus DuBois, Jeremiah Houghtaling and Cornelius Cole, Jr., as deacons.

First Church Building

Never ones to let grass grow underfoot, the villagers under the Rev. Thomas G. Smith, managed to build a dreary stone house of worship which, 52 years later, was described plaintively as "looking like a fort, roof poor and in need of immediate replacement." Other faults were that "the east side had a crack two inches wide, and generally it was much the worse for wear."

Obviously distressed by their church's physical shortcomings, congregation members set out to build a new one. Still preserved in an early record is the resolution that "the committee be empowered to take down the old church and use such material as will answer toward the building of a new house of worship."

Marbletown Was Model

The villagers knew what they wanted. They wanted a church that was the size and shape of the since destroyed Marbletown Church. They wanted its pews and steeple patterned like those of the Old First Reformed Church, which in later years have been replaced.

They knew where they wanted the new church built. Not, like the old church on the site approximately across the street from Elmendorf's store, but on the recently acquired parsonage lot.

John Palen of Marbletown, who, in 1853 was awarded the contract, built Hurley's simple, and inherently graceful new church, merging Christopher Wren and Colonial Greek revival lines, for a scant $2,800.

Perhaps because the old church had boasted no musical instrument, no organ or piano, (the congregational singing was led by a "vorsinger" with his tuning fork), they selected the steeple bell, originally cast by Meneely's of West Troy, with particular care. Weighing 714 pounds, today it has called Hurley men and women to worship in a clear Key of C voice for nearly 100 years.

First Minister

The first minister to preach from the new church's pulpit was the Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, a native of Hoboken, N. J., who came to Hurley fresh from his seminary studies, finishing his ministry there in 1866 after the close of the Civil War.

The church's present minister is the Rev. John Dykstra. His consistory includes William Petry, George Dixon, Winfred Snyder and Vernon Goetchius, deacons; Harry Skerritt, Edmund Bower, and William Hutton, elders.

Today, in the Hurley Reformed Church's sesqui-centennial year, members can look back with pride on the fruition of the prayers which were once so earnestly offered in behalf of the infant enterprise. The slender white steeple rising above its trees long ago assumed an air of benign grace and permanence, until now it seems to stand at the end of its street quietly and purposefully watching the minutes tick to years, and the years to centuries.

Katrine Redi-Men Will Meet Tonight

Three films and a lecture will highlight tonight's meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club Redi-Men at the club house starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Films to be shown include "Tale of Two Cities," showing the bombing of Japanese cities; "Warning," on the bombing of London and "Pattern for Survival."

The lecture will be given by Sgt. R. J. Flynn of the New York State Police.

All members are cordially invited to attend. Members of the Ulster Hose Fire Company and the Ruby-Mt. Marion Fire Company also have been invited.

Inflation Costs Central Millions

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Stockholders of the New York Central Railroad were told today inflation since last fall is costing their company an estimated $43,000,000 on an annual basis.

Gustav Metzman, president, made the statement in remarks prepared for the annual stockholders meeting, held in a (Ten Eyck) hotel ballroom here.

Election of 15 directors was the only formal business before the meeting. Metzman and other incumbents were supported by the management for re-election.

As it did last year, the New York Central arranged a special train to carry some 300 stockholders here from the New York city area.

President Metzman cited these figures to show the change in the railroad's financial operating picture since last year:

"Our wage bill alone has increased about $51,000,000 on an annual basis and unit prices of materials and supplies have jumped at least $7,000,000 a year."

Against this, he said, an interim freight rate increase permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission is "bringing us only about $15,000,000 on an annual basis."

He noted that because of increased expenses and the effects of the "sick strike" of railroad switchmen in January and February, the Central has a net income deficit for the first 1951 quarter of approximately $7,955,000. Results for April, he said, are not yet completed.

Sheen Is Appointed

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has appointed Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, noted Catholic radio orator, to be titular bishop of Caesariana and auxiliary to Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, it was announced here last night. The Most Reverend Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, who made the announcement, said Monsignor Sheen will continue as national director of the Pontifical Society for the Propagation of the Faith. It is in this position that Monsignor Sheen has become known as a radio orator, writer and instructor. Monsignor Sheen, 56, was born in Peoria, Ill., and was ordained a priest at Peoria in 1919. He received the papal title of right reverend monsignor in 1935.

May Milk Price Is Forecast Today as $3.91

New York, May 23 (AP)—A uniform price of $3.91 per hundredweight is forecast for dairy farmers for May milk deliveries to pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed.

The estimated producer butterfat differential for May is 6.4 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The forecasts were made last night by C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

The figures were based on an estimated production of 759,000,000 pounds for the month, an average daily output of 489 pounds by each of the estimated 50,100 producers in the milkshed.

June 10 is the deadline for handlers to submit reports to the administrator on the uses made of their milk receipts for May.

These reports will be used by Blanford in computing and announcing the actual uniform price and butterfat differential for May not later than June 14.

June 25 is the deadline for handlers to make payments to their producers.

A Church Reaches Its Sesqui-Centennial Year

One hundred and fifty years ago, for the first time in well over a century of existence, the rooftops of Hurley saw pointing above them a finger-like spire, reaching into the patterned blue of an infant nation's sky.

On Saturday, June 2, members of the congregation will open the church's sesqui-centennial festivities with a pilgrimage to the old stone houses of Hurley, followed by a tea. The pilgrimage, which is being sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society, will be followed by other anniversary activities, which the consistory will announce.

But back in 1801 the battle for a church in Nieuw Dorp (translated New Village), or Hurley, was almost as old as the new country. In the 17th, and first half of the 18th century the village's few families had taken traveling to Wiltwyck (Kingston) for their Sunday worship as a matter of course. It was a neighborly, if difficult, journey. One or another 18th century patriarch would load his wagon with the friends and relatives living in the path of his townward trip, exchanging news and small talk the length of the seemingly far drive. Later, as the community grew, and Nieuw Dorp became Hurley, the Kingston minister changed places with the patriarch, and conducted services in village homes. Parish duties, of necessity, were either cursory, or neglected. In all probability the situation was equally uncomfortable for all concerned.

Villagers Determined

Eventually the villagers found the old regime unbearable. Washington had barely doffed continental blue for the Presidential and powdered wig, before Hurley's stout Dutchmen became determined to worship within their own walls.

The mother church resisted. True descendants of their Netherlands forebears, the villagers, with firm determination, appealed to the Classis of Ulster. Once granted the right to organize a church, on the 16th day and third Sunday of June the Rev. Stephen Goetchius rode east from Stone Ridge to lead them in worship. Before the last farmer had set out for his snug stone home, the people had officially voted for a church, and had elected the first consistory.

The names in that first consistory are old and familiar, with Matthew TenEyck, Petrus Roosa, Johannis Suylant and Cornelius Eltinge as elders; Petrus Elmendorf, Petrus DuBois, Jeremiah Houghtaling and Cornelius Cole, Jr., as deacons.

First Church Building

Never ones to let grass grow underfoot, the villagers under the Rev. Thomas G. Smith, managed to build a dreary stone house of worship which, 52 years later, was described plaintively as "looking like a fort, roof poor and in need of immediate replacement." Other faults were that "the east side had a crack two inches wide, and generally it was much the worse for wear."

Obviously distressed by their church's physical shortcomings, congregation members set out to build a new one. Still preserved in an early record is the resolution that "the committee be empowered to take down the old church and use such material as will answer toward the building of a new house of worship."

Marbletown Was Model

The villagers knew what they wanted. They wanted a church that was the size and shape of the since destroyed Marbletown Church. They wanted its pews and steeple patterned like those of the Old First Reformed Church, which in later years have been replaced.

They knew where they wanted the new church built. Not, like the old church on the site approximately across the street from Elmendorf's store, but on the recently acquired parsonage lot.

John Palen of Marbletown, who, in 1853 was awarded the contract, built Hurley's simple, and inherently graceful new church, merging Christopher Wren and Colonial Greek revival lines, for a scant $2,800.

Perhaps because the old church had boasted no musical instrument, no organ or piano, (the congregational singing was led by a "vorsinger" with his tuning fork), they selected the steeple bell, originally cast by Meneely's of West Troy, with particular care. Weighing 714 pounds, today it has called Hurley men and women to worship in a clear Key of C voice for nearly 100 years.

First Minister

The first minister to preach from the new church's pulpit was the Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, a native of Hoboken, N. J., who came to Hurley fresh from his seminary studies, finishing his ministry there in 1866 after the close of the Civil War.

The church's present minister is the Rev. John Dykstra. His consistory includes William Petry, George Dixon, Winfred Snyder and Vernon Goetchius, deacons; Harry Skerritt, Edmund Bower, and William Hutton, elders.

Today, in the Hurley Reformed Church's sesqui-centennial year, members can look back with pride on the fruition of the prayers which were once so earnestly offered in behalf of the infant enterprise. The slender white steeple rising above its trees long ago assumed an air of benign grace and permanence, until now it seems to stand at the end of its street quietly and purposefully watching the minutes tick to years, and the years to centuries.

Katrine Redi-Men Will Meet Tonight

Three films and a lecture will highlight tonight's meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club Redi-Men at the club house starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Films to be shown include "Tale of Two Cities," showing the bombing of Japanese cities; "Warning," on the bombing of London and "Pattern for Survival."

The lecture will be given by Sgt. R. J. Flynn of the New York State Police.

All members are cordially invited to attend. Members of the Ulster Hose Fire Company and the Ruby-Mt. Marion Fire Company also have been invited.

Inflation Costs Central Millions

Albany, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Stockholders of the New York Central Railroad were told today inflation since last fall is costing their company an estimated $43,000,000 on an annual basis.

Gustav Metzman, president, made the statement in remarks prepared for the annual stockholders meeting, held in a (Ten Eyck) hotel ballroom here.

Election of 15 directors was the only formal business before the meeting. Metzman and other incumbents were supported by the management for re-election.

As it did last year, the New York Central arranged a special train to carry some 300 stockholders here from the New York city area.

President Metzman cited these figures to show the change in the railroad's financial operating picture since last year:

"Our wage bill alone has increased about $51,000,000 on an annual basis and unit prices of materials and supplies have jumped at least $7,000,000 a year."

Against this, he said, an interim freight rate increase permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission is "bringing us only about $15,000,000 on an annual basis."

He noted that because of increased expenses and the effects of the "sick strike" of railroad switchmen in January and February, the Central has a net income deficit for the first 1951 quarter of approximately $7,955,000. Results for April, he said, are not yet completed.

Sheen Is Appointed

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has appointed Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, noted Catholic radio orator, to be titular bishop of Caesariana and auxiliary to Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, it was announced here last night. The Most Reverend Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, who made the announcement, said Monsignor Sheen will continue as national director of the Pontifical Society for the Propagation of the Faith. It is in this position that Monsignor Sheen has become known as a radio orator, writer and instructor. Monsignor Sheen, 56, was born in Peoria, Ill., and was ordained a priest at Peoria in 1919. He received the papal title of right reverend monsignor in 1935.

May Milk Price Is Forecast Today as $3.91

New York, May 23 (AP)—A uniform price of $3.91 per hundredweight is forecast for dairy farmers for May milk deliveries to pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed.

The estimated producer butterfat differential for May is 6.4 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The forecasts were made last night by C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

The figures were based on an estimated production of 759,000,000 pounds for the month, an average daily output of 489 pounds by each of the estimated 50,100 producers in the milkshed.

June 10 is the deadline for handlers to submit reports to the administrator on the uses made of their milk receipts for May.

These reports will be used by Blanford in computing and announcing the actual uniform price and butterfat differential for May not later than June 14.

June 25 is the deadline for handlers to make payments to their producers.

Hand-Woven Linen Featured in Book

Woodstock, May 23—The exquisite hand-woven linens of Angela von den Driesch, of West Shokan, are featured in a recently published book entitled "The Book of Table Arrangements," by Patricia Eaterbrook Roberts, who is also the author of "Flower Craft." Published by Crown Publishers, the book includes a number of excellent illustrations, which show the distinctive quality of the weaving to best advantage both in black and white and in color photographs.

Miss von den Driesch, in private life Mrs. Victor Bittermann, is well known for her original creations. The use of metallic threads distinguishes her luncheon sets and banquet cloths and lend a festive character to her designs.

As illustrated in the book the linens are in excellent coordination with the modern trend in pottery and other table settings. They range from the most formal gold striped banquet cloth which harmonizes with an elaborate set of gold plate designed for the celebration of a golden wedding party, to a charming brown and gold place mat and napkin set well-suited to the informality of old pine and Steuben glass. Another setting described as a "late autumn table" combines the brown and gold place mats with the sheaf of wheat motive both in china and centerpiece arrangement. For a bon voyage buffet, the author has used a set of Miss von den Driech's green napkins woven to match a cloth of green yard goods upholstry material.

The linens, which are shown in the book, are on display at the Crafts Co-operative shop on the village green, along with other original creations from the von den Driesch studios. One of the charter members of Craft Co-op erative, Miss von den Driesch has been active in the group since its organization two years ago.

Kuniyoshi Returns As League Instructor

Woodstock, May 23—After an absence of a few seasons as an instructor at the summer school of the Art Students League in this village, Yasuo Kuniyoshi will again be on the teaching staff this summer, according to an announcement received from Lawrence Campbell, director of publications for the League.

Until recently, Kuniyoshi was national president of Artists Equity, and he is one of Woodstock's best-known painters.

Speaking of his work as League instructor since 1933, Kuniyoshi said: "These are times when all progressive people must recognize their obligation to their ideals. Perhaps because I was born in Japan I feel so deeply the need to preserve the traditional American freedoms. I feel this obligation, even when I want more time for painting. I think that is why I teach, and why I now teach only at the League. It is free and democratic. There has never been any pressure to teach one way or another—never any interference. Also, the attitude of the students is different from other schools. They are more serious, more professional. I feel they will eventually become artists."

Other prominent artists who will again instruct at the summer school are Arnold Blanch, Sigmund Menkes, Frank J. Reilly and John Taylor.

Mrs. Emily Vaupel Smith and Miss Suzanne Schwengeler will be in charge of the League summer school.

HELPING ONESELF TO REFRESHMENTS

A polite young man wants to know: "How is a man expected to behave when a tray of refreshments is passed to him first and a lady is sitting next to him? Should he help himself first or wait for her? Let's say they have been talking."

If the tray is held so both can help themselves, he waits for her. But if it is presented directly to him (on its way to her) he should help himself so as not to interfere with the passage of the tray.

Friends Who Never Give Parties

Dear Mrs. Post: How long are friends expected to continue inviting people without being given any return invitations?

Answer: This depends upon circumstances. Those who are able to return invitations are expected to do so. But many of the most popular people—the Newlyweds and Small-Purses—are unable to return invitations in any way except by contributing their own personality and charm.

Asking For Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: If one member of a family is not invited to a wedding and it is believed the omission was entirely an oversight, is there any way to find out without embarrassing anyone?

Answer: Have somebody who knows the family well ask if the wedding is to be very small and explain that he (or she) is asking because John alone among the Joneses didn't receive an invitation.

Large Reception For Widow

Dear Mrs. Post: My family thinks a large reception for a widow is out of order. My first wedding was during the war when everything was of necessity very brief. I am now being married in church and I do want all of our friends and relatives with us—particularly since the groom was never married.

Answer: There is no reason whatever for not inviting everyone who is a real friend of either yours or his—no matter how many these may be. The groom may have as many ushers as necessary for the size of the church. You should not, however, have more than one attendant.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but if you are planning to give a hostess-alone dinner party, she tells what to serve and how to serve it in the simplest manner in her booklet No. 503, "Etiquette of Service." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Would Alter Luck

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 23 (AP)—Police Sgt. Dick Runyan would like to change his luck. If that fails, he'd like to change his title in the department. Not long ago, his thumb was slashed by a power saw. The next day the same saw did the same thing to his middle finger, left hand. Yesterday, he felt something brush his leg. He grabbed for it. It was an electric fan that split the nail and side of his middle finger, right hand. Runyan's title is chief of the accident prevention bureau.

Miss Leona Ferraro Is Wed Mother's Day to Mr. Garrity

Miss Leona Ida Ferraro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ferraro, Glasco, and William Joseph Garrity, son of Mrs. Richard Garrity, 69 Pine street, and the late Mr. Garrity, were married Sunday, May 13, at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Archibald Damm of that parish. Patsey Buonofiglio was organist, and soloist Miss Theresa Sasso sang a selection of hymns prior to the ceremony and Schubert's Ave Maria. The church was trimmed with yellow and white snapdragons, palms, ferns and lighted candles at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore traditional white bridal satin trimmed with lace and falling to a cathedral train. Her lace trimmed finertip veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of lilies.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Dolores Richter, 200 Boulevard; Miss Edna Short, 200 Boulevard; Miss Angela Bonelli, Glasco. They wore identical frosted organdy gowns in orchid, yellow and green, with matching mitts and picture hats, carrying yellow rose fans.

Pamela Sucato, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a blue satin gown cut with a lace yoke. Matching mitts, a satin picture hat, and a basket of yellow roses completed her costume.

Peter Ferraro of Glasco, brother of the bride, was best man. Jake, Vincent, and Louis Ferraro, Jr., all of Glasco and all brothers of the bride, ushered. Thomas Paccione, nephew of the bride, was child ringbearer.

A reception for 125 guests followed at Schoentag's Hotel. The couple then left for their wedding trip to New York. The bride wore an orchid suit for traveling, with a white topper, white accessories, and a white rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Garrity are now making their home in Glasco.

Field Day Committees To Meet on Thursday

An important meeting of all committees planning for the children's field day, scheduled July 4, at Block Park is scheduled for Thursday at 8 p. m.

The session will be held at Worf's restaurant on Abeel street, headquarters of the 50 Club, which is sponsoring the event.

This annual program was started last summer and was a very successful event, thoroughly enjoyed by many downtown children, who received prizes for athletic events and relished refreshments furnished by the club and business men.

Of that total at the end of the month, 243,638 persons were employed in the Washington metropolitan area and 165,492 were employed outside the continental United States.

The commission said the increase included a "large" payroll addition by the defense establishment, and that the Treasury, Agriculture and Commerce Departments and the Economic Stabilization Agency each added more than 1,000 persons.

Hand-Woven Linen Featured in Book

Woodstock, May 23—The exquisite hand-woven linens of Angela von den Driesch, of West Shokan, are featured in a recently published book entitled "The Book of Table Arrangements," by Patricia Eaterbrook Roberts, who is also the author of "Flower Craft." Published by Crown Publishers, the book includes a number of excellent illustrations, which show the distinctive quality of the weaving to best advantage both in black and white and in color photographs.

Miss von den Driesch, in private life Mrs. Victor Bittermann, is well known for her original creations. The use of metallic threads distinguishes her luncheon sets and banquet cloths and lend a festive character to her designs.

As illustrated in the book the linens are in excellent coordination with the modern trend in pottery and other table settings. They range from the most formal gold striped banquet cloth which harmonizes with an elaborate set of gold plate designed for the celebration of a golden wedding party, to a charming brown and gold place mat and napkin set well-suited to the informality of old pine and Steuben glass. Another setting described as a "late autumn table" combines the brown and gold place mats with the sheaf of wheat motive both in china and centerpiece arrangement. For a bon voyage buffet, the author has used a set of Miss von den Driech's green napkins woven to match a cloth of green yard goods upholstry material.

The linens, which are shown in the book, are on display at the Crafts Co-operative shop on the village green, along with other original creations from the von den Driesch studios. One of the charter members of Craft Co-operative, Miss von den Driesch has been active in the group since its organization two years ago.

Kuniyoshi Returns As League Instructor

Woodstock, May 23—After an absence of a few seasons as an instructor at the summer school of the Art Students League in this village, Yasuo Kuniyoshi will again be on the teaching staff this summer, according to an announcement received from Lawrence Campbell, director of publications for the League.

Until recently, Kuniyoshi was national president of Artists Equity, and he is one of Woodstock's best-known painters.

Speaking of his work as League instructor since 1933, Kuniyoshi said: "These are times when all progressive people must recognize their obligation to their ideals. Perhaps because I was born in Japan I feel so deeply the need to preserve the traditional American freedoms. I feel this obligation, even when I want more time for painting. I think that is why I teach, and why I now teach only at the League. It is free and democratic. There has never been any pressure to teach one way or another—never any interference. Also, the attitude of the students is different from other schools. They are more serious, more professional. I feel they will eventually become artists."

Other prominent artists who will again instruct at the summer school are Arnold Blanch, Sigmund Menkes, Frank J. Reilly and John Taylor.

Mrs. Emily Vaupel Smith and Miss Suzanne Schwengeler will be in charge of the League summer school.

Ancient Art

The art of glassmaking is one of the oldest on earth. According to Pliny, the ancient Phoenicians first discovered how to make it, but, according to Egyptologists, the ancient Egyptians made sham jewels of glass at least 5000 or 6000 B. C.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

HELPING ONESELF TO REFRESHMENTS

A polite young man wants to know: "How is a man expected to behave when a tray of refreshments is passed to him first and a lady is sitting next to him? Should he help himself first or wait for her? Let's say they have been talking."

If the tray is held so both can help themselves, he waits for her. But if it is presented directly to him (on its way to her) he should help himself so as not to interfere with the passage of the tray.

Friends Who Never Give Parties

Dear Mrs. Post: How long are friends expected to continue inviting people without being given any return invitations?

Answer: This depends upon circumstances. Those who are able to return invitations are expected to do so. But many of the most popular people—the Newlyweds and Small-Purses—are unable to return invitations in any way except by contributing their own personality and charm.

Asking For Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: If one member of a family is not invited to a wedding and it is believed the omission was entirely an oversight, is there any way to find out without embarrassing anyone?

Answer: Have somebody who knows the family well ask if the wedding is to be very small and explain that he (or she) is asking because John alone among the Joneses didn't receive an invitation.

Large Reception For Widow

Dear Mrs. Post: My family thinks a large reception for a widow is out of order. My first wedding was during the war when everything was of necessity very brief. I am now being married in church and I do want all of our friends and relatives with us—particularly since the groom was never married.

Answer: There is no reason whatever for not inviting everyone who is a real friend of either yours or his—no matter how many these may be. The groom may have as many ushers as necessary for the size of the church. You should not, however, have more than one attendant.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but if you are planning to give a hostess-alone dinner party, she tells what to serve and how to serve it in the simplest manner in her booklet No. 503, "Etiquette of Service." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Would Alter Luck

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 23 (AP)—Police Sgt. Dick Runyan would like to change his luck. If that fails, he'd like to change his title in the department. Not long ago, his thumb was slashed by a power saw. The next day the same saw did the same thing to his middle finger, left hand. Yesterday, he felt something brush his leg. He grabbed for it. It was an electric fan that split the nail and side of his middle finger, right hand. Runyan's title is chief of the accident prevention bureau.

Miss Leona Ferraro Is Wed Mother's Day to Mr. Garrity

Miss Leona Ida Ferraro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ferraro, Glasco, and William Joseph Garrity, son of Mrs. Richard Garrity, 69 Pine street, and the late Mr. Garrity, were married Sunday, May 13, at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Archibald Damm of that parish. Patsey Buonofiglio was organist, and soloist Miss Theresa Sasso sang a selection of hymns prior to the ceremony and Schubert's Ave Maria. The church was trimmed with yellow and white snapdragons, palms, ferns and lighted candles at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore traditional white bridal satin trimmed with lace and falling to a cathedral train. Her lace trimmed finertip veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of lilies.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Dolores Richter, 200 Boulevard; Miss Edna Short, 200 Boulevard; Miss Angela Bonelli, Glasco. They wore identical frosted organdy gowns in orchid, yellow and green, with matching mitts and picture hats, carrying yellow rose fans.

Pamela Sucato, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a blue satin gown cut with a lace yoke. Matching mitts, a satin picture hat, and a basket of yellow roses completed her costume.

Peter Ferraro of Glasco, brother of the bride, was best man. Jake, Vincent, and Louis Ferraro, Jr., all of Glasco and all brothers of the bride, ushered. Thomas Paccione, nephew of the bride, was child ringbearer.

A reception for 125 guests followed at Schoentag's Hotel. The couple then left for their wedding trip to New York. The bride wore an orchid suit for traveling, with a white topper, white accessories, and a white rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Garrity are now making their home in Glasco.

Field Day Committees To Meet on Thursday

An important meeting of all committees planning for the children's field day, scheduled July 4, at Block Park is scheduled for Thursday at 8 p. m.

The session will be held at Worf's restaurant on Abeel street, headquarters of the 50 Club, which is sponsoring the event.

This annual program was started last summer and was a very successful event, thoroughly enjoyed by many downtown children, who received prizes for athletic events and relished refreshments furnished by the club and business men.

Jacoby on Canasta

OUR EXPERT FREEZES THE PACK

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In our last article we watched a Canasta expert begin the play of a hand. Now we look again to see how the play has developed.

The player to the right has just made the initial meld from his hand. He has melded:

Joker-I-K-K, 8-8-2.

Both sides need 120 points, the discard pile has grown to a hefty size, and our hero holds the following cards after he has drawn a card:

A-A, K-K-K, Q-Q, 8, 4-4, 2-2.

Our expert can make the count of 120 ponts if he wishes to do so. He would have to meld

A-A-2, K-K-K, Q-Q-2.

This would leave him with an eight and a pair of fours, with a discard still to be made.

Does he do so?

No. He is unlikely to make a canasta in kings considering the fact that the other side has already melded three kings. The aces and queens are a sheer gamble, so it doesn't seem likely that a canasta can be made very quickly.

In the absence of a good play for a fast out, our expert doesn't want to reduce his hand so sharply.

If he doesn't meld he must, of course, discard. What should he throw?

Kings and eights are out of the question. Anything else may give the pile away to the next player if that worthy has a matching pair or even just one matching card and a wild card.

The only possible course is to discard a deuce, thus freezing the pack. This gives up the count, of course, but it is better to give up the count temporarily (or even permanently) than to give up a large pack.

Now our expert can probably discard kings safely. He should be safe for the next three rounds at least, after which the play will probably indicate additional safe plays.

It is unlikely that the other side can make a canasta and go out because their kings are hopeless and the eights are none too promising. There is a very good chance that our expert can keep discarding safely until his side wins the discard pile. That will probably win the whole game, considering the size of the pack and the fact that both sides are in the 120-point range.

Tired of playing with "Canasta clowns" who like to make up their own rules to suit themselves? Read up on Jacoby's authoritative 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA and you'll know enough to squelch them good and proper. For your copy, send 15 cents in coin with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Fido on the Line

Marion, Ill. (AP) — "Number please?" the Marion operator asked. "Woof, woof," came the reply. Her second try brought barks again. On a hunch, she had the sheriff listen and the telephone woofed back at him too. Sheriff Ora Kirby drove to the telephone's garage location. He found it locked. A bird dog was beside the telephone which it apparently knocked from a table. Kirby called the owner who unlocked his dog.

Jacoby on Canasta

OUR EXPERT FREEZES THE PACK

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In our last article we watched a Canasta expert begin the play of a hand. Now we look again to see how the play has developed.

The player to the right has just made the initial meld from his hand. He has melded:

Joker-J-K-K, 8-8-2.

Both sides need 120 points, the discard pile has grown to a hefty size, and our hero holds the following cards after he has drawn a card:

A-A, K-K-K, Q-Q, 8, 4-4, 2-2.

Our expert can make the count of 120 points if he wishes to do so. He would have to meld

A-A-2, K-K-K, Q-Q-2.

This would leave him with an eight and a pair of fours, with a discard still to be made.

Does he do so?

No. He is unlikely to make a canasta in kings considering the fact that the other side has already melded three kings. The aces and queens are a sheer gamble, so it doesn't seem likely that a canasta can be made very quickly.

In the absence of a good play for a fast out, our expert doesn't want to reduce his hand so sharply.

If he doesn't meld he must, of course, discard. What should he throw?

Kings and eights are out of the question. Anything else may give the pile away to the next player if that worthy has a matching pair or even just one matching card and a wild card.

The only possible course is to discard a deuce, thus freezing the pack. This gives up the count, of course, but it is better to give up the count temporarily (or even permanently) than to give up a large pack.

Now our expert can probably discard kings safely. He should be safe for the next three rounds at least, after which the play will probably indicate additional safe plays.

It is unlikely that the other side can make a canasta and go out because their kings are hopeless and the eights are none too promising. There is a very good chance that our expert can keep discarding safely until his side wins the discard pile. That will probably win the whole game, considering the size of the pack and the fact that both sides are in the 120-point range.

Tired of playing with "Canasta clowns" who like to make up their own rules to suit themselves? Read up on Jacoby's authoritative 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA and you'll know enough to squelch them good and proper. Fido on the Line

Marion, Ill. (AP) — "Number please?" the Marion operator asked. "Woof, woof," came the reply. Her second try brought barks again. On a hunch, she had the sheriff listen and the telephone woofed back at him too. Sheriff Ora Kirby drove to the telephone's garage location. He found it locked. A bird dog was beside the telephone which it apparently knocked from a table. Kirby called the owner who unlocked his dog.

Noted Commentator, Author, to Speak At Hadassah Banquet

LISA SERGIO

A slim, dark-eyed author and news analyst, the Florentine daughter of an American mother who became a Zionist champion, because "the anti-Zionists were indeed effective in convincing me of the justness of Zionism's cause," will be guest speaker at the lower New York state region of Hadassah's banquet Sunday, May 27, at the New Alpine Hotel, Ellenville.

Miss Sergio came to the United States in 1937 when it appeared certain Mussolini would force her arrest. He had good reason to wish her behind bars, for Miss Sergio, as one of Italy's leading radio commentators, managed to tamper with official scripts in an attempt to let the world know the truth about Italian Fascism.

Once in this country, her "golden radio voice" is said to have become well known for its incisive analysis of the news. During the war years she was able to intersperse her broadcasts with first hand knowledge of European history as she lived and understood it. It was at this time she helped alert from the lecture platform large masses of unknowing and apathetic Americans to the "logic and justice" of Zionism's cause. She also impressed audiences with the urgent need for establishing a Jewish state.

Since the advent of that state Miss Sergio has visited the new country, summing up Israel's tribulations by saying: "They are historically remarkable. Although living on the edge of a volcano, they move forward constantly planning with the long range view in mind whether it be the construction of a hospital or the writing of a musical composition. Such a people must succeed."

All members are urged to attend the banquet, and hear Miss Sergio.

Judea Shrine Honors Its High Officers At Recent Reception

Officers and members of Judea Shrine No. 12 held a reception Thursday at the Masonic Temple in honor of Mrs. Raymond Trumpait, worthy high priestess, and William Ransom, watchman of shepherds. In charge of the event was Mrs. Frank Strobel, noble prophetess.

During the reception a degree, the "fraternal ship," was presented by white-clad officers, who also wore crepe paper jackets trimmed with blue anchors. Their headpieces were blue and white sailor hats.

Gifts and flowers were presented by the following: Mrs. Hazel Relyea, worthy shepherdess; Mrs. William Ransom, worthy chaplain; Mrs. Arthur J. Keator.

At the conclusion of the degree Anna May Trumpait, small daughter of the worthy high priestess, entered dressed in a navy sailor suit, and presented her mother with a large, gift-filled ship.

A reading was given by Mrs. Wallace Budd of Summittville, refreshments were served in the nautically trimmed dining room.

DAR Officers Club Plans West Point Pilgrimage Monday

New York State Officers Club, Daughters of the American Revolution, will make its annual pilgrimage to West Point Monday, May 28, to place a wreath at the monument and grave of Margaret Corbin, Revolutionary heroine, who lies in the cemetery there.

Know as Captain Molly, Mrs. Corbin kept her husband's cannon in action, although he lay dead at her side, during the battle of Fort Washington in upper Manhattan, until she finally fell, badly wounded. She was the first woman to render such service during the Revolution, and one of the war's three women pensioners. Mrs. Corbin was later re-interred at West Point by the New York DAR under the leadership of Mrs. Charles White Nash of Albany, with Mrs. Alton Brooks Parker of Esopus and New York as special chairman in charge of the research proofs required by the war department.

This year, it was announced, the club will also place a wreath at the grave of Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, recent superintendent of the United States Military Academy, who lost his life in Korea. Mrs. William Harvey Hoag of Prattsville, president, will preside, and the two remaining founders, Mrs. Nash and Miss Pauline Hewson Wilson of Albany will participate.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Sidney Forman, archivist of the USMA library, representing Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, superintendent. The invocation and benediction will be given by Chaplain Frank E. Pelley, USMA. Capt. Joseph F. H. Cutrona is in charge of arrangements.

A short tour to points of interest and luncheon at U. S. Hotel Thayer will follow the program. The board of governors will meet at 2:30 p. m. and will be entertained at supper by Mrs. Hoag at 5 p. m.

Noted Costumer To Lend Players A Helping Hand

When the Coach House Players' next production, Strange Bedfellows, hits the stage June 8, costuming of its Gay Nineties characters will boast an air of careful authenticity. Mrs. Helen Davenport, when the task of costuming the play fell to her lot, found sufficient time and interest to make a trip to Port Jervis, home of Mrs. Jan Hall, who is known throughout the south and east for her production costuming.

Mrs. Hall, a Players spokesman has explained, has in her possession 2,600 outfits. Costumes first came into her life when she started stitching them for her own children. A year later the neighborhood children were sporting costumes by Mrs. Hall. And from such small and homespun beginnings, her costume business has grown to its present proportions. Visitors to her workshop seldom forget the yards of velvet, brocade, and satin, she employs.

Both Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Davenport have studied the play together. Their research, Players feel, will insure the audience of absolute authenticity.

Meanwhile for many Coach House members, the library holds new attractions these days, as active members turned stage technicians, delve through reams of printer's ink to discover the final word in Victorian correctness for sets and properties.

Those wishing table reservations are asked to contact Mrs. Harold Cross, committee chairman, at 5051-M.

The Van Leuven mansion, Fred Johnston's lovely 18th century home, with its rare antique furnishings, will be open to the public from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. Visitors will be conducted through the home, and shown points of interest by women in colonial costumes.

The second day of the fair a turkey salad luncheon will be served in Bethany hall under the direction of Mrs. Dale Swartzmiller. Tickets for Thursday's luncheon may be reserved or purchased from Mrs. Herbert DeKay, telephone 1579-R. The third day of the fair a baked ham or fish dinner will be served by Mrs. Henry Page and Mrs. Kenneth Martin, with Mrs. Clair Sheaffer in charge of tickets, telephone 4224-J, assisted by Miss Dorothy Johnston, telephone 3979. Servings for the dinner will be at 5 and 6 p. m.

Booths will be set up once again on the Pearl street fair ground in the form of a little Dutch village, complete with windmill, where miscellaneous articles, aprons, jewelry, homemade candy, fancy work, Dutch novelties, imported Dutch jewelry and handpainted tiles, Dutch foods, and toys will be sold.

The recreation section, it has been announced, has been greatly enlarged this year and will include skill games as break the dish, blow out the candle, and darts. There will be pony rides, and a merry-go-round.

One of the fair's main attractions, a doll collection, will be housed in the new addition to Bethany hall. The collection will be set up by Miss Ione Kinkade and Mrs. Ida Sherman.

Each evening of the fair there will be varied entertainment, and a refreshment booth on the fair grounds. The public is invited to attend all festivities.

Noted Commentator, Author, to Speak At Hadassah Banquet

LISA SERGIO

A slim, dark-eyed author and news analyst, the Florentine daughter of an American mother who became a Zionist champion, because "the anti-Zionists were indeed effective in convincing me of the justness of Zionism's cause," will be guest speaker at the lower New York state region of Hadassah's banquet Sunday, May 27, at the New Alpine Hotel, Ellenville.

Miss Sergio came to the United States in 1937 when it appeared certain Mussolini would force her arrest. He had good reason to wish her behind bars, for Miss Sergio, as one of Italy's leading radio commentators, managed to tamper with official scripts in an attempt to let the world know the truth about Italian Fascism.

Once in this country, her "golden radio voice" is said to have become well known for its incisive analysis of the news. During the war years she was able to intersperse her broadcasts with first hand knowledge of European history as she lived and understood it. It was at this time she helped alert from the lecture platform large masses of unknowing and apathetic Americans to the "logic and justice" of Zionism's cause. She also impressed audiences with the urgent need for establishing a Jewish state.

Since the advent of that state Miss Sergio has visited the new country, summing up Israel's tribulations by saying: "They are historically remarkable. Although living on the edge of a volcano, they move forward constantly planning with the long range view in mind whether it be the construction of a hospital or the writing of a musical composition. Such a people must succeed."

All members are urged to attend the banquet, and hear Miss Sergio.

Judea Shrine Honors Its High Officers At Recent Reception

Officers and members of Judea Shrine No. 12 held a reception Thursday at the Masonic Temple in honor of Mrs. Raymond Trumpait, worthy high priestess, and William Ransom, watchman of shepherds. In charge of the event was Mrs. Frank Strobel, noble prophetess.

During the reception a degree, the "fraternal ship," was presented by white-clad officers, who also wore crepe paper jackets trimmed with blue anchors. Their headpieces were blue and white sailor hats.

Gifts and flowers were presented by the following: Mrs. Hazel Relyea, worthy shepherdess; Mrs. William Ransom, worthy chaplain; Mrs. Arthur J. Keator.

At the conclusion of the degree Anna May Trumpait, small daughter of the worthy high priestess, entered dressed in a navy sailor suit, and presented her mother with a large, gift-filled ship.

A reading was given by Mrs. Wallace Budd of Summittville, refreshments were served in the nautically trimmed dining room.

A short tour to points of interest and luncheon at U. S. Hotel Thayer will follow the program. The board of governors will meet at 2:30 p. m. and will be entertained at supper by Mrs. Hoag at 5 p. m.

Noted Costumer To Lend Players A Helping Hand

When the Coach House Players' next production, Strange Bedfellows, hits the stage June 8, costuming of its Gay Nineties characters will boast an air of careful authenticity. Mrs. Helen Davenport, when the task of costuming the play fell to her lot, found sufficient time and interest to make a trip to Port Jervis, home of Mrs. Jan Hall, who is known throughout the south and east for her production costuming.

Mrs. Hall, a Players spokesman has explained, has in her possession 2,600 outfits. Costumes first came into her life when she started stitching them for her own children. A year later the neighborhood children were sporting costumes by Mrs. Hall. And from such small and homespun beginnings, her costume business has grown to its present proportions. Visitors to her workshop seldom forget the yards of velvet, brocade, and satin, she employs.

Both Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Davenport have studied the play together. Their research, Players feel, will insure the audience of absolute authenticity.

Meanwhile for many Coach House members, the library holds new attractions these days, as active members turned stage technicians, delve through reams of printer's ink to discover the final word in Victorian correctness for sets and properties.

Booths will be set up once again on the Pearl street fair ground in the form of a little Dutch village, complete with windmill, where miscellaneous articles, aprons, jewelry, homemade candy, fancy work, Dutch novelties, imported Dutch jewelry and handpainted tiles, Dutch foods, and toys will be sold.

The recreation section, it has been announced, has been greatly enlarged this year and will include skill games as break the dish, blow out the candle, and darts. There will be pony rides, and a merry-go-round.

One of the fair's main attractions, a doll collection, will be housed in the new addition to Bethany hall. The collection will be set up by Miss Ione Kinkade and Mrs. Ida Sherman.

Mrs. S. J. Matthews Named Sponsor at Sorority Reception

Mrs. Stanley J. Matthews, of Hurley, former president of the New York State American Legion Auxiliary, was formally introduced as new sponsor of New York Gamma Chi, Beta Sigma Phi, during the reception program for 35 women Tuesday evening in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Others introduced during the program were Miss Margaret Maxwell, guest of the local sorority, who is the international representative of Beta Sigma Phi from Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Edwin Kolb, of Kingston, who has been named director of the local chapter.

The origin and goals of the local BSP group were discussed during the informal program led by Mrs. Frank Martino, president, who told of the sorority's honorary members from all walks of life.

Also speaking during the program were Mrs. Irwin J. Thomas, one of the original charter members, who gave an outline of the background of BSP in poetry form.

Mrs. Walter Hubbard gave an interesting resume of the local chapter since its inception in November, 1945, while Mrs. Roger G. Billings, another charter member, explained the program books and cultural features planned for members by the international headquarters.

Mrs. Albert Roosa, pianist, and Miss Florence Smith, vocalist, supplied the musical portion of the program by rendering two of the better known BSP songs.

Another speaker was Mrs. Edmund Holland who gave her version on the topic of "Friendship of BSP" and explained her own experience coming to Kingston as a stranger and being welcomed into a group of this kind.

Miss Maxwell later welcomed the guests present and further explained BSP as it has spread over most of the nation and added, "it will eventually cover all of the Latin American countries." Beta Sigma Phi already has many foreign chapters in England, France, Hawaii, Canada and other foreign lands.

Following the discussion period, refreshments and an informal social hour were enjoyed.

Mrs. Matthews, who will work closely with Mrs. Kolb in the progress of Beta Sigma Phi, is well-known for her many civic connections. Besides her many activities with Kingston Unit, 150, American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Matthews is an active member of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the societies of that church. She also has been associated with the work of the Children's Home.

Mrs. Matthews has served four different terms as president of Kingston Unit, 150, and also served as organizing president in 1922.

Local Architect To Display Unique Hobby Here at Show

A well-known local architect, who readily admits "I got into this sort of thing by accident," will display a portion of his near-famous collection of hand-forged hardware, both in the original and in reproduction, at the second annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show, which will open tomorrow at the Municipal Auditorium.

"In the course of my work as an architect," Mr. Teller explained in a recent interview, "I was asked to do several restorations of old buildings, among them the home now occupied by the DAR. The work was fascinating, but in many cases I couldn't find hardware that would blend properly with the other fittings. It was unobtainable."

One day, however, Mr. Teller heard of a Samsonville man, George Van Kleek, who had been a blacksmith from the time he was a small boy. When Mr. Teller asked Van Kleek, who, incidentally, is still living, if he could forge hardware in the old patterns, the man looked up at him, and answered:

"Well sir, my father did for a good many years . . . I guess I can if he could."

"And that's how we got started," Mr. Teller adds.

These days Mr. Teller is regarded as an authority in his field. Albert H. Sonn, author of Early American Wrought Iron, consulted with him before beginning his collection of sketches, as most of the pieces described had passed through Mr. Teller's hands at one time or another.

The items which will be displayed at the Hobby Show tomorrow represent over 30 years of collecting, and research.

Mrs. S. J. Matthews Named Sponsor at Sorority Reception

Mrs. Stanley J. Matthews, of Hurley, former president of the New York State American Legion Auxiliary, was formally introduced as new sponsor of New York Gamma Chi, Beta Sigma Phi, during the reception program for 35 women Tuesday evening in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Others introduced during the program were Miss Margaret Maxwell, guest of the local sorority, who is the international representative of Beta Sigma Phi from Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Edwin Kolb, of Kingston, who has been named director of the local chapter.

The origin and goals of the local BSP group were discussed during the informal program led by Mrs. Frank Martino, president, who told of the sorority's honorary members from all walks of life.

Also speaking during the program were Mrs. Irwin J. Thomas, one of the original charter members, who gave an outline of the background of BSP in poetry form.

Mrs. Walter Hubbard gave an interesting resume of the local chapter since its inception in November, 1945, while Mrs. Roger G. Billings, another charter member, explained the program books and cultural features planned for members by the international headquarters.

Mrs. Albert Roosa, pianist, and Miss Florence Smith, vocalist, supplied the musical portion of the program by rendering two of the better known BSP songs.

Another speaker was Mrs. Edmund Holland who gave her version on the topic of "Friendship of BSP" and explained her own experience coming to Kingston as a stranger and being welcomed into a group of this kind.

Miss Maxwell later welcomed the guests present and further explained BSP as it has spread over most of the nation and added, "it will eventually cover all of the Latin American countries." Beta Sigma Phi already has many foreign chapters in England, France, Hawaii, Canada and other foreign lands.

Following the discussion period, refreshments and an informal social hour were enjoyed.

Mrs. Matthews, who will work closely with Mrs. Kolb in the progress of Beta Sigma Phi, is well-known for her many civic connections. Besides her many activities with Kingston Unit, 150, American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Matthews is an active member of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the societies of that church. She also has been associated with the work of the Children's Home.

Mrs. Matthews has served four different terms as president of Kingston Unit, 150, and also served as organizing president in 1922.

Local Architect To Display Unique Hobby Here at Show

A well-known local architect, who readily admits "I got into this sort of thing by accident," will display a portion of his near-famous collection of hand-forged hardware, both in the original and in reproduction, at the second annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show, which will open tomorrow at the Municipal Auditorium.

"In the course of my work as an architect," Mr. Teller explained in a recent interview, "I was asked to do several restorations of old buildings, among them the home now occupied by the DAR. The work was fascinating, but in many cases I couldn't find hardware that would blend properly with the other fittings. It was unobtainable."

One day, however, Mr. Teller heard of a Samsonville man, George Van Kleek, who had been a blacksmith from the time he was a small boy. When Mr. Teller asked Van Kleek, who, incidentally, is still living, if he could forge hardware in the old patterns, the man looked up at him, and answered:

"Well sir, my father did for a good many years . . . I guess I can if he could."

"And that's how we got started," Mr. Teller adds.

These days Mr. Teller is regarded as an authority in his field. Albert H. Sonn, author of Early American Wrought Iron, consulted with him before beginning his collection of sketches, as most of the pieces described had passed through Mr. Teller's hands at one time or another.

The items which will be displayed at the Hobby Show tomorrow represent over 30 years of collecting, and research.

Rome Colonels Sweep Two-Game Series From Colonials, 11 to 4

15th Straight Loss for Locals

Kingston's 15th straight defeat was written into the record books last night at municipal stadium.

But this time it was a painless operation compared to the heart-rending, one-run defeats of the three previous outings.

Buck Etchinson's Rome Colonels swept the two-game set, 11 to 4. They routed Charlie Ayers, Colonial starter, in the first inning, when six singles, a double and a Kingston miscue accounted for seven runs.

By the end of two innings it was 10-0 and for all intents and purposes it was all over for the night. Particularly in the light of Sal Arduini's brilliant six-hit pitching for the Colonels.

Maybe "brilliant" isn't the right adjective. It seems that all pitchers look extraordinary against Manager Hank Camelli's light-swinging brigade these days. Arduini walked three and fanned five and three of the local markers were unearned.

Young Ayers didn't have a thing besides his glove and the Colonels swooped on his serves like vultures. Acroyd Smith, a new southpaw, followed and the Colonels followed with a series of line drives that drove streaks through the municipal stadium ozone.

Kramberg Stars

Then you come to the only two bright spots.

Lou Kramberg, the brilliant young centerfielder, continued his great hitting with a triple, single and walk in three trips to boost his batting average to .324. He has collected eight hits in the last 12 trips and boasts 16 RBIs. In the field he gallavanted like a Joe DiMaggio, twice coming up with breath-taking catches.

Something nice should be said about relief pitcher, Vince Canepa. When Acroyd Smith was removed to safety and shelter of the shower room, the veteran right hander came on to pitch magnificent ball for 7 2/3 innings. He permitted only four hits and two runs. That was the second outstanding relief performance in two nights, Jack Orminston having sparkled in an emergency role the night before.

Joe Davidson ruined Arduini's bid for a shutout in the sixth with a ground single that scored Lou Kramberg. In the eighth the Camellites tallied three times without the benefit of a base hit. Healey and Kramberg walked between a popup by Walt Bremer. Healey scored when third baseman Dinacci booted Davidson's grounder. When Davidson strayed off first base and was hung up in a rundown, Etchinson fired high over third base trying to nail Kramberg and both runners scored.

Play Four Road Games

While Manager Hank Camelli tries to repair his shattered legions in Amsterdam and Gloversville during the next four days, Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., meets in special session tonight at 7:30 at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The Colonials return home for a Sunday doubleheader against the powerful Oneonta Red Sox. Games are also scheduled at the stadium on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Eddie Polubiatka, the ex-Poughkeepsie Chief who batted around .270 in the Colonial League last season, had a field day. He pounded two doubles, a single, got a walk and drove in three runs. His fielding in centerfield was a bit on the spectacular side. He took basehits away from Dennis Healey and Carl Harris and could these youngsters use a few.

Ray Luckett powered three singles and had three RBIs. Oh yes, Buck Etchinson managed to stay around the .500 mark at the stadium with "2 for 4" both singles.

Little League Drills Start at Hasbrouck

Little League baseball practice will start at Hasbrouck Park on Thursday, President Bob Umpleby of the Kingston Athletic Association, announced today.

All youngsters between the ages of 8 and 12, inclusive, have been invited to attend the first workout at 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

Those eligible for the initial drill are youngsters from schools No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 and St. Mary's, St. Peter's, Hebrew School, Immanuel parochial schools.

Another session is scheduled on Friday.

A series of practice workouts in various sections of the city will take place in the future to determine candidates for the finals.

Little League baseball will be operated by the K.A.A. during the months of July and August. A four-team league will play games at St. Mary's Field at Foxhall and Flatbush avenues.

Candidates who report for the Hasbrouck Park trials on Thursday are requested to bring their own gloves and spiked shoes if they have them.

The Scoreboard

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Shades of 1919? Can the 1951 Chicago White Sox duplicate the feat of their predecessors of 32 years ago? And we don't mean "throw" the World Series.

The similarity between the two clubs is striking. Both finished in sixth place the previous campaign. Both began the new season under new leadership. Both were picked to finish deep in the second division. And both got off to flying starts.

The 1919 Sox, ably piloted by Freshman Manager Bill (Kid) Gleason, went on to win the pennant. Can the '51 Sox, under the leadership of newcomer Paul Richards, do the same?

The pennant still is nothing more than a beautiful dream but the current crew is threatening to achieve something that has eluded all other White Sox teams. Richards' astonishing athletes need only to win tonight and tomorrow in Philadelphia to complete a clean sweep on their rampaging tour through the eastern badlands.

The White Sox began the trip by trouncing the Red Sox twice in Boston. Nobody can recall when a Chicago team ever did that before. Then they whipped the Yankees in New York. That was the only victory by a visiting club at Yankee Stadium in 14 games this season.

Six in a Row

Last night they whipped the Senators in Washington for the third straight time, 9-8. That made it six victories in a row, nine of 11 on the road this year, and 18 wins against nine defeats for the season.

Yesterday's triumph kept the club in second place, two lengths in back of the defending champion Yankees, who beat the St. Louis Browns, 6-1. Boston's Red Sox tamed the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, to move past Washington into fourth place, a half game behind the Bengals. Cleveland clipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-2, in a night affair.

In the limited National League action, front running Brooklyn outscored the Pirates, 17-8, in Pittsburgh and the Boston Braves thrashed the Cardinals 7-2, to displace St. Louis in the third slot. Rain forced the postponement of contests between New York and the Cubs in Chicago, and Philadelphia and the Reds in Cincinnati.

A three run White Sox rally in the seventh, featured by Nelson Fox' home run, overcame a six-run Washington assault in the fifth to win for relief pitcher Harry Dorish.

Bob Kuzava was lost to the Senators for at least a week in a crash with Fox at first base in the fourth inning. Kuzava was spiked on the right heel.

Reynolds Wins

Allie Reynolds pitched a four-hitter against the Browns as his teammates clubbed Ned Garver for nine hits, six for extra bases. The biggest blow was a home run by Yogi Berra.

Catcher Les Moss hit a grand slam homer off Ted Gray to spark the Red Sox to their victory over the Tigers. Lefty Maury McDermott spaced seven hits for his second straight route-going victory. He fanned nine for a two-game total of 18.

Early Wynn pitched five hit ball for the Indians to end a personal four-game losing streak.

Seven home runs highlighted the Brooklyn-Pittsburgh slugfest. Gil Hodges, Dodger first baseman, hit two, one with the bases loaded. His 13 for the season is high in the majors. Wally Westlake hit No. 12 and Ralph Kiner No. 8 for Pittsburgh.

Cal Abrams, newest Dodger left fielder, collected three hits to raise his league leading batting average to .452.

The Braves took advantage of a dozen St. Louis bases on balls and chipped in with eight hits including Bob Elliott's eighth home run to win from the Cards. Warren Spahn spaced seven hits for his fourth triumph. Red Munger was the loser.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Les Moss, Red Sox, recently acquired catcher hit a grand slam homer to lead Boston to a 6-3 victory over Detroit.

Pitching—Allie Reynolds, Yankees, hurled a four-hitter on the heels of his 1-0 triumph over Cleveland as Yankees defeated the St. Louis Browns, 6-1.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

Amsterdam would have no trouble with Pittsfield—its most potent Canadian-American League rival—if Steve Krall could pitch all the games against the Electrics.

The right-hander beat the Electrics, 7-4, last night to give Amsterdam a game and one-half lead over the second-place club. It was Krall's third win—and all of them have been over Pittsfield.

Four runs in the eighth inning spelled the difference at Pittsfield. Centerfielder John Bella's double sent Krall home with what proved to be the winning run. Krall, who had bunted, was on base on a fielder's choice. Bella also had two singles.

Oneonta scored five runs in the eighth inning at Gloversville, to win, 9-7. Six hits, two walks, one error and a sacrifice set up the scoring. Gloversville used three hits, one error and five walks, to score six times in the second inning.

At Kingston, it was the same story—the Colonials lost again. Rome handed them their 15th straight loss, 12-4. Seven Rome tallies in the first inning sewed up the game. The scoring came on six singles, a double and two walks. Kingston's record now shows one win and 19 losses.

Rome Colonels Sweep Two-Game Series From Colonials, 11 to 4

15th Straight Loss for Locals

Kingston's 15th straight defeat was written into the record books last night at municipal stadium.

But this time it was a painless operation compared to the heart-rending, one-run defeats of the three previous outings.

Buck Etchinson's Rome Colonels swept the two-game set, 11 to 4. They routed Charlie Ayers, Colonial starter, in the first inning, when six singles, a double and a Kingston miscue accounted for seven runs.

By the end of two innings it was 10-0 and for all intents and purposes it was all over for the night. Particularly in the light of Sal Arduini's brilliant six-hit pitching for the Colonels.

Maybe "brilliant" isn't the right adjective. It seems that all pitchers look extraordinary against Manager Hank Camelli's light-swinging brigade these days. Arduini walked three and fanned five and three of the local markers were unearned.

Young Ayers didn't have a thing besides his glove and the Colonels swooped on his serves like vultures. Acroyd Smith, a new southpaw, followed and the Colonels followed with a series of line drives that drove streaks through the municipal stadium ozone.

Kramberg Stars

Then you come to the only two bright spots.

Lou Kramberg, the brilliant young centerfielder, continued his great hitting with a triple, single and walk in three trips to boost his batting average to .324. He has collected eight hits in the last 12 trips and boasts 16 RBIs. In the field he gallavanted like a Joe DiMaggio, twice coming up with breath-taking catches.

Something nice should be said about relief pitcher, Vince Canepa. When Acroyd Smith was removed to safety and shelter of the shower room, the veteran right hander came on to pitch magnificent ball for 7 2/3 innings. He permitted only four hits and two runs. That was the second outstanding relief performance in two nights, Jack Orminston having sparkled in an emergency role the night before.

Joe Davidson ruined Arduini's bid for a shutout in the sixth with a ground single that scored Lou Kramberg. In the eighth the Camellites tallied three times without the benefit of a base hit. Healey and Kramberg walked between a popup by Walt Bremer. Healey scored when third baseman Dinacci booted Davidson's grounder. When Davidson strayed off first base and was hung up in a rundown, Etchinson fired high over third base trying to nail Kramberg and both runners scored.

Play Four Road Games

While Manager Hank Camelli tries to repair his shattered legions in Amsterdam and Gloversville during the next four days, Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., meets in special session tonight at 7:30 at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The Colonials return home for a Sunday doubleheader against the powerful Oneonta Red Sox. Games are also scheduled at the stadium on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Eddie Polubiatka, the ex-Poughkeepsie Chief who batted around .270 in the Colonial League last season, had a field day. He pounded two doubles, a single, got a walk and drove in three runs. His fielding in centerfield was a bit on the spectacular side. He took basehits away from Dennis Healey and Carl Harris and could these youngsters use a few.

Ray Luckett powered three singles and had three RBIs. Oh yes, Buck Etchinson managed to stay around the .500 mark at the stadium with "2 for 4" both singles.

Little League Drills Start at Hasbrouck

Little League baseball practice will start at Hasbrouck Park on Thursday, President Bob Umpleby of the Kingston Athletic Association, announced today.

All youngsters between the ages of 8 and 12, inclusive, have been invited to attend the first workout at 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

Those eligible for the initial drill are youngsters from schools No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 and St. Mary's, St. Peter's, Hebrew School, Immanuel parochial schools.

Another session is scheduled on Friday.

A series of practice workouts in various sections of the city will take place in the future to determine candidates for the finals.

Little League baseball will be operated by the K.A.A. during the months of July and August. A four-team league will play games at St. Mary's Field at Foxhall and Flatbush avenues.

Candidates who report for the Hasbrouck Park trials on Thursday are requested to bring their own gloves and spiked shoes if they have them.

The Scoreboard

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Shades of 1919? Can the 1951 Chicago White Sox duplicate the feat of their predecessors of 32 years ago? And we don't mean "throw" the World Series.

The similarity between the two clubs is striking. Both finished in sixth place the previous campaign. Both began the new season under new leadership. Both were picked to finish deep in the second division. And both got off to flying starts.

The 1919 Sox, ably piloted by Freshman Manager Bill (Kid) Gleason, went on to win the pennant. Can the '51 Sox, under the leadership of newcomer Paul Richards, do the same?

The pennant still is nothing more than a beautiful dream but the current crew is threatening to achieve something that has eluded all other White Sox teams. Richards' astonishing athletes need only to win tonight and tomorrow in Philadelphia to complete a clean sweep on their rampaging tour through the eastern badlands.

The White Sox began the trip by trouncing the Red Sox twice in Boston. Nobody can recall when a Chicago team ever did that before. Then they whipped the Yankees in New York. That was the only victory by a visiting club at Yankee Stadium in 14 games this season.

Six in a Row

Last night they whipped the Senators in Washington for the third straight time, 9-8. That made it six victories in a row, nine of 11 on the road this year, and 18 wins against nine defeats for the season.

Yesterday's triumph kept the club in second place, two lengths in back of the defending champion Yankees, who beat the St. Louis Browns, 6-1. Boston's Red Sox tamed the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, to move past Washington into fourth place, a half game behind the Bengals. Cleveland clipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-2, in a night affair.

In the limited National League action, front running Brooklyn outscored the Pirates, 17-8, in Pittsburgh and the Boston Braves thrashed the Cardinals 7-2, to displace St. Louis in the third slot. Rain forced the postponement of contests between New York and the Cubs in Chicago, and Philadelphia and the Reds in Cincinnati.

A three run White Sox rally in the seventh, featured by Nelson Fox' home run, overcame a six-run Washington assault in the fifth to win for relief pitcher Harry Dorish.

Bob Kuzava was lost to the Senators for at least a week in a crash with Fox at first base in the fourth inning. Kuzava was spiked on the right heel.

Reynolds Wins

Allie Reynolds pitched a four-hitter against the Browns as his teammates clubbed Ned Garver for nine hits, six for extra bases. The biggest blow was a home run by Yogi Berra.

Catcher Les Moss hit a grand slam homer off Ted Gray to spark the Red Sox to their victory over the Tigers. Lefty Maury McDermott spaced seven hits for his second straight route-going victory. He fanned nine for a two-game total of 18.

Early Wynn pitched five hit ball for the Indians to end a personal four-game losing streak.

Seven home runs highlighted the Brooklyn-Pittsburgh slugfest. Gil Hodges, Dodger first baseman, hit two, one with the bases loaded. His 13 for the season is high in the majors. Wally Westlake hit No. 12 and Ralph Kiner No. 8 for Pittsburgh.

Cal Abrams, newest Dodger left fielder, collected three hits to raise his league leading batting average to .452.

The Braves took advantage of a dozen St. Louis bases on balls and chipped in with eight hits including Bob Elliott's eighth home run to win from the Cards. Warren Spahn spaced seven hits for his fourth triumph. Red Munger was the loser.

Rome Colonels Sweep Two-Game Series From Colonials, 11 to 4

15th Straight Loss for Locals

Kingston's 15th straight defeat was written into the record books last night at municipal stadium.

But this time it was a painless operation compared to the heart-rending, one-run defeats of the three previous outings.

Buck Etchinson's Rome Colonels swept the two-game set, 11 to 4. They routed Charlie Ayers, Colonial starter, in the first inning, when six singles, a double and a Kingston miscue accounted for seven runs.

By the end of two innings it was 10-0 and for all intents and purposes it was all over for the night. Particularly in the light of Sal Arduini's brilliant six-hit pitching for the Colonels.

Maybe "brilliant" isn't the right adjective. It seems that all pitchers look extraordinary against Manager Hank Camelli's light-swinging brigade these days. Arduini walked three and fanned five and three of the local markers were unearned.

Young Ayers didn't have a thing besides his glove and the Colonels swooped on his serves like vultures. Acroyd Smith, a new southpaw, followed and the Colonels followed with a series of line drives that drove streaks through the municipal stadium ozone.

Kramberg Stars

Then you come to the only two bright spots.

Lou Kramberg, the brilliant young centerfielder, continued his great hitting with a triple, single and walk in three trips to boost his batting average to .324. He has collected eight hits in the last 12 trips and boasts 16 RBIs. In the field he gallavanted like a Joe DiMaggio, twice coming up with breath-taking catches.

Something nice should be said about relief pitcher, Vince Canepa. When Acroyd Smith was removed to safety and shelter of the shower room, the veteran right hander came on to pitch magnificent ball for 7 2/3 innings. He permitted only four hits and two runs. That was the second outstanding relief performance in two nights, Jack Orminston having sparkled in an emergency role the night before.

Joe Davidson ruined Arduini's bid for a shutout in the sixth with a ground single that scored Lou Kramberg. In the eighth the Camellites tallied three times without the benefit of a base hit. Healey and Kramberg walked between a popup by Walt Bremer. Healey scored when third baseman Dinacci booted Davidson's grounder. When Davidson strayed off first base and was hung up in a rundown, Etchinson fired high over third base trying to nail Kramberg and both runners scored.

Play Four Road Games

While Manager Hank Camelli tries to repair his shattered legions in Amsterdam and Gloversville during the next four days, Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., meets in special session tonight at 7:30 at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The Colonials return home for a Sunday doubleheader against the powerful Oneonta Red Sox. Games are also scheduled at the stadium on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Eddie Polubiatka, the ex-Poughkeepsie Chief who batted around .270 in the Colonial League last season, had a field day. He pounded two doubles, a single, got a walk and drove in three runs. His fielding in centerfield was a bit on the spectacular side. He took basehits away from Dennis Healey and Carl Harris and could these youngsters use a few.

Ray Luckett powered three singles and had three RBIs. Oh yes, Buck Etchinson managed to stay around the .500 mark at the stadium with "2 for 4" both singles.

Little League Drills Start at Hasbrouck

Little League baseball practice will start at Hasbrouck Park on Thursday, President Bob Umpleby of the Kingston Athletic Association, announced today.

All youngsters between the ages of 8 and 12, inclusive, have been invited to attend the first workout at 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

Those eligible for the initial drill are youngsters from schools No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 and St. Mary's, St. Peter's, Hebrew School, Immanuel parochial schools.

Another session is scheduled on Friday.

A series of practice workouts in various sections of the city will take place in the future to determine candidates for the finals.

Little League baseball will be operated by the K.A.A. during the months of July and August. A four-team league will play games at St. Mary's Field at Foxhall and Flatbush avenues.

Candidates who report for the Hasbrouck Park trials on Thursday are requested to bring their own gloves and spiked shoes if they have them.

The Scoreboard

Shades of 1919? Can the 1951 Chicago White Sox duplicate the feat of their predecessors of 32 years ago? And we don't mean "throw" the World Series.

The similarity between the two clubs is striking. Both finished in sixth place the previous campaign. Both began the new season under new leadership. Both were picked to finish deep in the second division. And both got off to flying starts.

The 1919 Sox, ably piloted by Freshman Manager Bill (Kid) Gleason, went on to win the pennant. Can the '51 Sox, under the leadership of newcomer Paul Richards, do the same?

The pennant still is nothing more than a beautiful dream but the current crew is threatening to achieve something that has eluded all other White Sox teams. Richards' astonishing athletes need only to win tonight and tomorrow in Philadelphia to complete a clean sweep on their rampaging tour through the eastern badlands.

The White Sox began the trip by trouncing the Red Sox twice in Boston. Nobody can recall when a Chicago team ever did that before. Then they whipped the Yankees in New York. That was the only victory by a visiting club at Yankee Stadium in 14 games this season.

Six in a Row

Last night they whipped the Senators in Washington for the third straight time, 9-8. That made it six victories in a row, nine of 11 on the road this year, and 18 wins against nine defeats for the season.

Yesterday's triumph kept the club in second place, two lengths in back of the defending champion Yankees, who beat the St. Louis Browns, 6-1. Boston's Red Sox tamed the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, to move past Washington into fourth place, a half game behind the Bengals. Cleveland clipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-2, in a night affair.

In the limited National League action, front running Brooklyn outscored the Pirates, 17-8, in Pittsburgh and the Boston Braves thrashed the Cardinals 7-2, to displace St. Louis in the third slot. Rain forced the postponement of contests between New York and the Cubs in Chicago, and Philadelphia and the Reds in Cincinnati.

A three run White Sox rally in the seventh, featured by Nelson Fox' home run, overcame a six-run Washington assault in the fifth to win for relief pitcher Harry Dorish.

Bob Kuzava was lost to the Senators for at least a week in a crash with Fox at first base in the fourth inning. Kuzava was spiked on the right heel.

Reynolds Wins

Allie Reynolds pitched a four-hitter against the Browns as his teammates clubbed Ned Garver for nine hits, six for extra bases. The biggest blow was a home run by Yogi Berra.

Catcher Les Moss hit a grand slam homer off Ted Gray to spark the Red Sox to their victory over the Tigers. Lefty Maury McDermott spaced seven hits for his second straight route-going victory. He fanned nine for a two-game total of 18.

Early Wynn pitched five hit ball for the Indians to end a personal four-game losing streak.

Seven home runs highlighted the Brooklyn-Pittsburgh slugfest. Gil Hodges, Dodger first baseman, hit two, one with the bases loaded. His 13 for the season is high in the majors. Wally Westlake hit No. 12 and Ralph Kiner No. 8 for Pittsburgh.

Cal Abrams, newest Dodger left fielder, collected three hits to raise his league leading batting average to .452.

The Braves took advantage of a dozen St. Louis bases on balls and chipped in with eight hits including Bob Elliott's eighth home run to win from the Cards. Warren Spahn spaced seven hits for his fourth triumph. Red Munger was the loser.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

Amsterdam would have no trouble with Pittsfield—its most potent Canadian-American League rival—if Steve Krall could pitch all the games against the Electrics.

The right-hander beat the Electrics, 7-4, last night to give Amsterdam a game and one-half lead over the second-place club. It was Krall's third win—and all of them have been over Pittsfield.

Four runs in the eighth inning spelled the difference at Pittsfield. Centerfielder John Bella's double sent Krall home with what proved to be the winning run. Krall, who had bunted, was on base on a fielder's choice. Bella also had two singles.

Oneonta scored five runs in the eighth inning at Gloversville, to win, 9-7. Six hits, two walks, one error and a sacrifice set up the scoring. Gloversville used three hits, one error and five walks, to score six times in the second inning.

At Kingston, it was the same story—the Colonials lost again. Rome handed them their 15th straight loss, 12-4. Seven Rome tallies in the first inning sewed up the game. The scoring came on six singles, a double and two walks. Kingston's record now shows one win and 19 losses.

Ez Belittles Maxim's Power

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles says challenger Joey Maxim couldn't knock him out if "I dropped my hands and stuck my chin out as a target for his best punches."

Light heavyweight champion Maxim, who shoots for Charles' heavyweight crown in Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night, has predicted he will win by a knockout.

Charles was reminded that Maxim kayoed Freddy Mills for the lightheavy title in London 16 months ago.

"I'm not Freddy Mills," retorted Charles.

Meanwhile, Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, declared he would urge the Illinois State Athletic Commission to assign three referees to officiate the title bout.

"I want the two idle referees to serve as judges," said Kearns. "The other three times Maxim boxed Charles we received the referee's vote but the judge gave the fight to Ezzard each time. My contention is that referees are the most qualified to judge such a close battle."

Subway Grill scored its second straight win in the City Softball League yesterday, with a 7 to 1 triumph over Sickler's. Delivery behind the six-hit pitching of veteran Joe Amato.

Eddie Ashdown powered two long homers to lead a heaxy extra-base assault on Walt Kozlowski. Joe Scholar poled a double and Al Hunt had a triple.

Jesse's Tavern piled up an early lead and went on to drub Chez Emile, 10 to 3, at Block Park.

Charlie Dasher and Duke Sickler checked the losers with five hits, while Jesse's collected nine off Ben Freer and Bailey. They led 9-0 at the end of five.

Barney Fowler and Bob Watzka were the batting stars with five hits between them. Both had doubles.

Chez Emile	000 002 1	3	5	3

Charlie Dasher, Duke Sickler and Bob DeGroat; Ben Freer, Bailey and D. Harvey.

Hoppey's unloaded three successive homers in the fourth inning and got airtight pitching from Wilson and Lewis to crush Barclay Knitwear, 12 to 0, for their second straight win.

Shorty Morris, Nickie Carl and Blackie Balauky powered the circuit clouts. Wilson, the Hoppey starter, yielded only two hits in five innings and Lewis gave up one in two frames. The Hoppey hurlers racked up nine strikeouts between them—a big total for local softball.

The Hoppey hit total was not listed on the official report but, in addition to the three homers, Hoppey's had triples by Jack Ostrander and Willie Wilson.

Score by innings:

Barclay	000 000 0— 0
Hoppey's	312 420 x—12

Naccarato, Friedman and Hutton; Wilson, Lewis and Kenyon.

American Legion made it two straight, 8 to 2, at the expense of Duke's, who got eight hits off Don Riehl but failed to move him in the pinches. The winners collected nine off Tom Kearney.

Favorite Wins

Westbury, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—Gay Pierette, the 8 to 5 favorite, won the featured Baldwin Trot last night at Roosevelt Raceway. John Simpson drove the five-year-old mare across the wire in 2:06 2/5, for a two-length victory over Chooperage. Harry Dee placed third. Gay Pierette paid $5.40, $3.70 and $2.90. It was Simpson's second win of the night. He also won with Ford Hanover in the second race.

Casemate Hurt

New York, May 23 (AP)—Casemate, winner of the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park Saturday, has a fractured sesamoid bone, trainer Bobby Dotter said today. The James Cox Brady-owned colt will not race again for some time, Dotter said, and he may be put in stud.

Jayvees Defeat Marlborough, 12-6

Coach Al Gruner's K.H.S. Jayvee baseball team has its seasonal record squared away at three wins and three losses.

The Maroon tossers operated with strictest economy as they converted five hits into a dozen runs to defeat Marlborough High 12 to 6, Monday at Marlborough. Eleven passed helped swell the run kitty.

Mark Reuben, Bruce Bechtold and Joe Modica shared the pitching chores for the Maroon, with Reuben winning after the locals ground out a 11-2 lead at the end of three innings.

Johnson, Bondar, Perry, Avery and DuBois collected the Kingston hits. Martinicci, the Marlborough left fielder, who ruined a no-hitter last week, led the losers with a single, double and triple in four trips to the plate. Ronkese had a triple and a single.

The locals travel to Windham on Friday to meet the high school varsity of that village.

Leaque Starts

The Central Recreation summer bowling league starts its schedule tonight at 8 o'clock at the Central Recreation alleys.

West Shokan Forms Baseball Team

The West Shokan baseball team, known as the Bushkill Wildcats, has been outfitted with new uniforms purchased through funds raised by popular subscription.

The outfitting of the team makes it the first uniformed team to represent West Shokan since the famous teams of pre-Ashokan Reservoir days, according to Elwyn Davis. Contributions for uniforms were solicited through the efforts of Jack Haggerty and others.

The Wildcats on Sunday afternoon split a double-header with Samsonville. Behind the pitching of "Bunky" Harrison, West Shokan gained a 3-0 victory in the first game. In the second game, Samsonville emerged victorious by a score of 15 to 4.

A good attendance was reported at the games, and a good collection was taken. Funds collected at the games will be used to purchase additional equipment for the team.

Ez Belittles Maxim's Power

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles says challenger Joey Maxim couldn't knock him out if "I dropped my hands and stuck my chin out as a target for his best punches."

Light heavyweight champion Maxim, who shoots for Charles' heavyweight crown in Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night, has predicted he will win by a knockout.

Charles was reminded that Maxim kayoed Freddy Mills for the lightheavy title in London 16 months ago.

"I'm not Freddy Mills," retorted Charles.

Meanwhile, Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, declared he would urge the Illinois State Athletic Commission to assign three referees to officiate the title bout.

"I want the two idle referees to serve as judges," said Kearns. "The other three times Maxim boxed Charles we received the referee's vote but the judge gave the fight to Ezzard each time. My contention is that referees are the most qualified to judge such a close battle."

Boulevards Forfeit

Boulevard Gulf forfeited to Old Capital Motors in the City Baseball League yesterday, when they showed up with only seven players. The forfeit win gave the Old Caps three straight victories without a setback.

Leaaue Starts

West Shokan Forms Baseball Team

The West Shokan baseball team, known as the Bushkill Wildcats, has been outfitted with new uniforms purchased through funds raised by popular subscription.

The outfitting of the team makes it the first uniformed team to represent West Shokan since the famous teams of pre-Ashokan Reservoir days, according to Elwyn Davis. Contributions for uniforms were solicited through the efforts of Jack Haggerty and others.

The Wildcats on Sunday afternoon split a double-header with Samsonville. Behind the pitching of "Bunky" Harrison, West Shokan gained a 3-0 victory in the first game. In the second game, Samsonville emerged victorious by a score of 15 to 4.

A good attendance was reported at the games, and a good collection was taken. Funds collected at the games will be used to purchase additional equipment for the team.

Bradley Is Sure

said Mr. Truman had considered dismissing MacArthur off and on ever since that letter.

Equipment Furnished

Bradley said about $10,000,000 worth of ammunition and key equipment was furnished to the Nationalists on Formosa last November. He added that an aid program totaling over $300,000,000 has been recommended to date.

MacArthur has urged that Formosa be kept from falling into unfriendly hands and that Chiang's Nationalist troops be given supply support for operations against the Chinese Reds.

The use of the Nationalist forces, along with the bombing of Manchurian supply bases and a blockade of Red China are key parts of MacArthur's win-the-war program—a program that Bradley has said risks a third world war.

Bradley said he doesn't know how much of the $300,000,000 worth of equipment recommended for Chiang has actually been delivered.

He added:

"Our principal aim has been to strengthen the Nationalists on Formosa so that they would have the defensive capabilities to hold the island themselves against any projected attack from the mainland."

The hearings are held behind closed doors but a stenographic report of them is given to news reporters after going through the hands of censors.

Quotes From Truman

In the discussion of Formosa, Brewster quoted from a statement by President Truman Jan. 5, 1950, saying "the United States government will not provide military aid or advice to Chinese forces on Formosa."

"That was the position up to August of 1950?" Brewster asked.

"I would say that was the policy up until June 25 or 26 when the president intimated that he would not permit an invasion of Formosa from the mainland," Bradley answered.

"It was the first time, of course, as you say, in August, when he actually okayed military equipment and ammunition for them. He had changed his policy to the extent that he had directed the Seventh Fleet to prevent an invasion of Formosa."

At one point, Brewster suggested the Senate hearings have influenced other countries to more positive action in the Korean situation.

Brewster said that the United States long had urged economic sanctions against Red China "but we did not achieve that in the United Nations until coincidentally with these hearings."

Bradley said: "Well, certainly, we have made progress in the last six weeks. Now, what effect these hearings had on England and France, I wouldn't venture to say."

Brewster: "It is coincidental, at any rate. It would seem they suddenly changed what had hitherto been a firm resistance to economic sanctions in London."

Bradley: "I would not say it was in opposition to it; we just had trouble getting them to go along with it."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said he hoped to complete examination of Bradley at today's session.

Some Senators of both parties were calling for an early end to the investigation, but there were no signs it would be closed down soon.

Air Force Plane Crashes

New Lisbon, Ind., May 23 (AP)—An air force plane from Patterson Field, Dayton, O., and carrying 12 men crashed and burned near here today. State troopers reported some of those aboard parachuted safely. Among them were the pilot and a civilian. The pilot suffered severe burns and was taken to a New Castle, Ind., hospital. The plane was a C-124. Troopers said they understood the plane was on an experimental flight. The crash was heard in New Castle by William Turner, an announcer for radio station WCTW. New Castle is five miles northwest of New Lisbon.

Reds Retreat . . .

scribed the situation as very fluid.

The area was reported swarming with Chinese.

UN troops were shifted to check Reds streaming into the area. They cut off Communist spearheads by capturing a strategic pass north of Soksa. The pass runs through the 5,000 foot high Kyebang ridge. It is the key approach into the wild and rugged region around Soksa.

The pass was taken against relatively light opposition. UN officers said its capture was perhaps the most important development of the front Tuesday.

U. S. Eighth Army officers estimated Red casualties in the Communists' blighted offensive at between 50,000 and 60,000. This is somewhat under field estimates.

Held as AWOL

Pfc. James H. Cossaboom and Pvt. Paul C. Wilson, both 19, were arrested at 14 Post street by Officer Ernest Bartroff yesterday afternoon on charges of being absent without leave from Fort Devens, Mass. The former is a native of Canada, and the latter is from Sweetwater, Tenn., police said. They were turned over to military authorities today.

Actress Tours Hospitals

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, May 23 (AP)—Movie actress Jennifer Jones arrived today on a tour of U. S. Army hospitals. Her first visit was to the Fourth Field Hospital, where battlefield wounded are treated.

Your Host Improves

Canoga Park, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Your Host has made such remarkable recovery from what at first was believed to be a fatal racing injury that California breeders are making overtures to acquire him for stud purposes. Your Host suffered a leg bone fracture last winter at Santa Anita and some veterinarians recommended that he be destroyed. Lloyds of London paid owner William Goetz the $250,000 face value of its insurance policy, took title to the horse, and put him on the Circle S ranch of George Stratton.

Charlie Bostic Has Low Medal of 77

Charlie Bostic fired low score of 77 but Brian Smith's three points, with a medal of 80, figured materially in Kingston High's 7 to 5 DUSO Golf League victory over Middletown, yesterday at the Wiltwyck Golf Club links.

The victory squared matters with the Middies for a previous setback in Middletown.

Smith picked up three points in the No. 3 slot.

Harvey Bostic squared his match with Bill Neeley, while Charlie turned back Bob Radavoy 2½ to ½. Francis Dineen, with the best Middletown score of 79, blanked Jimmie Oulton of Kingston.

Matches with Beacon at Beacon and Liberty at Wiltwyck will complete the regular schedule for Coach Bob DeFeis' swingers.

Noted Sports Writer Dies in Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., May 23 (AP)—Charles Sumner Sherman, whose love for college football became a legend, is dead.

The end came for the veteran Nebraska sports editor in a Lincoln hospital last night. He was 80.

"Cy" Sherman was the man who named Nebraska athletic teams the "Cornhuskers." The State Legislature liked the tag so well it was adopted as the official nickname of the state of Nebraska.

He was also instrumental in establishing the Associated Press national poll and top ten football teams.

In ancient times censuses were the basis for taxation and conscription.

Obedience Trained Dogs Will Help in Palsy Drive Here

Canine stars of the show world are doing their part in raising funds to fight cerebral palsy, and Kingstonians will have a chance to see them, according to an announcement today.

William F. Edelmulth, former mayor of the city, now connected with Silsby Motors, 515 Albany avenue, said that as a dog lover he had arranged to bring a group of obedienced trained dogs to the municipal auditorium, Friday, June 1.

Serving on the committee as co-chairman is A. J. P. Seitz of the Kingston Venetian Blind Company, 34 Ferry street, owner of a prize-winning German shepherd. Edelmuth's dog is a Kerry blue terrier, a blue ribbon dog.

The show at the auditorium is scheduled for 9 p. m. on June 1. Tickets will be available soon for adults and children. All of the money raised will be contributed to the cerebral palsy drive.

Animals to appear at the auditorium will be from the Hudson-Highlands Dog Training Club of Newburgh, which has acted as a school for 70 dogs over a period of two years under the direction of Miss Blanche Saunders, foremost obedience trainer.

Some of the dogs have competed in shows and won high honors. The club trains all types and breeds of dogs.

"The obedience trained dog is a pleasure to watch and a credit to his community," said Chairman Edelmuth, who is confident that the event at the auditorium will draw a capacity attendance of animal lovers and raise a neat sum for fighting cerebral palsy.

Civil Service Exam

Complete information regarding duties, qualifications and salaries may be obtained from William P. Barry in the main post office for the examination announced today by the U. S. Civil Service for the positions of central office telephone installer. No written test is required. Applicants will be rated on the basis of their training and experience.

No Action Taken

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Senate Rules committee met today but took no action in connection with its investigation of the circumstances that led former Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley of New York to step out of the governor's race last year. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) told a reporter, after the committee's closed door session, that some members of the group have not completed their study of a report by the committee's investigators.

Bradley Is Sure

said Mr. Truman had considered dismissing MacArthur off and on ever since that letter.

Equipment Furnished

Bradley said about $10,000,000 worth of ammunition and key equipment was furnished to the Nationalists on Formosa last November. He added that an aid program totaling over $300,000,000 has been recommended to date.

MacArthur has urged that Formosa be kept from falling into unfriendly hands and that Chiang's Nationalist troops be given supply support for operations against the Chinese Reds.

The use of the Nationalist forces, along with the bombing of Manchurian supply bases and a blockade of Red China are key parts of MacArthur's win-the-war program—a program that Bradley has said risks a third world war.

Bradley said he doesn't know how much of the $300,000,000 worth of equipment recommended for Chiang has actually been delivered.

He added:

"Our principal aim has been to strengthen the Nationalists on Formosa so that they would have the defensive capabilities to hold the island themselves against any projected attack from the mainland."

The hearings are held behind closed doors but a stenographic report of them is given to news reporters after going through the hands of censors.

Quotes From Truman

In the discussion of Formosa, Brewster quoted from a statement by President Truman Jan. 5, 1950, saying "the United States government will not provide military aid or advice to Chinese forces on Formosa."

"That was the position up to August of 1950?" Brewster asked.

"I would say that was the policy up until June 25 or 26 when the president intimated that he would not permit an invasion of Formosa from the mainland," Bradley answered.

"It was the first time, of course, as you say, in August, when he actually okayed military equipment and ammunition for them. He had changed his policy to the extent that he had directed the Seventh Fleet to prevent an invasion of Formosa."

At one point, Brewster suggested the Senate hearings have influenced other countries to more positive action in the Korean situation.

Brewster said that the United States long had urged economic sanctions against Red China "but we did not achieve that in the United Nations until coincidentally with these hearings."

Bradley said: "Well, certainly, we have made progress in the last six weeks. Now, what effect these hearings had on England and France, I wouldn't venture to say."

Brewster: "It is coincidental, at any rate. It would seem they suddenly changed what had hitherto been a firm resistance to economic sanctions in London."

Bradley: "I would not say it was in opposition to it; we just had trouble getting them to go along with it."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said he hoped to complete examination of Bradley at today's session.

Some Senators of both parties were calling for an early end to the investigation, but there were no signs it would be closed down soon.

Air Force Plane Crashes

New Lisbon, Ind., May 23 (AP)—An air force plane from Patterson Field, Dayton, O., and carrying 12 men crashed and burned near here today. State troopers reported some of those aboard parachuted safely. Among them were the pilot and a civilian. The pilot suffered severe burns and was taken to a New Castle, Ind., hospital. The plane was a C-124. Troopers said they understood the plane was on an experimental flight. The crash was heard in New Castle by William Turner, an announcer for radio station WCTW. New Castle is five miles northwest of New Lisbon.

Reds Retreat . . .

scribed the situation as very fluid.

The area was reported swarming with Chinese.

UN troops were shifted to check Reds streaming into the area. They cut off Communist spearheads by capturing a strategic pass north of Soksa. The pass runs through the 5,000 foot high Kyebang ridge. It is the key approach into the wild and rugged region around Soksa.

The pass was taken against relatively light opposition. UN officers said its capture was perhaps the most important development of the front Tuesday.

U. S. Eighth Army officers estimated Red casualties in the Communists' blighted offensive at between 50,000 and 60,000. This is somewhat under field estimates.

Held as AWOL

Pfc. James H. Cossaboom and Pvt. Paul C. Wilson, both 19, were arrested at 14 Post street by Officer Ernest Bartroff yesterday afternoon on charges of being absent without leave from Fort Devens, Mass. The former is a native of Canada, and the latter is from Sweetwater, Tenn., police said. They were turned over to military authorities today.

Actress Tours Hospitals

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, May 23 (AP)—Movie actress Jennifer Jones arrived today on a tour of U. S. Army hospitals. Her first visit was to the Fourth Field Hospital, where battlefield wounded are treated.

Your Host Improves

Canoga Park, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Your Host has made such remarkable recovery from what at first was believed to be a fatal racing injury that California breeders are making overtures to acquire him for stud purposes. Your Host suffered a leg bone fracture last winter at Santa Anita and some veterinarians recommended that he be destroyed. Lloyds of London paid owner William Goetz the $250,000 face value of its insurance policy, took title to the horse, and put him on the Circle S ranch of George Stratton.

Charlie Bostic Has Low Medal of 77

Charlie Bostic fired low score of 77 but Brian Smith's three points, with a medal of 80, figured materially in Kingston High's 7 to 5 DUSO Golf League victory over Middletown, yesterday at the Wiltwyck Golf Club links.

The victory squared matters with the Middies for a previous setback in Middletown.

Smith picked up three points in the No. 3 slot.

Harvey Bostic squared his match with Bill Neeley, while Charlie turned back Bob Radavoy 2½ to ½. Francis Dineen, with the best Middletown score of 79, blanked Jimmie Oulton of Kingston.

Matches with Beacon at Beacon and Liberty at Wiltwyck will complete the regular schedule for Coach Bob DeFeis' swingers.

Noted Sports Writer Dies in Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., May 23 (AP)—Charles Sumner Sherman, whose love for college football became a legend, is dead.

The end came for the veteran Nebraska sports editor in a Lincoln hospital last night. He was 80.

"Cy" Sherman was the man who named Nebraska athletic teams the "Cornhuskers." The State Legislature liked the tag so well it was adopted as the official nickname of the state of Nebraska.

He was also instrumental in establishing the Associated Press national poll and top ten football teams.

In ancient times censuses were the basis for taxation and conscription.

Obedience Trained Dogs Will Help in Palsy Drive Here

Canine stars of the show world are doing their part in raising funds to fight cerebral palsy, and Kingstonians will have a chance to see them, according to an announcement today.

William F. Edelmulth, former mayor of the city, now connected with Silsby Motors, 515 Albany avenue, said that as a dog lover he had arranged to bring a group of obedienced trained dogs to the municipal auditorium, Friday, June 1.

Serving on the committee as co-chairman is A. J. P. Seitz of the Kingston Venetian Blind Company, 34 Ferry street, owner of a prize-winning German shepherd. Edelmuth's dog is a Kerry blue terrier, a blue ribbon dog.

The show at the auditorium is scheduled for 9 p. m. on June 1. Tickets will be available soon for adults and children. All of the money raised will be contributed to the cerebral palsy drive.

Animals to appear at the auditorium will be from the Hudson-Highlands Dog Training Club of Newburgh, which has acted as a school for 70 dogs over a period of two years under the direction of Miss Blanche Saunders, foremost obedience trainer.

Some of the dogs have competed in shows and won high honors. The club trains all types and breeds of dogs.

"The obedience trained dog is a pleasure to watch and a credit to his community," said Chairman Edelmuth, who is confident that the event at the auditorium will draw a capacity attendance of animal lovers and raise a neat sum for fighting cerebral palsy.

Civil Service Exam

Complete information regarding duties, qualifications and salaries may be obtained from William P. Barry in the main post office for the examination announced today by the U. S. Civil Service for the positions of central office telephone installer. No written test is required. Applicants will be rated on the basis of their training and experience.

No Action Taken

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Senate Rules committee met today but took no action in connection with its investigation of the circumstances that led former Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley of New York to step out of the governor's race last year. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) told a reporter, after the committee's closed door session, that some members of the group have not completed their study of a report by the committee's investigators.

Bradley Is Sure

said Mr. Truman had considered dismissing MacArthur off and on ever since that letter.

Equipment Furnished

Bradley said about $10,000,000 worth of ammunition and key equipment was furnished to the Nationalists on Formosa last November. He added that an aid program totaling over $300,000,000 has been recommended to date.

MacArthur has urged that Formosa be kept from falling into unfriendly hands and that Chiang's Nationalist troops be given supply support for operations against the Chinese Reds.

The use of the Nationalist forces, along with the bombing of Manchurian supply bases and a blockade of Red China are key parts of MacArthur's win-the-war program—a program that Bradley has said risks a third world war.

Bradley said he doesn't know how much of the $300,000,000 worth of equipment recommended for Chiang has actually been delivered.

He added:

"Our principal aim has been to strengthen the Nationalists on Formosa so that they would have the defensive capabilities to hold the island themselves against any projected attack from the mainland."

The hearings are held behind closed doors but a stenographic report of them is given to news reporters after going through the hands of censors.

Quotes From Truman

In the discussion of Formosa, Brewster quoted from a statement by President Truman Jan. 5, 1950, saying "the United States government will not provide military aid or advice to Chinese forces on Formosa."

"That was the position up to August of 1950?" Brewster asked.

"I would say that was the policy up until June 25 or 26 when the president intimated that he would not permit an invasion of Formosa from the mainland," Bradley answered.

"It was the first time, of course, as you say, in August, when he actually okayed military equipment and ammunition for them. He had changed his policy to the extent that he had directed the Seventh Fleet to prevent an invasion of Formosa."

At one point, Brewster suggested the Senate hearings have influenced other countries to more positive action in the Korean situation.

Brewster said that the United States long had urged economic sanctions against Red China "but we did not achieve that in the United Nations until coincidentally with these hearings."

Bradley said: "Well, certainly, we have made progress in the last six weeks. Now, what effect these hearings had on England and France, I wouldn't venture to say."

Brewster: "It is coincidental, at any rate. It would seem they suddenly changed what had hitherto been a firm resistance to economic sanctions in London."

Bradley: "I would not say it was in opposition to it; we just had trouble getting them to go along with it."

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said he hoped to complete examination of Bradley at today's session.

Some Senators of both parties were calling for an early end to the investigation, but there were no signs it would be closed down soon.

Air Force Plane Crashes

New Lisbon, Ind., May 23 (AP)—An air force plane from Patterson Field, Dayton, O., and carrying 12 men crashed and burned near here today. State troopers reported some of those aboard parachuted safely. Among them were the pilot and a civilian. The pilot suffered severe burns and was taken to a New Castle, Ind., hospital. The plane was a C-124. Troopers said they understood the plane was on an experimental flight. The crash was heard in New Castle by William Turner, an announcer for radio station WCTW. New Castle is five miles northwest of New Lisbon.

Reds Retreat . . .

scribed the situation as very fluid.

The area was reported swarming with Chinese.

UN troops were shifted to check Reds streaming into the area. They cut off Communist spearheads by capturing a strategic pass north of Soksa. The pass runs through the 5,000 foot high Kyebang ridge. It is the key approach into the wild and rugged region around Soksa.

The pass was taken against relatively light opposition. UN officers said its capture was perhaps the most important development of the front Tuesday.

U. S. Eighth Army officers estimated Red casualties in the Communists' blighted offensive at between 50,000 and 60,000. This is somewhat under field estimates.

Held as AWOL

Pfc. James H. Cossaboom and Pvt. Paul C. Wilson, both 19, were arrested at 14 Post street by Officer Ernest Bartroff yesterday afternoon on charges of being absent without leave from Fort Devens, Mass. The former is a native of Canada, and the latter is from Sweetwater, Tenn., police said. They were turned over to military authorities today.

Your Host Improves

Canoga Park, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Your Host has made such remarkable recovery from what at first was believed to be a fatal racing injury that California breeders are making overtures to acquire him for stud purposes. Your Host suffered a leg bone fracture last winter at Santa Anita and some veterinarians recommended that he be destroyed. Lloyds of London paid owner William Goetz the $250,000 face value of its insurance policy, took title to the horse, and put him on the Circle S ranch of George Stratton.

Charlie Bostic Has Low Medal of 77

Charlie Bostic fired low score of 77 but Brian Smith's three points, with a medal of 80, figured materially in Kingston High's 7 to 5 DUSO Golf League victory over Middletown, yesterday at the Wiltwyck Golf Club links.

The victory squared matters with the Middies for a previous setback in Middletown.

Smith picked up three points in the No. 3 slot.

Harvey Bostic squared his match with Bill Neeley, while Charlie turned back Bob Radavoy 2½ to ½. Francis Dineen, with the best Middletown score of 79, blanked Jimmie Oulton of Kingston.

Matches with Beacon at Beacon and Liberty at Wiltwyck will complete the regular schedule for Coach Bob DeFeis' swingers.

Noted Sports Writer Dies in Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., May 23 (AP)—Charles Sumner Sherman, whose love for college football became a legend, is dead.

The end came for the veteran Nebraska sports editor in a Lincoln hospital last night. He was 80.

"Cy" Sherman was the man who named Nebraska athletic teams the "Cornhuskers." The State Legislature liked the tag so well it was adopted as the official nickname of the state of Nebraska.

He was also instrumental in establishing the Associated Press national poll and top ten football teams.

In ancient times censuses were the basis for taxation and conscription.

Obedience Trained Dogs Will Help in Palsy Drive Here

Canine stars of the show world are doing their part in raising funds to fight cerebral palsy, and Kingstonians will have a chance to see them, according to an announcement today.

William F. Edelmuth, former mayor of the city, now connected with Silsby Motors, 515 Albany avenue, said that as a dog lover he had arranged to bring a group of obedienced trained dogs to the municipal auditorium, Friday, June 1.

Serving on the committee as co-chairman is A. J. P. Seitz of the Kingston Venetian Blind Company, 34 Ferry street, owner of a prize-winning German shepherd. Edelmuth's dog is a Kerry blue terrier, a blue ribbon dog.

The show at the auditorium is scheduled for 9 p. m. on June 1. Tickets will be available soon for adults and children. All of the money raised will be contributed to the cerebral palsy drive.

Animals to appear at the auditorium will be from the Hudson-Highlands Dog Training Club of Newburgh, which has acted as a school for 70 dogs over a period of two years under the direction of Miss Blanche Saunders, foremost obedience trainer.

Some of the dogs have competed in shows and won high honors. The club trains all types and breeds of dogs.

"The obedience trained dog is a pleasure to watch and a credit to his community," said Chairman Edelmuth, who is confident that the event at the auditorium will draw a capacity attendance of animal lovers and raise a neat sum for fighting cerebral palsy.

Civil Service Exam

Complete information regarding duties, qualifications and salaries may be obtained from William P. Barry in the main post office for the examination announced today by the U. S. Civil Service for the positions of central office telephone installer. No written test is required. Applicants will be rated on the basis of their training and experience.

No Action Taken

Washington, May 23 (AP)—The Senate Rules committee met today but took no action in connection with its investigation of the circumstances that led former Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley of New York to step out of the governor's race last year. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) told a reporter, after the committee's closed door session, that some members of the group have not completed their study of a report by the committee's investigators.

Hurricane Whips Out to Sea; All Shipping Warned

New York, May 23 (AP)—The Atlantic hurricane, powered by winds up to 80 miles an hour at its center, churned out to sea today and the Weather Bureau cautioned all shipping in the path of the storm.

The blow was centered about 300 miles north and slightly west of Bermuda. It was moving eastward—well away from the eastern seaboard— at a speed of between 15 and 20 miles an hour.

The freighter City of Eastbourne reported last night she had run into the hurricane about 200 miles south of Nantucket. The vessel said it was buffeted by 75-mile an hour winds, "mountainous, confused seas and driving rain."

In Washington, the Weather Bureau issued this advisory:

The Atlantic hurricane was centered near 37 north and 66 west at 5 a. m. (EST), or about 300 miles north and a little west of Bermuda moving eastward 15 or 20 m.p.h. with winds about 80 m.p.h. near center and gales extending outward about 130 miles southern quadrants and about 80 miles over northern. The storm is expected to continue its movement toward the east and caution is advised all shipping in the path of the storm.

The railroad's annual bill for crosstie replacement runs at the rate of $250,000,000.

Rice is a basic food for one-half of the world's population.

Main Is Honored By Rondout Lodge

George B. Main was honored upon the completion of 50 years as a member of the Masonic fraternity during a special program Monday night at Rondout Lodge, 343, F. & A.M.

Main was made a Mason January 28, 1901, and faithfully served Rondout Lodge as tiler during the years from 1911 to 1938, inclusive.

The presentation to the 50-year member was made by Henry S. Hartly, district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District.

In awarding the medal, Hartly, whose term expires soon, said that the presentation of the service medal was one of the last duties he would perform in connection with his office and that he was very happy to have had the privilege of making the award.

Arthur J. Jansen, master of Rondout Lodge, also complimented Main for the interest he has shown in the lodge during his membership. Rondout Lodge now has 11 members who have been with the organization 50 years or more. William J. Turck, one of the members, has been affiliated with the group for 67 years.

Following the award, members adjourned to the dining room for refreshments and a social hour.

Hurricane Whips Out to Sea; All Shipping Warned

New York, May 23 (AP)—The Atlantic hurricane, powered by winds up to 80 miles an hour at its center, churned out to sea today and the Weather Bureau cautioned all shipping in the path of the storm.

The blow was centered about 300 miles north and slightly west of Bermuda. It was moving eastward—well away from the eastern seaboard— at a speed of between 15 and 20 miles an hour.

The freighter City of Eastbourne reported last night she had run into the hurricane about 200 miles south of Nantucket. The vessel said it was buffeted by 75-mile an hour winds, "mountainous, confused seas and driving rain."

In Washington, the Weather Bureau issued this advisory:

The Atlantic hurricane was centered near 37 north and 66 west at 5 a. m. (EST), or about 300 miles north and a little west of Bermuda moving eastward 15 or 20 m.p.h. with winds about 80 m.p.h. near center and gales extending outward about 130 miles southern quadrants and about 80 miles over northern. The storm is expected to continue its movement toward the east and caution is advised all shipping in the path of the storm.

The railroad's annual bill for crosstie replacement runs at the rate of $250,000,000.

Rice is a basic food for one-half of the world's population.

Main Is Honored By Rondout Lodge

George B. Main was honored upon the completion of 50 years as a member of the Masonic fraternity during a special program Monday night at Rondout Lodge, 343, F. & A.M.

Main was made a Mason January 28, 1901, and faithfully served Rondout Lodge as tiler during the years from 1911 to 1938, inclusive.

The presentation to the 50-year member was made by Henry S. Hartly, district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District.

In awarding the medal, Hartly, whose term expires soon, said that the presentation of the service medal was one of the last duties he would perform in connection with his office and that he was very happy to have had the privilege of making the award.

Arthur J. Jansen, master of Rondout Lodge, also complimented Main for the interest he has shown in the lodge during his membership. Rondout Lodge now has 11 members who have been with the organization 50 years or more. William J. Turck, one of the members, has been affiliated with the group for 67 years.

Following the award, members adjourned to the dining room for refreshments and a social hour.
